SIX SERVICES IN ONE DAY

To Dedicate $2,000,000 Christian Scientist Temple.

People Take Turns Listening To Sermons.

Boston Has Remarkable Day of Worship.

FORTY THOUSAND VISITORS.

Boston, June 10.—One of the most remarkable religious demonstrations ever witnessed in New England occurred today, when the new $2,000,000 Christian Science temple, in the Back Bay district, was dedicated. From every State in the Union and from all parts of the world came members of that faith to be present at the dedicatory services. It was estimated that more than 40,000 Christian Scientists were in the city to-day.

Six services were held to accommodate the vast throngs, but even then there were thousands who were unable to gain admission to the temple. The seating capacity of the new edifice exceeds 5,000, and at each service to-day hundreds stood in the aisles and in the rear of the church.

The first service was held at 7 o'clock this morning. As early as 1 o'clock hundreds of Christian Scientists were standing in line, waiting patiently for the doors to open. At 5 o'clock there were at least 3,000 in the streets outside the church, and an hour later the number had swelled to 5,000. At 7 o'clock there were 10,000 persons waiting, twice the seating capacity of the new temple.

Services in Quick Succession.

As quickly as one service was completed and the congregation had departed the temple was filled again, and still there were thousands outside who had been unable to gain admission.

The six services to-day were identical, and each service was about two hours in length. The occasion combined both the annual communion and the dedicatory exercises. It consisted of the usual Christian Science opening exercises, the reading of the tenets of the church, a dedicatory address prepared by Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, of Concord, N. H., the founder of the religion, and read by W. D. McCracken, the first reader of the church, and a lesson sermon specially prepared for the occasion.

At the close of the sermon, in accordance with the custom of the church in response to an invitation of the first reader, the entire congregation knelt in silent communion, followed by the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer.

The congregational singing was a feature of the services. At the close of each service Edward A. Kimball, of Chicago, presented a reply of thanks to Mrs. Eddy for her dedicatory address and for her general work in behalf of the church.

Christian Science.

Mrs. Eddy's address was a lengthy document, and dealt in the main with Christian Science tenets. Referring especially to the dedication of the new temple, Mrs. Eddy wrote:

"Beloved, I am not with you in propria persona at this memorable dedication and communion season, but I am with you in spirit and in truth, lovingly thanking your generosity and fidelity, and saying virtually what the prophets said: 'Continue to choose whom ye will serve.'

"You have dextrously and wisely provided for the mother Church of Christ, Scientist, a magnificent temple wherein to enter and pray. Greatly impressed and encouraged thereby, deeply do I thank you for this proof of your progress, unity and love.

"The modest edifice of the mother Church of Christ, Scientist, began with the cross; its excelsior extension is the crown. The crowning ultimate rises to a mental monument, a superstructure high above the works of man's hands, even the outcome of their hearts, giving to the material a spiritual significance—the speed, beauty and achievements of goodness. Methinks this church is the one edifice on earth which most prefigures self-abnegation, hope, faith, love, catching a glimpse of glory."

The new temple, which is entirely free from debt, is one of the most imposing structures in Boston, and is said to be the largest church in New England. Christian Scientists all over the world have aided in its construction, and it is intended as a tribute to Mrs. Eddy, in recognition of her labors for her church.

The original mother church adjoins and forms part of the new temple. The construction of the new edifice has occupied a little more than two years.

THIRTY-FOUR INJURED.

Bad Accident to Party of Christian Scientists.

Boston, June 10.—Thirty-four Christian Scientists were injured through the overturning of a large sightseeing automobile in the Brighton district today. Every person on the car received injuries more or less serious.

The party had been making a sightseeing trip through the suburbs, and were descending Commonwealth Hill. Suddenly the brake broke, and the machine ran away down the steep grade. Near the bottom of the hill the car jumped to the side of the street, and tore through a fence into the grounds of the Kenilworth Golf Club, where it overturned. Most of the party were thrown clear of the machine.

TALKED ONLY BASEBALL

During Twenty-Eight Years in St. Louis He Never Discussed Private Affairs.

St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—[Special.]—Although he lived in St. Louis more than twenty-eight years, of which nineteen years were spent as a roomer at the boarding-house of Mrs. Annie MacDonald, 3236 Pine street, John Eberlin, who was found dead in his room at that address yesterday, never spoke of his family connections, whence he came nor of any other matters that concerned his past life. He is said to have lived the life of a "man of mystery," discussing only baseball and politics during his leisure moments.

John Eberlin was fifty-five years old and his estate is said to be large. He was secretary and treasurer of the V. Scalzo Fruit Company, but aside from that little was known of his business connections.

WHO PAYS FOR IT?

POLICYHOLDERS WANT TO KNOW ABOUT ADVERTISING.

Ask Pertinent Questions of President of Mutual Life.

New York, June 10.—A letter signed by Seymour Eaton, secretary of the International Policyholders' Committee, has been sent to President Charles A. Peabody, of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, requesting information concerning the Mutual Life advertising which is now appearing in newspapers throughout the country. The letter says that the committee which Mr. Eaton represents has been flooded with inquiries upon the subject, the majority of the correspondents asking if the committee knows whether or not policyholders' money is being used to meet this advertising expense.

"One correspondent writes," the letter says, "that he has it on good authority that a well-known advertising agency has been authorized by your company to spend $100,000 of policyholders' money at this time to create, as he puts it, 'a favorable public sentiment for the management.'"

Mr. Eaton's letter says the committee will be glad to hear that the advertisment in question, "which, in view of the approaching election has all the earmarks of a campaign document," is being paid for personally by Mr. Peabody and the other officers and directors who are candidates for re-election.

ROOSEVELT WAY

SEVERELY CRITICISED BY CHANCELLOR J. R. DAY.

Says President Ignores Co-Branches of Government and People Are Asleep.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—Chancellor James R. Day, of Syracuse University, in his baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class to-day, discussed the matter of great corporations and the powers of the Administration.

"When Senators and Representatives," said Chancellor Day, "receive orders from the Executive, when appeals to popular passion are made to force them to action to which their sound judgment and honest convictions are opposed, the Government by the people and for the people becomes a misnomer and a deception. In that hour we are a monarchy without the name.

"It is to be hoped that we are not so dazed and daft by an office that has grown great with our greatness that it may be permitted to set aside courts, Senates and Congresses.

"Recently pressure was brought by a message, the purpose of which the Senators instantly understood and which evidently was intended to appeal to long-prepared prejudices of the people. Is this the method of legislation to which this great nation has descended? Is this new way the best way to make our laws? The people should awaken to the danger that threatens representative government.

MR. CASSATT TELLS SECRET

Gives List of Outside Stocks He Owns.

Has Disposed of His Coal Holdings.

Once or Twice Followed Pennsylvania's Lead.

ANSWERS GIVEN TO PUBLIC.

Philadelphia, June 10.—The special investigating committee appointed by the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and acting for all the lines of the Pennsylvania system, to-night made public the answers of President Cassatt to the questions propounded by the committee in one of its circulars sent to all officers and thousands of employes of the various lines.

Mr. Cassatt takes up the questions seriatim and in reply to the first query as to whether he has any interest in any coal company or other enterprise located on the company's lines since January 1, 1900, says:

"I do not at present own any stock in any coal company whose mines are located on or whose coal is shipped over the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad system.

"Until the 31st of December last I owned 160 of the 4,000 shares of the Millwood Coal and Coke Company (par $50), as stock which I subscribed for when the company was formed about the year 1872 and paid for at the subscription price, which to the best of my recollection was par. There was no market for this stock, as it paid dividends only at irregular intervals, but last fall an offer was made for all the stock by the owners of the adjoining land and my stock was sold with the rest.

"I own 333 of the 35,000 shares of the common stock of the Union Switches and Signal Company (par $50) which I purchased about 1884 at the then market price, which as nearly as I can recollect was $25 per share.

"I own 45 of the 2,500 shares of the stock of the United States Metallic Packing Company (par $100), which I bought about 1886 at the then market price, which I think was about $50 per share.

Owns Steel Stock.

"I own 2,296 of the 165,000 shares of the preferred stock of the Pennsylvania Steel Company (par $100). This stock I purchased at various times, my first purchase having been made in October 1901, some months after the acquisition by the Pennsylvania company of a majority of the shares of the capital stock of the Pennsylvania Steel Company. My last purchase was made on the ninth of May of this year. The average price paid by me was $97.79.

"I own 2,000 of the 450,000 shares of stock of the Cambria Steel Company (par $50), which I purchased at a cost of $34 per share on the 22d day of May, 1906. Those shares replaced 1,600 shares of other stock of the said company, all of which were bought by me after the Pennsylvania Company had acquired a majority of the shares of the Cambria Steel Company, but which I had subsequently sold."

Mr. Cassatt said he had not directly performed any service in connection with the receipt, transportation or delivery of any freight shipped by or consigned to any of the companies above named.

* * *

Denies Several Points.

In reply to another question he said he had not performed any duties in connection with the distribution of or allotment of cars or the furnishing of sidings, equipment, motive power, dockage or other accommodations for any of the companies named, unless the purchase of locomotives and cars for the general business of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the furnishing of sidings, under the authorization of the board of directors, may be held to come within the scope of the question asked.

* * *

Never Has Received Gift.

President Cassatt says he has never received any commission, compensation, gift or gratuity of any kind from any shipper on the Pennsylvania lines, or any of the five companies he mentions in his first answer.

In reply to the question as to whether he is pecuniarily interested in any corporation, association or individual doing work for or furnishing materials or supplies to the Pennsylvania system, he says that the five companies mentioned in his first answer make sales to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and with the exception of these companies he is not interested or concerned in corporations or individuals referred to in the query.

He says he has not performed and is not now performing any service in connection with work done for, or the purchase or receipt of materials or supplies by, the Pennsylvania railroad system, excepting that he has, in accordance with established custom, purchased the steel rails for the entire system. These purchases are reported to the board of directors for their approval.

* * *

Reports Are Erroneous.

"You will observe that the only coal stock owned by me since becoming president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is 160 shares of the Millwood Coal and Coke Company, which stock has been sold, but in view of the reputed rumors of my being a holder of stocks of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company, the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company and the Henrietta Coal Company, and of my being interested in the firm of Cassatt & Company, I think it proper to state that I never owned or had any interest in the stocks of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company or of the Henrietta Coal Company, nor have I ever had any interest in the firm of Cassatt & Company. I never owned any stock of the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company while an officer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, either during my former connection with the company, which terminated by my resignation of the vice presidency in the fall of 1882, nor since I became president in 1899, but when, in 1886, Charles J. Berwind, then head of the partnership of Berwind, White & Co., formed the present Berwind-White Coal Mining Company to take over the business of that firm, I purchased 400 shares of the stock of the company and paid for it at the then market price, which was 25 per cent. of its par value. I sold this stock in 1891. You will observe that it was purchased four years after I ceased to be an officer of the company, and was sold eight years before I was elected to the presidency. I never had any interest in the partnership of Berwind, White & Co."

PLASTERS TOWN WITH BUTTER AND EGGS

GROCERY STORE DESTROYED WITH DYNAMITE.

OWNER SUSPECTED OF OPERATING BLIND TIGER.

VILLAGE CAT MEETS DEATH.

Brooklyn, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—The grocery store owned by Patrick Thornberry and located on the main street in this village was completely wrecked by dynamite between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning, the stock of goods being scattered over two or three squares and the frame material of the building being broken and splintered as though struck by a cyclone.

The explosion was caused by a large charge of dynamite. Buildings were shaken a half mile away and those within one hundred feet did not have a pane of glass left in them. In the debris to-day were found eleven sticks of unexploded dynamite, and if these had gone off nearly the entire town would have been wrecked.

Thornberry has been suspected for several months of running a blind tiger and determined efforts were made to catch him selling liquor, but he managed to elude the vigilance of the temperance people and positive evidence could not be secured. Last week it was said that two boys had purchased liquor at his store and there was much indignation over the alleged act. Two other blind tigers have been destroyed with dynamite here and no effort was made to apprehend the guilty parties, and this will probably be true in the present case, especially as a Government license issued to Thornberry was found in the debris of the building today, thus confirming the suspicions that have been held so long against him of running a blind tiger.—

Hundreds of persons were brought out on the streets after the explosion, but no sympathy was expressed for the victim of the dynamiters. On the other hand, the people joked about the destruction of the property, and Jap Miller, Mayor of Brooklyn, declared that the only sad thing about it was the death of the village cat, which was either in the store or was struck by a piece of flying timber. The town was literally plastered over with butter, lard, eggs and molasses, while coffee, beans and green vegetables were strewn over the streets and in the yards of residences. Fire broke out in the ruins, but was prevented from spreading.

NO MORE NEGLIGEE.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN MUST WEAR MORE CLOTHES.

Pittsburg Tenement Dwellers Shock Director of Public Safety.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 10.—[Special.]—Frank Ridgway, the new director of the Department of Public Safety, has drawn the wrath of thousands of people of Pittsburg on his head, by an order that the mothers and children in the tenements must wear more clothes. The director's sense of decency has been grossly shocked by the sight of little children in the tenement district running about during the torrid weather clad only in gingham shifts, so he has issued an order to the police to arrest all persons who are not properly clothed.

Several days ago the director received notes from a woman evidently high in society, although no name was subscribed, in which she said she had been horribly shocked by seeing children running about scantily clad, and also by the appearance of the mothers, whose dresses were open at their breasts. She did not consider it proper that woman should be seen in such outlandish costumes. A number of ministers of the city took up the matter this morning and talked about it from the pulpits. The charity workers are deeply incensed at the ideas of the Police Department issuing such an absurd order. They declare that if the director attempts to enforce it by the arrest of a single person he will get himself into deep water.

MAY BE SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT

Hugh Bledsoe Died With Bullet In Brain.

Given Out That Fall Fractured Skull.

Father Says He Believes Boy Was Murdered.

NOT CREDITED BY CORONER.

Some mystery surrounds the death of fifteen-year-old Hugh Bledsoe, son of Robert Bledsoe, a well-known building contractor of 1511 Sherwood avenue, who died of a bullet wound in the brain at the Norton Infirmary early yesterday morning where he had been taken to undergo an operation in the hope that his life might be saved.

When the boy was taken to the infirmary it was given out that he had fractured his skull in falling on a hardwood floor and that the operation was to extract a piece of bone from the brain. This story, it is explained, was given out so that the mother would not know that the boy had been shot. The detectives who worked on the case yesterday declared that they thought the boy had either committed suicide or that he had shot himself accidentally. The father and Dr. Fred L. Koontz, of 2814 Baxter avenue, say they think the boy was murdered.

Little Evidence in Murder Theory.

Coroner Kelly said last night that he places little credence in the murder theory. He was present at the autopsy held on the boy and extracted the bullet. It is unquestionably, he said, a Flobert rifle ball. If it had been a high power rifle the bullet would have bored through both the front and rear of the skull. As it was, the bullet entered the front of the skull, between the eyes, and lodged in the back of the brain. In answer to the claim of Mr. Bledsoe that the rifle had not been fired off for three weeks and that the barrel was clogged, Detective Bott, who worked on the case, declared last night that the gun had been discharged in the last day or two. He said the smell of powder was very evident and it would not be had the gun been lying idle for three weeks or more.

When Coroner Kelly heard that the story had been originally given out that the boy had fractured his skull in a fall and that he had indeed died of a gunshot wound, he thought the case of enough importance to ask the assistance of the police. Detectives Armstrong and Harding and Meyer and Bott were put on the case. He will have it thoroughly investigated, with a view to learning why the cause of death was withheld if that were done.

* * *

Boy Went Into House Alone.

The lad received the injury which resulted in his death about 8:10 o'clock Friday night. According to his father, he was sitting in a swing in the front yard of the house with Mrs. Bledsoe and his son when the boy left them and went into the house for the purpose, he believes, of getting a glass of water. The boy had barely time to reach the kitchen, when both Mr. and Mrs. Bledsoe heard a noise within the house which sounded to them like the falling and breaking of a vase.

Mr. Bledsoe immediately went into the house and called to his son twice while proceeding through the hall into the kitchen. There was no response to his call, and, as he parted a pair of portieres leading into the kitchen, he stumbled over an object which he believed to be a raincoat which had fallen from the coat rack near the door. Striking a light, he discovered that he had stumbled over his son, who was lying on the floor with a wound in the center of his forehead, from which the blood was flowing freely, forming a little pool on the hardwood floor.

On the floor a foot from the boy a rifle was lying. It belonged to the lad and had been standing in its accustomed place in the corner behind the portieres. The upper part of the boy's body was lying in the position which the stock of the rifle had occupied. The rifle barrel was pointing in an opposite direction to the body, it is said, by the family. No examination of the weapon was made at the time, and it was not until after the boy had been removed to the infirmary and Mr. Bledsoe returned to his home, examined it and determined to his satisfaction that it had not been discharged for some time.

* * *

Says Rifle Was Not Used for Three Weeks.

The rifle is of twenty-two caliber and only a cartridge of the "short" variety can be used in it. Mr. Bledsoe said that he found wedged in the breech of it a portion of a cartridge which had been stuck there for some time. The percussion end of it had been cut off with a pen knife in an effort to remove it. Mr. Bledsoe recalled that the rifle had been in this condition since his removal with his family to their present abode from Castlewood three weeks ago, and was positive that it had not been discharged since that time. It was not customary for his son to keep the rifle loaded, and but a day previous to the tragedy Mrs. Bledsoe had called his attention to it standing in the kitchen corner and suggested its removal to the attic.

* * *

Thought He Heard Door Slam.

In recalling yesterday the immediate circumstances of the tragedy Mr. Bledsoe said that when he went into the house to investigate the noise, he was positive that he heard another while in the hall which sounded like the faint slamming of the screen door of the kitchen that opens on to the porch in the rear of the house.

* * *

The portion of the cartridge which, it is alleged, prevented the discharge of the rifle, was removed easily yesterday morning, it is said, by a brother-in-law of Mr. Bledsoe, who thrust a ramrod down the barrel of the rifle. He replaced the cartridge and it was again removed later in the morning by District Detectives Myers and Bott.

Mr. Bledsoe, during the course of his remarks, ventured the theory that his son had surprised a burglar concealed in the kitchen and as he thrust the portieres apart he was shot. He did not believe, however, that an experienced burglar would carry a revolver or rifle projecting a bullet of twenty-two caliber, such as was found in the boy's brain, but was inclined to believe that the shooting was done by a boy taking his first steps in burglary.

Dr. Koontz Thought Accident.

Dr. F. L. Koontz, who was called to attend the wounded boy, and who performed an operation on him at the Norton Infirmary and conducted the post-mortem examination, said yesterday that it was one of the most mysterious

NEED NOT PAY MONEY PROMISED TO CHURCH

REFEREE AT MURRAY HOLDS CLAIM TO BE INVALID.

APPEAL MAY BE TAKEN TO JUDGE EVANS.

DECISION CAUSES COMMENT.

Murray, Ky., June 10. —[Special.]—Judge E. W. Bagby, referee in bankruptcy for the Western district of Kentucky, yesterday rendered an important decision in the Will Harris & Co. bankruptcy case, by disallowing the claim of $500 filed by the Murray Christian church against the estate of L. C. Linn at the time funds were raised to build the present church building here.

Linn, who was one of the leading members of the church, subscribed $500, which the church people sought to collect upon the filing of his petition in bankruptcy. The decision, in holding that he is not legally bound to pay, has created considerable comment among legal and church circles in Western Kentucky, as it practically holds that subscriptions to religious bodies and for charitable purposes are void in law.

The church is considering the matter of an appeal to Judge Walter Evans at Louisville, whose decision will be awaited with much interest. Judge Linn was formerly Circuit Judge and one of the ablest and most prominent lawyers in Western Kentucky, and is the father of Conn Linn, State Senator from this district.

FAMILY IN PRISON.

PARENTS AND SON INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Another Son Charged With Assault to Kill—Youngest Child in Reform School.

Evansville, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—The trial of Wesley Williams will begin here Tuesday, and probably will consume a week. Williams is charged with the murder of Robert Leigh, at Boonville, Ind., last February. On the same night he is alleged to have killed Leigh, his brother, Andrew Williams, a fireman of this city, went to Boonville and shot the town marshal, Robert Williams. Andrew Williams is charged with assault and battery with intent. The father and mother of the Williamses are also charged with murder, it being alleged by the State that they conspired against the life of Leigh. The entire Williams family is now in prison, one of the younger sons having been sentenced to the reform school last week at Boonville. It will probably take two weeks to try Wesley and Andrew Williams and the father and mother. Over 100 witnesses have been summoned here for the trial that begins Tuesday. Williams will be defended by Gough & Gough, of Boonville. R. E. Tweedy, of Boonville, will assist in the prosecution. There is a strong feeling against the Williams family at Boonville, and after the killing of Leigh and the shooting of the town marshal, it was necessary to remove Wesley and Andrew Williams to the State reformatory for safekeeping.

With Outstretched Hands.

Two days before the opening exercises of Home-coming Week are to take place Louisville and all Kentucky stand with outstretched arms ready to receive the great throng of sons and daughters who have promised to journey back to the land of their nativity and participate in the great love feast that has been prepared for them. The immense work of preparing to receive 50,000 or more people and entertain them as they should be entertained on their return to their native State has been practically completed. Only a few details remain to be disposed of and these will be in shape by Wednesday morning.

The great Jefferson county armory, glowing in the colors of its holiday dress and immense in its capacity for holding people, is ready for the grand occasion. Flags and bunting float in every direction, both inside and outside of the capacious structure. Unquestionably the magnitude of the building impresses anyone with the idea that it was built for a great gathering of the children of both the old and new Kentucky. The lobby between the main entrance and the hall proper is a scene of great beauty. Liberty bells hang in great profusion in every color imaginable. Myriads of lights will add brilliancy at night.

Decorations at Armory.

The immense hall in which the exercises will take place has been arranged and is now ready for the great gathering that is assured. This, too, has been appropriately decorated. Around the balcony entwined in buntShelby to Gov. J. C. W. Beckham. Be-

PATRICIAN
Shoe for Women

A Bright College Girl

Was asked what things she had acquired during the year that demanded her greatest thankfulness.

"Shoes that satisfy in every particular, and a comfortable bed," was her astonishing reply.

On her explanation that one-third of her life was spent in bed and the remaining two-thirds in her shoes the expression gained value.

The shoes she named were one of our popular PATRICIAN Styles.

As the sale of PATRICIAN has increased phenomenally this season we have cause to think many women have been added to the hosts who already found among PATRICIAN Styles one that "satisfied in every particular."

NEGRO'S POWER

Alleged To Have Destroyed Old Man's Reason.

WILL OF MAJOR B. G. THOAMS CONTESTED BY HEIRS.

UNDUE INFLUENCE OF HOUSEKEEPER CHARGED.

RECEIVED ENTIRE ESTATE.

Lexington, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—A petition has been prepared by attorneys here for William K. Howe, Ethel and Melvina Howe, to be filed in the Curcuit Court to-morrow, asking that the will of the late Major B. G. Thomas be set aside and declared null and void. The ground on which this action will be asked is the undue influence alleged to have been exercised over Major Thomas by Margaret Pryor, Major Thomas' old negro housekeeper, to whom he left the bulk of his estate. The plaintiffs all live at Florence, S. C., which was the birthplace of Major Thomas. William K. Howe's father was a brother of Major Thomas' mother, while the other two plaintiffs are daughters of James A. Howe, deceased, a brother of William K. Howe.

The petition alleges that the bequest of nearly all of Major Thomas' property to Margaret Pryor in addition to the clause of his will which directs that she be buried in his family lot, are so totally repugnant to the ordinary nature of Major Thomas as to indicate that his mind had been so weakened by age, and he was so under the domination of Margaret Pryor as to domination of Margaret Pryor that he was not in condition to make a will.

Significant Paragraph.

In support of the claim of undue influence reference is made to the introductory paragraph of one of the later testaments, which reads as follows: "I have lately learned of kinspeople in South Carolina, etc." The declaration "lately learned" is held to be totally untrue and the charge is made that Major Thomas had always known of the existence of these kinsfolk; that James A. Howe, whose daughters are plaintiffs in the present suit, visited Major Thomas only four years ago, and during the Confederate Veterans' reunion in Louisville; that the plaintiff, William K. Howe, corresponded with Major Thomas for years and always upon the most friendly terms and still has a number of these letters in his possession; that the mother of William K. Howe had also corresponded with Major Thomas, and had visited him in Lexington, and that there never had been any breach between them. Hence, the use of the term "I have lately learned" which appeared in the testamentary document executed in January of the present year, is charged to be false and misleading and could not have been the free expression of the mind of Major Thomas.

B. degree from Barnard College, an A. M. from Columbia University, and a teacher's certificate in history from the Teachers' College of New York.

JACK LONDON TO SAIL AROUND THE WROLD.

Author Will Go in Forty-foot Schooner, Taking His Wife With Him.

He is one of the most picturesque products of that literary California which has given us Bret Harte and Frank Norris and Joaquin Miller. An untamed and unconventional man from his youth up. London has fought his way to the front with a cheerful disregard for obstacles. A sailor and sealer and fisherman in San Francisco Bay and on the Pacific, the world brutally clubbed him for years, but it could not keep him down. His sympathies were enlisted in the cause of the Under World because he lived in it, and he became a rampant socialist by force of environment. It is true, however, that even those who laugh at his socialistic theories, admire his work as that of one of the dominant figures in the American fiction of to-day, while at the same time they respect his honesty of purpose in championing the downtrodden of our complex civilization.

Just now Jack London is building a forty-foot schooner in which he will set out for a seven-year voyage around the world. His wife will go with him, and there will be only two men in his crew. This is, in a way, a literary pilgrimage, but it is safe to say that the young man's love of adventurous living and for the wide and open spaces has had something to do with his hazardous purpose. In other words, what he writes he lives, and when he tells of the sea, or of a "Sea Wolf," he grips you hard because he has gathered his facts and his inspiration at first hand.

"The Call of the Wild" was inspired by the author's own experiences in the Klondike as a gold-seeker. "White Fang" is another great story, not only because Jack London has the gift of story-telling, but also because he has lived and suffered all that he so intimately describes.—[The Outing Magazine for June.

JUDGE BENSON TO TAKE KANSAS SENATORSHIP.

Ottawa, Kan., June 10.—Judge Alfred Watson Benson, of this city, who yesterday was offered the appointment of United States Senator to succeed Joseph R. Burton, stated to-day that he would accept the position. He will officially notify Gov. Hoch to-morrow of his acceptance.

In an interview to-day Judge Benson said: "I presume that I shall be a candidate for re-election to the Senate before the State Legislature next winter. My inclination is to ask the people to send me back if my services are satisfactory." The statement to-day of Judge Benson that he will stand for re-election next winter adds much interest to the Kansas senatorship, for which there have been several avowed candidates. The term that Judge Benson will fill expires March 3, 1907. A half dozen men in the State have either publicly expressed themselves as being candidates or have been prominently spoken of for the place. They include W. R. Stubbs, of Lawrence, railway contractor, and former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee; Representative Charles Curtis, of the First Kansas district; J. L. Bristow, editor of the Salina Journal, and former Fourth Assistant Postmaster General; Frank C. Nelson, State Superintendent of Schools, and former Gov. Bailey.

Judge Benson expects to start for Washington to-morrow.

BUILDING TRADES TIED BY STRIKE IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, June 10.—The Building Trades Council to-day declared a general strike on all buildings on which the Bricklayers and Stonemasons' International Union are employed. The master builders, as a result of this action, canceled the recently-signed agreement with the council.

The agreement provided that no union affiliated with the council should go on strike without first submitting the matter in question to arbitration.

LEADING BAPTIST WORKER.

Lexington, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—Benjamin Bosworth, one of the best-known men in Fayette county, died at his home three miles from Lexington, on the Versailles pike, this morning at an early hour. He had been ill for several weeks. Mr. Bosworth was seventy-two years old. He leaves a wife and nine children, Henry Bosworth, State Treasurer, Cloud Bosworth, Joe Bosworth, Lewis Bosworth, Clifford Bosworth, Powell Bosworth and Ben Bosworth, Jr., and Misses Hattie and Mary Bosworth.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the family residence. The seven sons will act as the pallbearers and the services will be conducted by the Rev. T. C. Stackhouse, assisted by the Rev. Prester Blake.

During that time he had served as deacon, trustee and clerk of the church. He was also secretary of the Elkhorn Baptist Association, the largest in the State. DEATH COMES SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Mary Brock Mother of Ten Children.

London, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary F. Brock, aged sixty years, wife of Daniel R. Brock, died at her home here this afternoon at 5 o'clock, of heart failure, after a short illness. The body will be embalmed and it will probably be several days before the burial, since several of her children live a considerable distance from here. Mr. and Mrs. Brock have reared ten children, two of whom are dead. Some of them are still at home. Those living away from here are Charles R. Brock, City Attorney of Denver, Col., and Elmer Brock, who is attending Denver University of Law; Rev. Walter M. Brock, now attending a Louisville theological seminary, and Mrs. E. S. Albright, wife of the editor of the Mount Vernon, Ky., Signal. The Brock family is one of the most numerous in the county

OWENSBORO'S WATER PLANT

Owensboro, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—Owensboro's new deep-well waterworks system, for the construction of which $200,000 worth of city bonds were issued two years ago, is nearing completion and will be in use within a few days. Twenty-one wells have been dug to a depth of 375 feet and they are expected to furnish an ample supply of clear, cold water. Two large reservoirs have been built as a head for pumping and a strong pressure has been secured. The pipe lines through the streets of the city are almost completed. The City Council at its last meeting instructed the City Attorney to file suit to compel the old water company to remove its pipes from the streets. The old company claims that its charter is still in force and will fight the action of the Council.

ROB POST-OFFICE.

Burglars Secure $25 at Southerland.

Owensboro, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—The post-office at Sutherland, near here, was broken into and a cash drawer robbed of $25 and some stamps Friday night. An entrance was effected through a window from which a pane had been broken a few days before. Forty-five dollars in money orders and a cash register containing $15 were not touched.

Local detectives are at work on the case and have strong circumstantial evidence against a negro.

Sunday-School Convention.

London, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—The annual county convention of the Sunday-schools of Laurel county, of which S. A. Lovelace and John Woodward, of this city, are president and secretary respectively, convened at the M. E. church, South, yesterday evening and closed o-night. A number of sessions were held and all were largely attended. W. J. Vaughan, of Louisa, a Sunday-school lecturer of considerable note, delivered an excellent lecture to-day at 11 o'clock.

COTTON MILL OPERATOR KILLED AT HUNTSVILLE.

Zuber Smith Surrenders as Man Who Shot Him—Other Arrests Made.

Huntsville, Ala., June 10.—[Special.] William Campbell, a grocery merchant and cotton mill operator, was killed here early this morning. Zuber Smith, an employe of the Merrimac Cotton Mills, surrendered to the police a short time after claiming to be the man who killed Campbell. The prisoner told conflicting stories of the affair which led to an investigation by the police, and two other men have been arrested as accomplices in the murder. They are Pat Allen and Jim Armstrong. Smith claims Campbell was attacking him with a knife and a cut on his coat appears to verify the statement. Campbell was shot over the right eye, through the brain, but lived an hour.

The vote this morning is a good one. Miss Myrtle Jenkins, of District No. 2, who has been ill for several weeks, was able to call on friends the past few days, the result being an addition this morning of 5,088. Miss Annabel Adams, of No. 5, adds 4,737 to her total in the Fifth district. Miss Mary Mousty, of No. 9, adds 3,813; Miss Katie Borgerding, of No. 9, adds 1,584, and Miss Sallie Ewing, of No. 7, adds 1,288.

No candidate should consider her race won until the last ballot has been voted. "There's many a slip," and it behooves all to put in their most active work during the remaining few days of the contest.

* * *

Read the article, "Final Words of Advice," printed this morning. It will save trouble and worry on the trip.

* * *

Candidates and their friends are urged earnestly to send in every subscription order just as soon as secured. Do not hold them back until the last minute and then come in when the office is rushed. We have a large and well-trained force in the Tour Department, but the work of issuing ballots is slow, on account of the care necessary. Send the orders at once, and the ballots will be issued and mailed to you, and you can hold these until the last day if you think it wise. But get the orders in.

CENTRE SENIORS

Have Annual Baccalaureate Sermon.

COMMENCEMENT AT DANVILLE BEGINS.

SOUND ADVICE GIVEN BY LEARNED PRESIDENT.

FOURTEEN TO BE GRADUATED.

Danville, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—The annual baccalaureate sermon was delivered to the graduating class of Centre College in the Second Presbyterian church, beginning at 11 o'clock this morning, by the Rev. Dr. F. W. Hinitt, president of Central University of Kentucky, of which Centre College is a part. He delivered a very strong sermon to one of the largest audiences that have ever gathered at the Second Presbyterian church.

Upon the rostrum with Dr. Hinitt were the Rev. Dr. L. H. Blanton, vice president; the Rev. Dr. E. M. Greem, the Rev. Dr. J. Q. A. McDowell, the Rev. Dr. J. McCluskey Blayney and the Rev. Robert O. Kirkwood, pastor of the Walnut Hills church of Cincinnati. The music was in charge of J. A. Cheek, Dr. Bernhardt, Prof. Frederick C. Mayer and Miss Mabel Brierly and added much to the impressiveness of the occasion. Miss Brierly sang one of the most beautiful solos that have ever been heard in Danville.

* * *

Dr. Hinitt's Sermon.

Such manhood is realized through the exaltation of the spiritual elements of life. The very constitution of man is sufficient to evidence the lines of advance. His spiritual capacities are the supreme facts of his experience, and in their expansion is to be found the manifestations of supreme power. His intellect, with its almost infinite capacity of development, must be made to realize the largest outlooks on the world of matter and spirit. His aesthetic consciousness, too much neglected in the religious and educational developments of to-day, must be brought to the full apprehension and enjoyment of the world of beauty, ethical and physical. His moral powers, by which he is fitted to know God, to aspire after godliness, and to rise into the stature of a true son of God, must be given their largest exercise and truest development. These powers are the supreme facts of our nature, the essence of true manhood, and no strong life can be lived that is not thus lived in the spirit and with reference to the realization of this life of the spirit.

This exaltation of the spiritual reveals to the individual great constitutive principles of life. Life is lived in no fragmentary experience, but in the unity of the revelation of law. Just as the intellect in its interrogation of the physical universe discovers everywhere the existence of laws, so in the contemplation of the moral universe there emerge laws of the higher world that become determinative of life.

This World God's World.

To the earnest spirit in this quest for truth there emerges the fact of God, the truth that this world is God's world, that it is rooted in righteousness, and that, in the long run, the justice of God is done in the life of nations and individuals. The need of this day is the apprehension of God thus known, and the life that thus becomes devoted to righteousness, individual, social, national. The strong life is possible to him who thus knows God, and with conscience divinely illumined, divinely quickened and divinely enabled, sets himself to the doing of God's will.

The strong life demands strong leadership. Not abstract principles, however logical, but a moral ideal actualized in human form is the demand of the human heart. So, God in the economy of redemption has realized for every man the hero to whom he may give his heart's allegiance, the inspirer of all our ideals in the person of the divinely human, son of God. The life thus organized, with such leadership, cannot but be blessed, and wherever lived shall not fail of the reward of the strong man who has fought the good fight and kept the faith and for whom the Lord, the righteous judge, has laid up the crown of righteousness which he shall receive in God's great day.

The annual sermon to the Young Men's Christian Association was delivered to-night in the First Presbyterian church by the Rev. Robert O. Kirkwood, formerly of Lexington, but now of Cincinnati, O. He delivered probably the best Y. M. C. A. sermon heard in recent years in this city.

Fourteen in Senior Class.

The senior class is composed of fourteen members this year, as follows: Henry C. Bright, Danville; Willoughby Colton, Campbellsville; Clay Hugh Cox, Junction City; John C. Crenshaw, Dermotte, Ark.; Milton M. Davis, Midway; Thomas N. Faulconer, Danville; Francis Flaig, Danville; Gerald F. Hager, Ashland; Jay Harlan, Danville; William Hall Hawkins, Midway; Walter O. The annual intersociety oratorical contest will take place in the college chapel to-morrow night at 8 o'clock; Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the college chapel will be held the class day exercises, which, as usual, will be interesting and largely attended, and in the evening at 6 o'clock will be held the senior banquet. Wednesday morning, in the college chapel, the commencement proper will close the collegiate year.

Commencement in Chapel.

Hundreds of visitors are in town to attend the annual commencement hop to-morrow night. For many years the regular commencement exercises have been held in the Second Presbyterian church, but Dr. Hinitt announced this morning that the chapel had been improved and enlarged and would now accommodate as large an audience as any building in the community and that he felt it eminently proper that former customs be set aside so far as the place of holding the exercises is concerned.

TREASURER OF U. S. WILL ADDRESS BANKERS.

Atlanta, Ga., June 10.—The Georgia and Florida Bankers' Associations will hold a joint meeting here beginning to-morrow, the Georgia financiers being the entertainers, returning the compliment paid them one year ago, when the Florida bankers were the hosts at Atlanta Beach. A joint meeting will be held to-morrow at which, in addition to the addresses of welcome and responses, the delegates will listen to a speech by Charles H. Treat, treasurer of the United States, on the subject of the relation of the United States treasury to the banker.

Others speakers will be: R. E. L. Marshall, of Baltimore, and Joseph A. McCord, of Atlanta, member of the Legislative Committee of the American Bankers' Association. The two associations will meet separately on Tuesday to transact the business incident to the respective annual meetings.

GUESTS' COMFORT

Will Be Looked After By Numerous Committees.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE HAS BEEN SUBDIVIDED.

KENTUCKY COLONELS TO MEET ALL ORGANIZED BODIES.

ESCORTS FOR INDIVIDUALS.

The Reception Committee, of which A. Y. Ford is chairman, is composed of one hundred representative men, selected for the purpose of meeting the city's guests upon their arrival and looking after their comfort, and, in general, making them feel the heartiness of their welcome to home. The committee has been subdivided for the purpose of its work into five subcommittees. One of these subcommittees, of which W. B. Haldeman is chairman, will co-operate with the Kentucky Colonels in meeting the organized bodies, who will begin to arrive in the city this morning. There will be special trains with organized Kentucky clubs from St. Louis, Chicago, Denver, New York, Oklahoma City, Nashville, Cincinnati, Knoxville, Little Rock, Los Angeles, Wichita, Kan., and a number of other places. There will be some fourteen or fifteen of such bodies, and it is the purpose of the committee to have a number of its representatives greet each of these organizations at the station upon its arrival. There will be two bands of music at each railroad station, so that there will always be one ready for service in escorting these organized bodies. The Kentucky Colonels, in their unique uniforms, will do escort duty on these occasions. This committee is composed of the following:

W. B. Haldeman, chairman; W. J. Semonin, J. F. Buckner, E. Bert Finck, R. M. Hiner, C. H. Hungerford, C. B. Norton, Wm. Robinson, Stephen D. Smith, D. S. Wilson, R. H. Young, Henry Bakrow, Frank Fehr, R. M. Bean, C. J. Meddis, T. E. Basham, W. C. Williams, J. M. Ryan, George L. Danforth.

To Meet Individual Guests.

Another committee, with C. M. Robertson as chairman, will meet the individual guests of the city. The various gentlemen who have been invited to take part on the programme and other especially distinguished guests will be welcomed by this committee. The committee will be furnished with carriages, so that every such guest will be properly received upon his arrival in the city and taken to his hotel. This committee is composed of the following:

C. M. Robertson, chairman; John B. Castleman, Peter Lee Atherton, W. R. Belknap, J. W. Biles, Bruce Haldeman, George C. Norton, H. C. Rodes, Baylor Hickman, W. W. Hite, R. C. Watkins, W. H. Newman, Sam P. Jones, J. D. Powers, Clarence Dallam, Alvah Terry, S. T. Ballard, Judge Thomas R. Gordon, Shackelford Miller, Capt. C. F. Huhlein.

To Receive Strangers.

A large committee has been organized, with Fred W. Keisker as chairman, to be on duty at the south end of the Armory Wednesday morning to receive all strangers and see that they get to the parts of the building which they desire to reach. The members of this committee will be on duty from 8 o'clock Wednesday, though the majority of them will not come on duty until 9:30. This committee is composed of the following:

F. W. Keisker, chairman; James W. Kennedy, J. D. Winston, Charles Matthews, Pendleton C. Beckley, Donald McDonald, James H. Button, Neville S. Bullitt, C. J. Meddis, Henry Bakrow, Stephen D. Smith, D. B. G. Rose, A. H. Robinson, W. Y. Macpherson, Zack Offutt, C. H. Hungerford, Arthur Rutledge, R. M. Bean, W. G. Munn, R. S. Brown, L. W. Botts, Frank S. Hartwell, Pink Varble, T. L. Jefferson, Clarence Dallam, E. J. McDermott, Harry E. Pfingst, Harry I. Wood, James Clarke, Jr., F. A. Clegg, E. H. Defebaugh, L. DeWitt, T. H. Baker, F. L. McKernan, Evans S. Rees, James S. Ray, Trevor H. Whayne, Joseph Burge, E. B. Finck, Joseph R. Duffin, R. M. Hiner, Hardy Burton, W. H. Bradbury, Peyton N. Clarke, Ed A. Altsheler, Thos. E. Basham, W. L. Hall, D. S. Wilson, Wm. Robinson, R. H. Young, J. G. Henry, M. W. Ripy.

In Charge of Grandstand.

A committee, under charge of Charles D. Campbell, will look after the comfort of guests at the north end of the Armory, especially on the grandstand. Admission to the grandstand for the opening exercises Wednesday will be by tickets, which are issued under the direction of Mr. Campbell's committee, which committee will be in charge of the grandstand during the exercises. The committee is composed of the following gentlemen:

Speakers' Escort.

There is still another committee to escort the various speakers to the opening exercises in the Armory on Wednesday. This committee is composed of the folowing:

A. Y. Ford, chairman; R. A. McDowell, E. J. McDermott, V. H. Engelhard, A. L. Terry, James P. Gregory, Sam P. Jones, Fred Levy, C. F. Huhlein, Judge Thomas R. Gordon.

Some of them will be on hand early on Wednesday morning, but most of them will report for duty at 10 o'clock. It is believed that these arrangements will cover properly every possible contingency touching the reception of organized bodies and distinguished visitors on their arrival in the city and comfort during the opening exercises.

Besides the duties of the Reception Committee, as outlined above, no special work is assigned to them until the night of the ball, when it will be joined with the special Reception Committee, under Mr. Frank N. Hartwell, for duty at the ball.

MISS THOMAS CONVICTED OF STEALING DIAMOND

But Jewel Itself Cannot Be Recovered, So Mystery Remains.

Omaha, Neb., June 10.—[Special.]—Legally, at any rate, the mystery of the diamond which Miss Mae Thomas was charged with stealing and eating, has been solved. It took the jury exactly twenty-four hours to pass upon the case, and then they returned to court with a verdict of guilty, coupled with a recommendation for leniency. The charge against the woman was grand larceny.

She consulted a minute with her attorney and was led back to her cell. Sentence will be pronounced to-morrow. The Judge's instructions were that the jury must find that Miss Thomas put the diamond in her mouth with the intention of stealing it or else not find her guilty. The verdict does not dispose of the mystery as to what became of the diamond after it went into her mouth, and while the presumption still is that she swallowed it, she seems to be suffering no inconvenience from its presence, although she still is in a weak condition from the effects of violent emetics administered to recover it. Efforts to have her submit to an operation for its removal were abandoned, pending the trial.

FOSTER DAY

Full of Interesting Features For Home-Coming.

ONE THOUSAND YOUNG WOMEN TO MARCH IN PARADE.

WELL-KNOWN ORATORS BOOKED FOR ADDRESSES.

BAND CONCERT IN EVENING.

Foster day, June 14, will present to the Home-comers many interesting features of a character to appeal to the heart of every Kentuckian.

There will be a parade of one thousand daughters of Louisville; there will be gathered within the spacious Armory fully 25,000 eager and expectant persons to hear orations from orators and songs from singers; to witness the unveiling of the Roop statue of Stephen Collins Foster; to see face to face the daughter and descendants of Stephen Collins Foster; to hear a melodious chorus of a thousand voices singing Foster's most famous song, "My Old Kentucky Home," and other selections of the gifted author.

Not the least interesting feature of the day will be the addresses of R. W. Miller, of Richmond, Ky., and Sidney B. Redding of Little Rock, Ark. Mr. Miller is a Kentuckian of the type Kentuckians delight to honor. He is native born, of illustrious family, a man of the people and one of the truly great orators of the State.

Mr. Miller's personal worth, his magnificent talent and his splendid magnetism have endeared him to thousands, and that he will greatly widen his sphere of usefulness as a Kentuckian worthy of honor is the belief of the committee.

The Hon. Sidney B. Redding is a prominent citizen of Arkansas, a native of Kentucky, a gentleman of national importance and soon to be honored by the highest gift of the party which he has served with distinguished ability. While in the city Mr. Redding will be the guest of Mr. Sam P. Jones.

* * *

Practically Ready.

"We are practically ready for the Foster day celebration," said Harry E. Pfingst, chairman. "We have decided on the hour of meeting, the order of the programme and as far as human forethought can do have provided every comfort for our guests.

"The parade will form, under the direction of A. T. Macdonald, at Third and Broadway, at 1 o'clock p. m. on Thursday, June 14. Mr. Macdonald will be assisted by the entire Foster Day Committee with the exception of Reception and Platform Subcommittees, which will be on duty at the Armory.

"We will have a meeting with the chorus on Monday morning and our plans will be completed at that time. In the meantime I wish the members of the committee to meet with Mr. Macdonald at Third and Broadway at 12:30 o'clock p. m. to assist in the formation of the line. It is the intention, I believe, to have the school teachers march with the young people. This will be a glorious sight, as we expect several thousand people in the parade.

Line of March.

"The line of march has been decided on after much discussion. It will be from Third and Broadway, in Third to Walnut and down Walnut to the Armory. This parade has been purposely shortened so that the exercises at the Armory may not only begin in time, but find the young people fresh and ready for their share in the programme.

"On arrival at the Armory the parade will be met at the main entrance by Dr. Powell's committee and escorted to the platform, which will be in charge of Mr. George M. Ridenour.

"To avoid confusion I would like to have it impressed on all that the platform will be reserved for the exclusive use of the participants in the programme and the distinguished guests of the city who will grace the occasion by their presence. Mr. Ridenour will be in absolute charge of the platform and Dr. Powell will have authority over the Reception Committee. The Sixth-street entrance, the one nearest Green street, will be used exclusively by the guests of the day. For the accommodation and comfort of the public all the entrances will be available for entrance and exit—this we hope will prevent any confusion or undue crowding.

Police Protection.

"Chief Gunther and the Board of Safety have been exceedingly kind to this committee. It has promised a detail of mounted men and others to care for the parade and an additional corps of twenty to preserve order at the Armory. Dr. Henry Enos Tuley, in charge of the medical corps, will have physicians in attendance at the parade and to care for emergency cases an ambulance with three physicians will be provided.

"I would like to impress on the parents and the public the fact that the parade will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock, and that this may be done the young people must report at Third and Broadway at 1 o'clock. The exercises at the Armory will begin at 2:30 o'clock, and end about 4 or 4:30 o'clock.

"For the evening a magnificent band concert and a chorus furnished by the celebrated Burroughs Glee Club are features of which further announcement will be made later.

"Members of the Foster Day Committee who were not present at last Friday's meeting will please note the request for a full meeting at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the Armory."

WHISTLES ANNOUNCE ATTEMPT TO OPERATE.

M. A. Hanna Mines Will Try to Resume Work This Morning.

Dillonvale, O., June 10.—For the first time since the coal miners ceased work April 1, the whistles at the M. A. Hanna mines at Dillonvale, those of the Ruby Coal and Ramsey and Glens Run Coal Companies at Rush Run, were heard this evening. They were blown as a notice that an attempt will be made to-morrow to resume operations under the 1903 and 1904 scales and the operators' officials felt confident that sufficient number of old employes will return to work to assure the successful operations of the mines.

The union officials have visited every miner to-day and are confident that there will not be any desertion from the organization. The organization members hereafter will draw two dollars a week benefits, and this will have a soothing effect on the strikers and the men are standing firm for the 1903 scale.

The operators claim to have a sufficient number of imported men at a convenient place to run into the mine at short notice, and thus insure the resumption of operations if their old employes fail to respond to the signal for work to-morrow morning. With no troops in the field and only a small number of armed guards, the companies anticipate trouble from he strikers if he imported men are taken into the mines, but there are no indications at present to substantiate their fears.

The strikers are unusually quiet and the union officials seem to have them under complete control.

FIVE PERSONS HURT AND BIG LOSS BY FIRE.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., June 10.—The building occupied by Klein & Wassem, grocers, was destroyed by fire here early this morning. The fire started from an explosion in the powder and gasoline room. Five people were slightly injured. Loss $85,000.

GOOD TIME

Promised Visiting Newspaper Men By Local Press.

OPEN HEADQUARTERS AT THE ELKS' HOME.

COMFORT CONVENIENCE AND GOOD CHEER FOR THEM.

ALL LIDS TO BE TAKEN OFF.

The Press Reception Committee for Home-coming Week, of which Mr. E. H. Defebaugh is chairman, has started a new mark for future press committees to shoot at.

The entertainment of the newspaper men will be the most elaborate ever planned for a Louisville gathering, and there will be nothing that the scribes can wish for during their visit, which will not be at hand.

Headquarters will be open at the Elks' Home and the secretary of the Press Committee will be on hand to welcome the newspaper men. Arrangements have been made with the proprietors of all amusements that will be in Louisville during Home-coming Week for tickets for the newspaper representatives, while at headquarters refreshments will be served at all hours and every facility will be given the newspaper men for handling their copy.

Following are the members of Mr. Defebaugh's committee:

Henry Watterson,	W. B. Haldeman,
Bruce Haldeman,	R. W. Brown,
Graham Vreeland,	Robert J. McBryde,
Brainard Platt,	William A. Kaltenbacker,

Good Cheer.

Mr. Defebaugh said: "The committee has held a number of meetings and has arranged to keep open house on the beautifully appointed first floor of the Elks' Home on Walnut, between Third and Fourth, which has been decorated for the occasion and its walls adorned with the latest and best efforts of our well-known artists. The latch string will be out to the visiting newspaper men from 9 o'clock in the morning until sun up of the next morning from the evening of June 12 to the night of June 17. All press boys are welcome. Several members of the House Committee, composed of twenty members, will be on hand all the time to give the visitors that welcome that has been characteristic of Kentucky at all times. Credentials will be necessary, but all newspaper men are welcome. With the home decorated beautifully and a hornets' nest in one corner, delegates should find this a warm corner for rest and recreation. An 'owl' session will be held at 12 o'clock each night, and it will be a good, old-fashioned story-telling event with the hope of a complete exchange of notes and good fellowship that will warm the hearts of all present.

* * *

For Special Occasions.

"A committee of eight men has been appointed to see that visitors are taken care of as to cards, and that delegates and their ladies are given special attention at the ball. A committee has been appointed for the five special occasions, namely, Daniel Boone day, Flower Parade, Night Pageant and the ceremonies of 'Till we meet again.' The visiting newspaper men will be under the surveillance of the members of the Press Committee, and our badge will be a sign for the visitor to ask or take anything he wants, even if it is nailed down. The press secretary will be on hand at all times at headquarters and will issue an annual pass good for all the amusements of the week, including the big tent and side shows.

"7,500 newspaper men have been invited, and each day brings advance credentials and advice of the attendance of representatives of the principal daily, weekly as well as the monthly magazines. These papers have printed thousands of columns about Kentucky and Louisville, and especially noting out family 'Home-coming,' and we desire to receive them with open arms. All indications point to a large attendance, and even those who cannot be with us, indicate by their responses that their spirit joins us in this celebration.

"Special attention will be given in assisting visitors to ofrward dispatches and in preparation of other data as to Kentucky's past, present and future commercial and social life. With our full committee enthused with making this an occasion, we believe the individuals of the Press Committees as a whole will do their part toward the success of 'Home-coming Week.'"

ADVANCE GUARD OF HOME-COMERS

ing are suspended the paintings of all the Governors of the State from Isaac neath the balcony are located the headquarters of the counties of the State. Twelve thousand chairs have been placed in the balcony and main floor of the auditorium. After this great number of chairs have been placed in the building plenty of space has been left for people to move about the great hall with ease. The public can rest assured that there will not be the least bit of discomfort in the auditorium.

From the schedules of trains furnished by passenger agents of various roads entering Louisville that will be brought to Louisville within the next two or three days, the members of the Home-coming Committee are confident that the Home-coming will be a success so far as numbers in attendance are concerned. They are confident that there will be over 50,000 visitors in the city by Wednesday at noon. To-day the B. and O. railroad will bring in three extra coaches of Home-comers. To-morrow eleven extra coaches and a special train will arrive over the same road. Wednesday the same road will bring in four extra coaches and sleepers and a special train. It has one extra coach scheduled for Thursday.

Crowds Coming in "Specials."

To-morrow the Southern will bring in three special trains and three sleepers. Wednesday the same road will bring in a special train and a special sleeper. A special train will arrive over the Henderson Route to-day. Three special coaches will arrive over this road Wednesday. A special train is due to arrive over the Pennsylvania railroad to-day. Special trains will arrive over the L. and N. to-morrow and next day. A special train is scheduled to arrive over the Big Four to-day.

The movement of trains announced includes nothing but organized bodies journeying to Louisville. It does not include people who are coming singly from various places, or any people of Southern Indiana, Kentucky or Ohio. R. E. Hughes, director general of Home-coming, issued yesterday the following bulletin to the committees on Reception, Information and Hotels and Accommodations after having been advised by the various passenger agents:

NOTHING IS GOOD IN THE FOOD WAY.

All Adulterated and Cause of Fifty Per cent of Deaths, Says Kansas Expert.

Kansas City, Mo., June 10.—[Special.]—"Fifty per cent. of the deaths that occur in this country are the direct result of impure and dishonest foods. The packers are not alone to blame. It is practically impossible to get any pure food in this country," said Harry B. Walsley, champion of pure food in the last Legislature, and for fifteen years inspector for the Missouri underwriters. He has been in every room of every packing house in this State many times.

"I looked up a bill of fare in a restaurant not long ago and studied it," said Mr. Walsley. "I found that the average man takes forty-two doses of poison at every meal he eats. The butter is colored with coaltar dyes. The meat has more or less embalming fluid. The bread is full of alum. The tea and coffee contain copper. The vegetables have different varieties of coaltar dyes. You can't get any pure pepper; it is full of cocoanut shells, sawdust and clay."

Fight For Quarantine Bill About To End.

MAY REACH PRESIDENT BY CLOSE OF WEEK.

MARKS A BIG VICTORY FOR CONGRESSMAN WILLIAMS.

DEMOCRATIC AID ASKED FOR.

Washington, June 10.—[Special.]—It is expected that the Quarantine Bill will be passed and receive the approval of the President before the end of the week. The conference report may be agreed to to-morrow. The end of the struggle makes a big victory for Representative Williams, of Mississippi, who initiated the proceedings in the House and finally got the measure through that body, since which time it has been hung up in the Senate.

The provisions of the bill as agreed upon are that the Secretary of the Treasury shall have control of all quarantine stations and anchorages and shall designate suitable places for the establishment of such stations on the coast lines or border lines of the United States. The erection of such a station at the Dry Tortugas is left to the discretion of the Secretary and is not made mandatory upon him. The provisions of the bill are no longer made applicable to yellow fever only, but as changed in conference apply to all quarantinable diseases. The provision for the appropriation of $500,000 to carry out the purposes of the bill and for use in co-operating with State or municipal authorities remains in the bill.

Chance for Pennsylvania Democrats.

"If the Democrats of Pennsylvania unite with the Lincoln party and accept its candidate, Senator Lew Emery, they will carry the State this fall," declared Gen. William H. Kontz, of Somerset, Pa., who served in the House from 1865 to 1869, and thirty years later was the independent candidate for Speaker of the State Assembly Quay. "I saw Col. Guffey, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, yesterday," he went on, "and urged him to accept Mr. Emery as the Democratic candidate, but he was not very enthusiastic over such a plan. It is not yet decided what will be done, but I am certain that Pennsylvania can overturn the State machine again just as it did last fall if the independents and Democrats combine. There is talk of the Democrats being able to split the vote between the Emery and Republican tickets and winning, but I do not think so. Mr. Stuart, the man nominated by the Penrose machine the other day, is a passive sort of man and not likely to fight the machine. On the other hand Mr. Emery has been in the fight for twenty years and is just the sort of man to sweep the State with enthusiasm. He is so popular a man, and the dissatisfaction with the machine is so great that he might be elected without the aid of the Democrats, but he would have a hard fight without them, and would surely be elected with them."

Fighting Littlefield.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is waging a hot fight in Maine against the reelection of Representative Littlefield, who voted against several of Gompers' measures during the last session. The labor leader is evidently getting under the skin of the Maine Congressman, who is now taking refuge behind the President. Mr. Littlefield says:

"I am not alone in having his condemnation. Indeed, I have the best of company, as he has also attacked the President.

"I am ready to meet any criticism that Mr. Gompers may make. I do not believe he will be able to carry my constituents off their feet by inflammatory appeals to passion and prejudice. I have had the misfortune to actively support several measures of vital interest to my constituents that have met with the bitter opposition of Mr. Gompers, and with the President and Speaker Cannon, I must do the best I can to get along under the ban of his displeasure."

A natural picture of one of the greatest events in the history of the world is to be preserved in its pristine form as an object lesson for the peoples of all times, and all climes. It is the famous McLean farmhouse at Appomattox, Virginia, where the grim and gray clad veterans of the army of Northern Virginia, commanded by Gen. Robert E. Lee, finally surrendered to Gen. U. S. Grant and the Army of the Potomac. This Virginia picture will serve ever as a reminder of the indissoluble reunion between the warring factions. Mrs. Dunlap, of this city, who is the secretary of the movement, has received the following letter from President Roosevelt:

"My Dear Madam: I, of course, cordially sympathize with the movement for the restoration of the McLean farmhouse at Appomattox to the condition in which it formerly was, it then to be turned over to the Government as a peace memorial as set forth in your communication of the 12th instant.

"Wishing you all success in your efforts, I am sincerely yours,
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

No Use of Meeting.

The Ways and Means Committee will probably not hold another meeting at this session of Congress, and it is just as well that it will not. Its Republican members have certainly stood pat regardless of the Democratic members' efforts to secure a vote on anything pertaining to a revision of the tariff.

They Are Coming Home.

Almost 300 native Kentuckians will depart to-morrow for Louisville, to attend the Home-coming reunion of Kentuckians, who live away from their native State. The Kentucky residents of Washington are enthusiastic over the week of festivities they intend to participate in. They expect to meet old acquaintances and to renew old friendships. Mr. John W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, was a prime mover in organizing the party that is to go from here.

According to an estimate given out by the several railroads which connect from this city with trains for Louisville, about 150 Kentuckians departed last night and yesterday. They have offered rates to all who care to go, and the excursion tickets are good for departure to-day and to-morrow. It is thought that between 150 and 200 will leave on these two days.

Ray W. O'Bryan, of Kentucky, William E. Miller and William H. Myers, of Tennessee, have qualified at the preliminary examination for admission to the medical corps of the army and will attend the next session of the army medical school.

Won't See Old-Timers.

Gov. Whyte, of Maryland, who will be sworn in as Senator to-morrow, will not find a single member of the Senate who served with him when he first came to the Senate, in July, 1868, and only Allison and Teller when he left it, twelve years later.

Great Western
Extra Dry
Champagne

pays no duty—that alone makes the difference of one-half in the price you pay.

Nearly one hundred years of cultivation in the Great Western Vineyards at Rheims, N. Y., has given the soil conditions that produce the ideal wine-grape.

This fruit, and the method of making and ageing Great Western Champagne, is identical with that of Champagne, France.

That is why it has all the delicate flavor and bouquet of the Old World's best vintages.

This is attested by the Gold Medal awarded Great Western at Paris—the only American Champagne thus acknowledged equal to the foreign product.

FINE PROGRESS

MADE BY COTTON CROP DURING PAST WEEK.

Hot Days and High Night Temperatures Both Favorable to Work.

Memphis, June 10.—The Commercial Appeal's summary of crop conditions, covering the Central States of the cotton belt, for the past week is as follows:

Exceptions to reports that the cotton crop has made excellent progress during the past week are so few as to be undeserving of notice in a summary. Correspondents universally agree that the hot days and sunshine have been the condition par excellence. While high night temperatures have been an additional favoring influence, there has been no general rainfall, and only a few local showers are reported. This condition, too, has been right because of the fine opportunity given for cultivation of the cotton. The condition has been used fully, and many reports are that the crop is being worked over for the second time, though in a few localities some backward fields are still wanting the first cultivation.

The late planting, which in North Alabama and parts of Arkansas and Tennessee was considerable, is reported very healthy and growing rapidly. In some instances the poor stand if the early cotton has not been remedied. All connection is healthy, however, and insects are few. These sections of Northwestern and Central Mississippi, which were damaged by the excessive rains of the week ending June 1 have been enabled by the good weather to recover some of the ground they lost. Blooms are reported around Natchez and other Mississippi points and in Northern Louisiana.

SPEND TWO HOURS IN EFFORT TO RESCUE MEN.

Fog Interfering, Battleship Then Proceeds on Its Way Without Having Succeeded.

New York, June 10.—The United State battleship Maine, which arrived here to-day, when forty-five miles out from Boston yesterday passed an open boat in which were two men who called out that they wished to be taken on board. The Maine was stopped as quickly as possible and a whaleboat was launched to pick the men up. A fog was rapidly settling, however, and although the whaleboat crew circled about for two hours, they failed to locate the distressed men. The battleship then proceeded on her way to this port.

SHIP SPOKEN AT SEA WITH CARGO ON FIRE.

London, June 10.—The British ship Walden Abbey, Capt. Campbell, from London, for San Francisco, was spoken, May 12, in latitude 29 North and longitude 19 West, with her cargo afire.

"Business."

Saturday Evening, June 9.—The week's record of active stocks on the New York Stock Exchange shows that forty-seven advanced, twenty-seven declined and eight remained steady. The volume of trading showed decided expansion. The operations, however, were largely professional, the public taking very little interest in the market. The professionals appear to believe it a propitious time to start a bull market in view of the easier money conditions, the bright crop prospects, the probable early adjournment of Congress and prosperous conditions generally, and they are going through all the preliminaries that usually precede such campaigns. Whether the public will participated to a degree to assure success is a matter of considerable conjecture. Some New York houses sent out reports during the week that the public was gradually taking an interest in the market, while others reported a total indifference on the part of the public, and that the market was wholly in the hands of the professionals. The statement of Frank A. Vanderlip, of the National City Bank of New York, that the outlook is not clear as regards the monetary situation and its effects on Wall street, and that while call money may be easy for sixty days, it would be rash to predict that rates will be low and funds abundant after that time threw somewhat of a damper on those who were committed to the long side of the market and the weakness during the latter part of the week was to some extent attributed to Mr. Vanderlip's statement. The market appears to be in a good position, having withstood many tribulations, and with good crops and general prosperous conditions, it seems entitled to an advance.

Reports from the business world continue extremely satisfactory. Railroad earnings continue very heavy, those reporting showing an increase of 14 per cent. for May over the corresponding month a year ago. Bank clearings are considerably in excess of last year at this period. Crop reports are somewhat irregular, but on the whole as favorable as a year ago at this date. Speculative activity has been quite pronounced in the grain markets of late, and an advance of good proportions has taken place, the advance being ascribed to the many "crop-killer" reports. The Government crop report on grain is due on Monday, and it is expected to show a drop in condition of winter wheat. The general effect of the large number of crop reports recently issued has been to ease cotton prices slightly, though the Government report showing a 6 per cent. increase in area planted and 7 points higher condition than a year ago was rather stimulating to buying, as the market was apparently oversold. The meat trade felt the effect of the recent report on packing-house conditions. Chicago canned goods packers report their trade cut 25 to 50 per cent. Manufacturers are all busy.

Business in Louisville continues active. Banking clearings this week were over $1,000,000 greater than for the corresponding week a year ago. Banking reserves are ample and comfortable.

Senator William Pinkney Whyte.

The appointment by Gov. Warfield of the venerable William Pinkney Whyte as successor of the late Senator Arthur Pue Gorman brings again to the front a figure which has long been conspicuous in the public affairs of his State. Not that he has, by any means, been, even of late, removed from the activities of a life crowded with honors, as for the past six years, since he retired from the office of Attorney General of Maryland, he has been at the head of the law department of Baltimore under its new charter. But the return, at his age, to the scene of his former service is an event so rare as to invite more than passing comment. His presence in the Senate will add a third to the list of octogenarians. Senator Pettus, of Alabama, will be eighty-five July 6 next. His colleague, Senator Morgan, will be eighty-two June 20, and Senator Whyte will also be eighty-two August 20. So that though the senior of all the other Senators, he will be the junior of the two from Alabama.

Senator Whyte began his political career nearly sixty years ago, having been a member of the Legislature of Maryland in 1847. He took active interest in political affairs, State and National, without holding other office than that of State Controller until 1868, when he became United States Senator to fill a vacancy of a year occasioned by the death of Reverdy Johnson. Then he became Governor for four years, and from the gubernatorial chair he returned to the Senate by election, filling out a full term—1875-81. Those who enjoyed his acquaintance during this period cannot fail to recall with pleasure the engaging personality of the distinguished Marylander. While possessing all the capacity required for such service, he wore his honor so freely from any assumption of superiority over his friends of less high station as to impress the nobility of his character upon all who came in contact with him.

Upon his retirement from the Senate, Gov. Whyte was unanimously elected Mayor of Baltimore, and later became counsel for the State in the noted boundary dispute between Maryland and Virginia, in the settlement of which Senator Beck was one of the arbitrators on the part of Virginia. After the amicable adjustment of this affair he became Attorney General of Maryland, and served from 1887 to 1891. Since then he has, as stated, been the head of the law department of the city of Baltimore.

It will thus be seen that for nearly sixty years Senator Whyte has been almost continuously in active service, presenting another of the rare instances in history in which public usefulness is extended far beyond the limit of supposed mental and physical activity. In resuming his place in the Senate along with the two octogenarians from Alabama, who have exhibited similar tenacity of life and vigor, he exemplifies the career of such eminent statesmen as Gladstone, who at similar age maintined his position as Premier of England with unbroken sway against keen opposition. Re-enforced by such a coadjutor the younger members of the Senate will have to look to their laurels as against such veterans in senatorial experience and leadership.

Lord Chatham was regarded as a great leader in Parliament for his years, but he died in his seventieth year. John Quincy Adams died in the harness as member of the House in his eighty-first year, but the junior of all three of the Senators named here. Macaulay, in his history of England, however, shows that in the reign of William and Mary John Mannard was leader of the House of Commons at the age of ninety-two. Who knows but with three such hale and vigorous octogenarians in the Senate the next decade or less may see such evidence of vitality repeated in the upper house of Congress.

Negroes as Home Owners.

Concerning the everlasting problem of "the negro and the South," a thoughtful and engaging article is contributed to the Century Magazine by Mr. Harry Stillwell Edwards. The subject is one of such far-reaching importance, affecting, as it does, the happiness and progress of two races in America, and especially of the southern section of America, that every effort to simplify it is of value, that is, provided the effort is that of a fair mind, sane sympathies and good faith. Not every so-called effort has its source in such wholesomeness, more is the pity, and then, instead of helping the settlement of the question, it hinders. Sometimes, again, an endeavor honestly enough made is based on so fantastic a set of theories as to be wholly impracticable. Mr. Edwards is a Southern man. He has had personal experiences with the negro race and he has observed its habits and tendencies. It is on his experiences and observations that he pitches his article.

At the outset the author tells of conditions which he saw thirty years ago in that part of the suburbs of Macon given over to negroes. The cabins were unfurnished, ill-kept, filthy; the occupants, for the most part, were shiftless, while such a thing as virtue among the female members was conceded in but few instances. The negroes did not own the hovels, but rented them. Recently Mr. Edwards visited the same spot. He found many families occupying their own homes; flowers grew in the yards and on the porches; curtains hung neatly at the windows and an air of "homelike serenity" pervaded the entire district. In the house he entered, the floors were carpeted, the walls were decorated with pictures, and a piano and organ testified to the tastes of the household. In conversation with the people of the house and neighborhood, he heard good ideas expressed in excellent language, and discovered that everyone with whom he came in contact was possessed of sufficient education to read and write, while many were much further advanced. The men who purchased these houses, the women who kept them, have achieved a higher standard of citizenship, and the reaction on their descendants has helped to free the streets of vice.

After discussing further the transformation above described, Mr. Edwards proceeds to point the moral that "every man removed from the ranks of the homeless to the ranks of the home owners is an element of danger converted into an element of safety." To his way of thinking, the safety of the South lies in such conversions. The first attack on the problem of the negro, therefore, according to his judgment, is to make his interests coincide with those of the whites—make him a home owner. "At the risk of becoming dogmatic," writes Mr. Edwards, "I confidently venture the statement that no man can expand to his full possibilities in a rented house. The Christian virtues blossom in their perfection about one's own fireside. Every lesson of morality, every elevated thought doubles there its power and influence. And this is as true of the nomad's tent, the negro's cottage, as of the homes of the rich and strong. Here is the beginning of all good government; the family is the type of the State. The men who have learned to command their own full powers and restrain themselves, constitute, when united, a community, and the union of communities is the State. As a nation, we may bathe our brows in the clouds, but we shall always warm our feet by the fireside."

But in those lines the author indulges in a sort of random and general philosophy. He is somewhat more specific in these:

"Every man who has possessed in fee simple a spot of land knows the feeling. The happiness of home-owning strikes the American negro with peculiar force. The centuries have taught him that the people who command respect are the owners of lands and homes; and once in his own home, the home itself begins to teach him higher things. The home at once demands to be made attractive. It demands respect, not only from its occupants, but from its neighbors. It demands safety from invasions. It takes on a sanctity that extends to every member of the family, and decent living is the rule. No stranger may at night signal in the shutters of this house; no woman venture forth to roam the streets. It has become the home of a self-respecting American citizen.

"And having secured for himself a permanent home, the possessor adds himself to the higher class, and demands that the public around him share the respect he feels for himself. Moreover, he becomes amenable to the reasons which sway all other home-owners. He sees the force of arguments for low taxation, good streets, adequate police service, quick transportation and fire departments. And, seeing so much, he eventually learns that his ballot must neither be suppressed nor sold."

Mr. Edwards does not submit a definite programme for bringing to pass the period when a considerable portion of the negro race shall be home-owning. This must come with the evolution of the race. As the writer says, the South is the friend of the negroes. It is spending millions of dollars annually in its work of educating and regenerating them.

It gives them employment. Its help is responsible for the change which Mr. Edwards noticed in those Macon suburbs. The South is doing its part in the task of uplifting the negroes. It is doing far more for the race than the North, where vociferous pretensions and ignorant criticisms take the place of actual achievement. With the South devoting money and thought to the work and opening great opportunities to the negro race to improve and to become property holders, it is for the race to do the rest.

The Panama Election.

The Government of the United States has already given notice that it proposes to keep the peace in Panama, not merely in the canal zone, but in the whole country, during the elections near at hand. Of course, if Panama were a real Government this would be an act of war. Abstractly considered, our Government has no more right to keep the peace in Panama except in pursuance of previous agreement than in Great Britain, Germany or France. Imagine the Washington Government giving notice to France that it would keep the peace at the polls during an election there. But it has as much abstract right in one case as the other.

Of course, it is true that we created the little republic of Panama for an express purpose, and told Colombia that unless the right of peaceable secession was recognized we should go to war to establish its validity. In this way we erected the right of secession into an article of faith, and poured contempt on all those who denied it in 1861. In all matters in which Panama can serve us we recognize it as an independent sovereignty; in other matters we admit that it is simply an agency for making a canal, or, at any rate, an excuse for pretending that we will construct one. Whenever it puts itself in the way of what we want we are prepared to say that it takes itself too seriously and forgets the reason of its being.

During the past week we have had at Washington a delegation from Panama. It consists of Dr. Pablo Arosemena, Vice President of Panama and head of the Liberal party, and three other members of that party. They profess to have come hither in the interest of "the square deal." The President of the toy republic, Amador, is a Conservative, and not being a native Panaman, is not eligible for re-election. He was put in as a revolutionary President, and the Constitution which made him ineligible was adopted afterward.

The Liberal envoys say that with a fair election they can carry every one of the seven provinces of Panama. But they apprehend that a fair election cannot be had. The cause of this apprehension, as they state it, is that Amador appoints the Supreme Court Judges, and they appoint the inferior Judges. Amador also appoints the seven Governors of provinces, and they appoint the Mayors of the towns. The President (Amador) also appoints the police. In the canal zone there are 50,000 people and 210 police. The city of Panama has 30,000 population, yet the number of police has been lately increased from 300 to 1,000 men. Most of these are Colombians who are not citizens of Panama, but their appointment gives them the right to vote. They are expected to go in squads (blocks of five?) to the polls to vote, and then to remain there to prevent the Liberals from voting. It is this sort of a brace game that the Liberals are invited to go up against. Arosemena says that one American witness in each of the seven provinces will be as good as scores of men, because if sent there officially they will represent eighty millions of people. But he has been told, it is said, that this Government will not interfere farther than to say that the peace of the isthmus is not to be interfered with. Noninterference in the affairs of a foreign country is a good principle, but if the Liberals are to be believed, it is simply noninterference in their interests, while the frauds on the ballot contemplated by the Conservatives are to be strenuously upheld. The principle of noninterference simply means, apparently, that the Conservatives may do as they please, but the Liberals will be suppressed by force, if necessary, and the right of Conservatives to falsify the ballot will be upheld.

It is true that the statements made by Arosemena and his friends are ex parte. They doubtless make the best presentation of their own side that they can. But we are to remember that it is often said that in Spain, and to a large extent in her colonies, the Government always wins. The voters have their day, but the Government rules the country and almost invariably announces in advance how many seats in Parliament it will have. The returns justify this forecast. Accordingly, Amador is said to have refused to appoint men of good character as judges of election; has refused to appoint judges from both parties, but has offered the Liberals ten seats if they will concede the Government eighteen. The Liberals have refused this offer, but they doubt their ability to get more if both Amador and the Government of the United States are resolved to falsify the returns. The elections, therefore, are likely to be a farce.

Sound Philosophy From Missouri.

"We find ourselves face to face with two forces, either of which, if left to itself, will drive the nation upon the shoals of destruction. On the one hand, are those who violate every principle of fair play among men, and trample upon the law in their mad struggle for the dollar; one the other hand are those who, smarting under the gross inequalities of the time, would appeal to force, rather than to reason and the laws of the land. In this great emergency it is the duty of the Democratic party to interpose itself between these forces, and to say to the so-called captains of industry that they must accumulate honestly or be sent to the penitentiary, and to the men who would flaunt the red flag that they must appeal to the law, not to the club or torch, or suffer the consequences."

The paragraph defines well and explicitly the proper position for the Democratic party, or any other party, to take. It must have as little sympathy with destructive Anarchy, on the one side, as with predatory plutocracy, on the other. In the long run there is small difference between the two, since both have for their object the annihilation of law while moving on separate paths.

There must be no tolerance of Anarchistic outcries and plots because perchance the Anarchists are poor, and there must be no forgiveness for the sins of the lawless plutocrat because he happens to be rich. This programme is one which guarantees the rights of every individual, which, after all, is the principal aim of a benevolent and enlightened government.

The Chicago Tribune, speaking of Kentucky's Home-coming celebration, says:

"In Illinois alone, according to the last Federal census, there were 62,209 natives of Kentucky living, and the total number of Kentuckians living outside the borders of the State is over 600,000. All have been invited home to Louisville, the chief city of the State, and enough have responded to make sure the success of the reunion.

"The State of Kentucky gave to Illinois one of the two Presidents of the United States credited to Illinois, Abraham Lincoln, and the one Vice President, Adlai E. Stevenson. Seven of the Governors of Illinois have been natives of Kentucky; besides three earlier Governors, every Governor elected in Illinois for the twenty-eight years from 1860 to 1888 was a native of Kentucky, although during that time two Lieutenant Governors not born in Kentucky succeeded to the gubernatorial chair. Daniel P. Cook, for whom Cook county was named; Jo Daviess, and many other of those honored by having counties or cities named after them were Kentuckians, and Chicago still mourns Judge Tuley a native of Louisville. Among the 62,000 Kentuckians still living in Illinois the most eminent is Senator Cullom, but a goodly proportion of the others have risen to high positions or are worthy citizens in the walk of life in which they belong. * * * The breaking down of local prejudice caused by the intimate associations of the new States reacts upon the older States and tends more and more to make the Union one harmonious whole. So, many of the 60,000 Kentuckians dwelling beyond the limits of their native State as are able to return will be active in removing the effects of misinformation among those who have remained at home. The reunion will be no less profitable to the rest of the country than to Kentucky."

That is one view of the Home-coming which has been little considered. And it is worth some consideration. The best type of Kentuckian does not claim that Kentucky is first and the rest of the country nowhere. But there are Kentuckians of that kind, and not the least of the good resulting from the Home-coming should be shared by them.

In Pennsylvania the Republican convention at Harrisburg nominated Edward S. Stuart, of Philadelphia, for Governor, with nominees for the other offices agreeable to Penrose. The most important matter in connection with this action was its effect upon the "Lincoln party"—the Republicans who are against the organization, who had already made nominations. It was understood that if the regular Republicans made nominations of acceptable men the Lincoln ticket would be withdrawn. Members of the Lincoln party who have been heard from reject the Republican nominees and are in favor of an open fight to a finish. Fusion with the Democrats is suggested, but it is not yet apparent whether it is practicable. At all events Pennsylvania seems to be facing a political campaign of uncommon bitterness.

"With fiery serpents circling through the cool night air," begins one of the paragraphs of Mr. Peyton Clarke's description of the coming street pageant. "Cool night air" sounds good, and it is to be hoped that Mr. Clarke will see to it that the pageant conforms to his description.

The Neill-Reynolds' report on the beef packing industry comes as seasonable literature. People eat too much meat in hot weather.

BUYING ARMS

While Talking Joyfully of Peace.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH MAKES ADDRESS.

GIVES CREDIT TO PRESIDENT FOR MEDIATION.

NEW WARSHIPS FOR AUSTRIA.

Vienna, June 10.—Emperor Frances Joseph to-day received the members of the Austrian and Hungarian delegations in formal audience at the Hofburg. Replying to the addresses of the presidents of the delegations, the Emperor, in a speech, thanked them for their loyal devotion. The foreign relations of Austria and Hungary, he declared, were entirely friendly. After an expression of deep indignation at the attempted assassination of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, the Emperor continued:

"Our alliance with Germany proves itself to be now, as hitherto, by virtue of its defensive and conservative character, a valuable guarantee for peace. By the visit Emperor William paid me a few days ago, our intimate and friendly relations again were placed on record and marked by the same feelings of trust as our relations with our other ally, Italy, with which we find ourselves in gratifying accord on matters affecting us in common."

Referring to Russia and the Balkans, he said that although the situation in the Balkans showed many defects, it was undeniably improved, and that above all it had been found possible to avert more serious complications. He expressed satisfaction that peace had been declared by Russia and Japan, "Thanks to the unselfish mediation of President Roosevelt," and for the settlement at Algeciras, of the difficulty between Germany and France over Morocco, "to which our mediatory action contributed not the least part."

"As in the past," the Emperor continued, "the preservation of the peace in Europe and above all in the Monarchies, will in the future continue to be the dominant idea of our foreign policy in dealing with international affairs."

Emperor Francis Joseph announced that credits would be submitted for the purchase of arms and war material, and for the more speedy construction of warships and armament. He also said that the newly completed railway connecting Sarayevo with the Turkish frontiers would be opened July 1.

RUSSIA HAS TROUBLES.

Suspension of Death Sentence Announced, But Men Still Hang.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—In spite of the official denial, belief that the retirement of the Goremykin ministry is near at hand was reasserted to-day by the Rech, the Constitutional Democratic organ, which apparently is looking forward hopefully to the installation of a Cabinet more in harmony with the lower house of Parliament. This hope apparently springs from the belief that the ministry is apt to go to smash through internal dissensions over the agrarian programme of Minister of Agriculture Stichinsky, concerning which there has been much gossip lately. Members of the Cabinet, however, assert that serious discord has not manifested itself.

The project of M. Stichinsky has not yet been submitted to the ministry in toto and preliminary discussion of it revealed no strongly adverse criticism to it.

The Liberal organs also give credit to a report that the Emperor, in deference to the sentiment of the lower house of Parliament, has decided to suspend executions pending the enactment of a law abolishing them, but the rumor finds answer in the dispatches from Warsaw, where one man was hanged Saturday for an attack on a policeman and four have been condemned to death for sacking the township treasury; and from Riga, where a court-martial of thirty-six members of the fighting band of revolutionists has condemned to death seven men, among them the leader, known throughout the whole of the Baltic provinces as "Napoleon," and twenty to imprisonment from three to fifteen years.

A preliminary interpellation regarding the Riga court-martial already has been presented to the lower house of Parliament, as a verdict of guilty was anticipated and it was not desired to give the military officers time to execute the sentences before the interpellation reached them through the regular channels, as happened at a previous execution of eight persons at Riga.

The elections in the Caucasus are everywhere going in favor of the Social Democrats. On account of the strike of sailors on the Black sea five electors at Sukhum were compelled to appeal to the Government for a torpedo boat to convey them to the Batum Electoral Assembly.

The agrarian disorders are steadily spreading in widely separated localities and the Government, though it boasted of its ability to prevent disturbances this year, is unable to cope with them.

BREAK MORE WINDOWS.

Socialists Mob Ministry Building.

Vienna, June 10.—Three thousand Christian Socialists, after meeting in the city hall this afternoon, made a demonstration against the Hungarian Ministry building, where the Hungarian delegation was sitting, breaking the windows. The police had difficulty in dispersing the demonstrators.

Baron von Beck, the Austrian Premier, immediately called Dr. Wekerle, the Hungarian Premier, and Francis Kossuth and expressed his deep regret at the demonstration, adding that he had ordered a searching investigation of the affair to be made with a view to punishing those guilty of participation in it, and the prevention of a repetition of the occurence. Baron von Beck requested Dr. Wekerle to communicate his statement to the members of the Hungarian delegation. Baron Richard von Bienerth, Minister of the Interior, made a similar apology.

The rebels were defeated, 350 of them being killed, including the important chief, Mehtokazulu. The Natalians lost Capt. McFarlane, of the Transvaal Rifles, and Lieut. Marsden killed, and several troopers wounded. It is reported that Chief Bambaata was wounded in the fight. The rebels fled demoralized.

CABINET PROPOSES PLANS.

Will Present Them to Chamber of Deputies To-day.

Paris, June 10.—At the Elysee Palace to-day the Cabinet definitely drew up a statement of the Government's plans for presentation to the Chamber of Deputies to-morrow. It indicates the necessity for making up deficits in the budget, and for that purpose will ask for supplementary taxation; announces the presentation of an income tax bill, affecting particularly incomes from capital, and the intention of hastening a bill in the Senate for workmen's pensions. The statement also announces that bills will be introduced for a general amnesty and for reform in courts-martial, and that the Government refuses to recognize the right of State employes to strike.

Several Attempts on His Life—Last Succeeded.

Bielostok, Russia, June 10.—Chief of Police Derkatchoff, against whose life several attempts had been made, was shot and killed by unknown persons while out driving. FINAL SERVICES.

DEDICATION OF THE MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH.

Building Cost $20,000, All of Which Has Been Paid But $3,000.

The sermon of the Rev. D. P. Montgomery last night marked the close of the programme incident to the dedication of Immanuel Baptist church, at Clay and Oak streets. The dedicatory sermon was delivered yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Jones. The church was tastily decorated and filled to its utmost capacity. Dedication services began June 3, and exercises were held each day and evening of last week except Saturday. The Rev. Thomas J. Watts is pastor of the church.

The programme, as carried out yesterday afternoon, was a pleasing one. The Rev. D. P. Montgomery delivered the invocation. This was followed by a hymn in which the entire congregation took part. The Rev. L. E. Thompson read a portion of Scripture, after which the Rev. Dr. T. T. Eaton offered prayer. Miss Willetta Epperson sang a solo, and this was followed by the discourse of the Rev. Dr. Carter Helm Jones.

Following Dr. Jones' sermon, the Rev. J. M. Weaver prayed. The congregation joined in the singing of a hymn, after which Dr. F. M. Petty delivered the benediction. The Rev. S. E. Ewing preached the morning sermon in the new church.

The old place of worship was on Logan street, between St. Catherine and Kentucky. Work on the new structure was begun about six months ago. It is a handsome edifice, and cost $20,000. Only $3,000 of this amount remains unpaid, and a third of the latter sum was donated by popular subscription yesterday.

MEXICO TO JOIN IN MEAT REFORMS.

Finds That Badly Starved Cattle Are Being Killed.

Mexico City, June 10.—Gov. Landa, of the Federal district; Dr. Liceaga, president of the Superior Board of Health, and other officials have been inspecting the methods of slaughtering animals for the supply of the city market. They will, as a result of their personal inspection, institute much needed reform.

Cattle, it is stated, are coming here from distant points, often by rail from Chihuahua, a four days' journey by freight trains, without being fed and are killed when in that condition. Sometimes, it is alleged, even five days elapse before the animals are fed and are then killed.

ENEMIES

Will Insist On Report On Statehood Bill.

TO BE CHIEF BUSINESS IN SENATE THIS WEEK.

MAJORITY REPORT ON SMOOT CASE TO BE SUBMITTED.

CANAL BILL ALSO TO FRONT.

The conference report on the Statehood Bill will be taken up in the United States Senate on Tuesday, and much interest is felt in the subject. The report will probably be called up by Senator Beveridge, in charge of the report, but Senator Foraker has given notice that if the friends of the report do not move in that direction, he will do so. No opposition to consideration is anticipated, but there is a prospect of animated discussion of the report on its merits, and undoubtedly, considerable time will be required for the determination of the question. Senator Foraker will lead a fight to prevent agreeing to the committee's report.

The business of the week will begin Monday, with the presentation of the majority reports of the Committee on Privileges and Elections on the case of Senator Smoot, but the further consideration of that measure will be deferred for a time, and the Senate will continue the consideration of the appropriation bills. Only one of these, the Diplomatic Appropriation Bill, is now ready for consideration. It will be taken up Monday and as soon as other supply bills are ready, they will be placed before the Senate.

* * *

Sea-Level Bill Up.

The Panama Sea-level Canal Bill also will be discussed further during the week, as opportunity offers, and it will be pressed to a vote as speedily as possible. It is not expected that the conference report on the Railroad Rate Bill will reach the Senate in time for further discussion during the week.

There are many subjects of important legislation crowding for consideration in the House of Representatives this week. The Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill still has the right of way, and if uninterrupted, will be passed by Thursday. The district of Columbia has the right to Monday under the rules, but efforts are being made to sidetrack this order in favor of the Civil Bill.

As efforts to have the Senate change its motion respecting the Railroad Rate Bill have failed, and this measure will have to be considered in the House before a second conference can be had, it is planned to make this the first business Monday. Just how far the discussion will go and whether a special rule limiting debate will be brought in, are details which have not yet been determined. The fact that the privilege is required to consider this, the first report of the conferees, which, in effect, has been rejected by the Senate, will reverse the order of considering on the second report of the conferees, giving it to the House first and to the Senate last.

* * *

Special Privilege.

The Omnibus Public Building Bill, carrying authorizations for public buildings aggregating more than $20,000,000, is to be brought in and passed under a special rule as soon as the Sundry Civil Bill has been sent to the Senate.

The Pure Food Bill will be brought forward as the next subject of consideration, to be laid aside for the taking up of conference reports.

One of the early actions of the week will be the consideration of the Agricultural Bill, with its worrisome meat inspection amendment. The plan is to get this bill into conference at the earliest possible moment. Members of the Agricultural Committee have become impressed with the necessity for haste in any action to be taken. Continued and increasing injury to the live stock interests has been set forth to the committee with evident effect. The committee will take up the Beveridge amendment Monday, and if possible bring in a report to the House on that or on the next day. A motion will be made to disagree to all of the Senate amendments, including the beef inspection provision, and ask the Senate for a conference.

GREAT TERMINALS FOR VERA CRUZ.

Mexico City, June 10.—Work will soon begin on the new railroad terminals at Vera Cruz, which will be the finest terminals in the country and make transfer of goods and passengers from streamers to railways and vice versa easy and economical. The cost of the terminals is estimated at $6,000,000 gold.

A large customhouse will be built on the railway pier with tracks connecting with the railway yards. The new terminals wil be used by four railways.

NEW ZEALAND'S PRIME MINISTER DIES SUDDENLY.

Sydney, N. S. W., June 10.—Richard John Seddon, Prime Minister of New Zealand, died from heart failure this evening aboard the steamer Owesley Grange, on which he had embarked this morning to return to New Zealand. The steamer put back into Sydney. Mr. Seddon was sixty-one years of age. Mr. Seddon's death was totally unexpected. He had been in Australia since the middle of May. When he sailed this morning he appeared to be in his customary health.

Tucker—Mason.

Lexington, Va., June 10.—[Special.]—The most brilliant marriage of the season was solemnized yesterday evening at 7 o'clock at the beautiful Lexington home of the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition Company, when his eldest daughter, Miss Rosa Johnston Tucker, was wedded to Mr. Silas M. Mason, of Frankfort, Ky. The ceremony took place on the spacious lawn beneath the stately trees of the magnificent suburban home of Mr. Tucker. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Thomas Tucker, D. D., rector of the Protestant Episcopal church at Bedford City, a cousin of the bride. The bride is a member of the exclusive social set of Lexington, and was well known in Washington, where Mr. Tucker for years represented the Tenth Virginia district in Congress. She is a granddaughter of the late John Randolph Tucker and great-granddaughter of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

With the weather as though made especially for a day of outing, thousands of persons visited Fontaine Ferry Park yesterday afternoon and evening. The band concerts by Erlinger's splendid band, with Beatrice Fisher, who has a beautiful soprano voice, the vaudeville performances and all of the out-of-doors devices serve always to provide generous entertainment at compensation for liberal patronage. But there was an added attraction of importance yesterday in addition to the numerous other entertainment features. This feature was the trained wild animal act of Madame Vellta. She has a lion, four leopards and a mountain lion, all of which she shows in tricks on a raised platform protected by iron bars. The act is free and is most sensational and effective. The trainer has the animals under fine control, and she exhibits a fondness for them, rather than any fear.

The vaudeville bill this week contains several acts well up to the usual high standard. Martini and Max Millian, who are styled "Two Comical Tricksters and Extraordinary Illusionists," have an act with a great deal of novelty to it. It is entertaining from a comedy viewpoint.

One of the best acts of the bill is furnished by the Rosaires, who are tight and slack-wire performers. In addition to being entertaining on account of the cleverness of the performers, it is also more attractive on account of the novel and picturesque staging. J. Edward Pierce and Marie Roslyn, who are well and favorably known here, are on this week's bill. They are singers of a great deal more than ordinary ability, and they make their act more entertaining on account of the handsome costuming.

Allen Shaw does a specialty in which he manipulates coins and cards. The greater part of his palming is well done. Bonnie Gaylord, "The Girl from Posey County," does a singing character sketch which allows her to make a quick and effective change. The moving pictures are good, as usual.

ON THE FUNNY BONE.

Sound Sense.

There was a merchant in our town
And he was wondrous wise.
He swore with a portentous frown
That he'd not advertise
On walls or rocks in prose or rhyme.
This merchant said, said he:
"I'll use the papers all the time—
They're good enough for me."

"I tell 'em we think it inadvisable to employ extraordinarily beautiful girls."

"Oh, yes," answered Gladys. "Some married women and quite a few grass widows and old maids."

"Yes," admitted the pampered society beauty. "I love him."

"And live in a four-room flat?"

"It is true."

"Do you not at times feel apprehensions?"

"Yes; I must confess I do. I sometimes feel quite worried as to where we are going to put our butler and my three maids."

"Why use those fanciful expressions?" interrupted Wiggins.

"I mean it literally. It was Pittsburg air."

THE LITERARY HORRORS CLUB.

[Wallace Irwin, in the June Bookman.]

'Twas in a literary fog
Beside an inky wave,
Some rather handsome skeletons
Were waltzing on a grave,
A very pretty lynching, too,
Gave zest to the affair,
When Jack o' London, stalking in,
Cried thrice, "Ahoy, Sinclair!"

Then Upton came from Packingtown
As gay as one can be
Whose progress is accompanied
By Reverend Thomas D.,
The latter striking attitudes
And braying at the moon
While flourishing a manuscript
Entitled "Coon, Coon, Coon!"

"Enough, enough! suppress the stuff,"
Quoth Upton of Sinclair,
"I would a bitter tale unfold
Of Sausage and Despair.
My hero is a foreigner,
A stranger yet to soap,
His name is Bzzzisqtyozistnob,
(Pronounced Bzzuzzixstnope.)

Up popped a stranger weird and wan
Whose chin required a shave.
He tore three handfuls from his beard
And writhed upon a grave.
"Alas! she was a cannibal!"
He moaned as if in pain.
Then all the Club arose and cried,
"Good evening, Mr. Caine!"

NEW CANDIDATE ENTERS CONGRESSIONAL RACE.

J. G. Forrester Makes Sixth in Eleventh District Republican Fight.

Mayking, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—J. G. Forrester, a leading mountain attorney of Harlan county, has announced his candidacy for Congress from the Eleventh district, making the sixth man in the field. Taken all in all, the fight in the Eleventh will be a bitter one, though the Edwards forces seem to be organized and confident of victory. Mr. Forrester has many friends throughout the district who will rally to his support. From Pineville comes the report that C. W. Metcalfe shortly will announce, making the seventh entry.

NO ONE HAD TO SUFFER

Drinks Sold At Some Parks and Hotels.

Side and Back Doors Swing Freely.

Increase In Attendance At Church.

LITTLE WORK FOR 'PHONES.

No one who needed a drink badly yesterday had to go unsatisfied. Drinks were served at at least one of the parks, the hotels served drinks, some with and some without meals, and at a number of the saloons the back and side doors swung freely.

At none of the saloons were drinks sold openly, however, and the police made no reports of infractions of the law.

That drinks were sold was not apparent on the streets, however. No arrests were made after daybreak. About a dozen were locked up after midnight on the charge of being drunk, but the police say they were storing up a "jag" against the day of drouth.

In the business part of Louisville people wandered aimlessly about and seemed to accept with resignation the new condition of things. Not one case was reported where anyone had died of thirst, although it was a fact that more water was consumed yesterday than ever before in one day in Louisville. The novel diet had no ill effects, and the good effects were noticeable in many different ways.

Probably foremost among these was an observation made by D. L. Knight, himself a colored man, the proprietor of a transfer, and probably the largest employer of negro labor in Louisville. He said yesterday:

* * *

Pleased With Sunday Closing.

"I for one am highly pleased with the effects of Sunday closing in Louisville. From the first Sunday that the saloons were closed I have been benefited. As a usual thing I am unable to get enough men to report Monday morning to take out all of my wagons. We generally have reports of headaches on Monday morning and consequently our work is greatly disorganized, but since the Sunday closing order has become effective I have had a full force of men every day.

"Last Monday one of my men who to my positive knowledge has never worked on Monday for twenty years appeared for his team and he wore a bright, cheerful smile that was unusual. During the day he happened to pull out his pocketbook and he showed me a greenback, remarking at the same time that it was the first Monday in years that he had had anything left to show for his previous week's wages."

Another place where the effects of the Sunday-closing of saloons was noticeable was at the operating rooms of the two telephone companies. At one of these places the chief operator was asked if the closing of the saloons on Sunday was noticeable, and she replied:

"There has been a falling off of at least one-half in the number of calls handled on Sunday. We generally work a force of forty girls on Sunday, and to-day we have only twenty-five, and not half of them are busy all the time. When the saloons were open on Sunday we were worked almost as hard as we are at any time through the week, but now we have scarcely anything to do. Our force probably will be further reduced by next Sunday."

* * *

Increase in Church Attendance.

Although the idea hardly seems consistent, ministers of several churches said yesterday that the attendance at the Sunday services has increased in a marked degree since Sunday saloon-closing has obtained. This one minister accounted for by saying that many saloonkeepers who ordinarily attended to their business on Sunday, but who, nevertheless, enjoy hearing sermons, take a real pleasure in going to church, and they have availed themselves of the opportunity. Added to this, the minister said, are scores of men who spend their time on Sunday about saloons who now attend church services because there is no other place for them to go.

The same minister, in expressing his opinion regarding the Sunday closing movement, said:

"Every minister in Louisville is proud of the progress that has been made in this direction. We are especially proud because the fact can be pointed out that the whole movement has been conducted by the Democrats. A Democratic Governor took the initiative, a Democratic Mayor and Board of Public Safety promulgated the orders, and a population largely Democratic has abided by the new order of things in a way that certainly is creditable to the party, the city and the state of Kentucky. We believe that the citizens of Louisville as a whole are in sympathy with the movement, and that all classes of men will realize soon, if they do not already, that Sunday closing is to be desired, no matter from what viewpoint the observer looks. We have no doubt as to the permanency of the movement, and we believe that every person connected with the city government whose duty entails upon him a part of the execution of the Sunday-closing order will continue to do the right thing."

* * *

Better for Home.

Another minister, in commenting upon the moral effects to be obtained by the closing of saloons on Sunday, said:

"From the viewpoint of the home, there can be nothing but good come from keeping the saloons closed on Sunday. When men who work hard for six days of the week cannot find saloons to go to on Sunday, where they can spend their week's earnings in debauchery, there is bound to be an increase in the happiness of these men's homes.

"It means that this class of men will stay at home on Sunday, spend a quiet day with their families, or go to church once or twice, and thus become more intimately acquainted with the needs and desires of those who are dependent upon them. This experience is bound to awaken the conscience and better side of any man, and with a few more Sundays like we have had in the last three weeks, I predict that there will be perceptible improvements in the morals of the middle class in Louisville."

Business men in various lines of trade hold the same view. One man said yesterday that while as yet no particular increase in business could be traced directly to the Sunday closing of saloons, he felt positive that a little longer experience would show that men who had wasted their wages by carousing about saloons on Sundays would divert this money to the more respectable avenues of trade, where dependent families would derive a direct benefit.

cases with which he had ever been associated. When he first attended the lad he found a wound in the center of the forehead, around which the flesh had swollen perceptibly. There were discolorations of the surrounding flesh which he thought might have been caused by powder burns, but could not be sure in the artificial light. He, together with the boy's parents, accepted the theory that the lad had slipped and fallen and in doing so had struck his head on some sharp projection.

The boy's condition made an operation necessary and he was removed to the infirmary, where Dr. Koontz trephined the skull and found that it had been punctured with force enough to drive a splinter of bone into the brain. A great clot of blood was found on the front lobe of the brain and the brain tissue itself was found to have been lacerated. It was during the operation that Dr. Koontz concluded the perforations had been caused by a bullet, and he told Mr. Bledsoe, who was present, of the result of his investigation. Mr. Bledsoe refused to believe that his son had been shot and was unwilling at first to have the surgeon probe for the bullet.

Eighteen hours after the operation the boy died and a post-mortem examination of the skull disclosed a twenty-two caliber bullet lodged in the brain tissue near the rear portion of the skull. It had entered between the eyes and traveled along the medial line of the skull. The bullet was slightly flattened at the end.

* * *

Fired at Close Range.

"The weapon which discharged the bullet must have been fired within an inch or two of the boy's head," Dr. Koontz said yesterday. "The forehead was burned by powder and I do not believe that the charge of powder in a twenty-two caliber pistol would have sufficient force to send a bullet such a distance through the skull and brain. The hole in the forehead was a clean one and was probably made by a rotating bullet, such as is fired from a rifled barrel. The bullet, I should think, would have to be fired from a firearm with a long barrel to carry force enough for the penetration in this case."

An examination of young Bledsoe's rifle disclosed that it was not of the rifled, but of the smooth-bore variety of barrel. The bullet taken from the boy's brain exactly fitted the rifle.

Think Suicide or Accident.

Detectives Harding and Armstrong made an investigation of the case yesterday afternon. Both of them stated last night that they were confident that Bledsoe was killed by a bullet from his own rifle, which was either discharged accidentally of with suicidal intent. They were inclined to the theory of accident, but Detective Harding believed that he had found a clue which the thought might develop the suicide theory. The rifle, they declared, showed evidences of having recently been discharged, and quite strongly suggested that concealments were being made by those immediately interested in Bledsoe's death. They did not state on what they based their conclusions, but intimated that if certain parties cared to tell what they knew about the matter, the exact circumstances of the death would be known. Detective Roth, in his investigations, asked if there was any reason for suicide—if the boy had been reprimanded while he was with his mother and father in the swing, but his father denied that there was any motive.

Bledsoe was an only child. He was idolized by his parents and their grief over his death is pitiful. They spoke of it yesterday with voices choking with emotion, and eyes filled with tears.

The boy was nearing his fifteenth birthday. He was a bright and winsome lad and a great favorite with the teachers and pupils at the Male High School, which he attended. He was of a retiring disposition, and did not make friends rapidly, in fact about the only companionship he sought was that of his father and mother. He seldom played with boys of his own age and spent a great deal of his time in study and helping Mr. Bledsoe with plans and specifications. His father said yesterday that the boy had drawn plans for a cottage which equaled those of any architect. During his term at the school he was in the roll of honor for the first five months, and then placed on the term roll of honor. In March, he was not in the best of health and his father took him from school, but he had been well and was in the best of spirits on the day of his death, his father said.

Dr. Harris Kelly, the Coroner, stated last night that he would not hold an inquest into Bledsoe's death until the police had made a report of their investigations.

The funeral will be held from the residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

CORONER'S INQUEST WILL BE HELD TO-DAY.

The Coroner's inquests in the L. and N. wreck, in which nine lives were lost, will be held this morning at 9 o'clock at the office of E. D. O'Connor, magistrate. Dr. Harris Kelley, the Coroner, will have a jury impaneled to inquire into the facts surrounding the disaster, and it is likely the jury will determine the responsibility. Dr. Kelly said last night that about twenty witnesses have been summoned to give testimony in the case.

DR. WILLIAM H. WATHEN RETURNS FROM BOSTON.

Dr. William H. Wathen returned yesterday from Boston, where he attended the meeting of the American Medical Association. Dr. Wathen was chosen orator on surgery for the next meeting of the association. This is quite a compliment from the fact that many of the most noted surgeons in the country have preceded Dr. Wathen in this particular honor.

EARNEST PLEA

For Higher Standard of Typical Kentuckians.

DR. J. S. LYONS SAYS STATE HAS SUFFERED FROM CARICATURE.

CLOSING OF SALOONS ON SUNDAY COMMENDED.

GOOD RESULTS EVIDENT.

"Every observer of public life recognizes that there are two kingdoms in this world antagonistic to each other," said the Rev. Dr. J. S. Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in his sermon delivered last night on "The Kingdom of God in Louisville."

The kingdom of satan is ever against the kingdom of God.

The kingdom of God is not a political organization, but its great principles seek to leaven all public as well as private and personal conduct. This kingdom is not a refined theory, but a programme for life. We may pray, "Let Thy kingdom come" in Africa or China, but we need to pray that it may also come in Louisville. It means that God's will shall be supreme; that His word shall furnish the standard of our manhood and womanhood.

Our fair city has long suffered from a moral caricature which has presented to the world a swash-buckler Colonel, with a mint julep and horse pistol, or bowie-knife as the Kentucky gentleman, and the good mothers and daughters of our State are used as our member of a trinity of "fair women, fast horses and fine whisky."

Let us show to the world during our great Home-coming that we scorn the further degradation of our Kentucky women by assosting them with the two agencies which have done more than any other to drown young men in perdition.

The typical Kentucky gentleman is not a drunken bully, nor is the typical Kentucky woman of the kind that all the world properly associates with horses and whisky.

Important Step in City.

A most important step has been taken in our city which serves to illustrate the power of the kingdom of God for good. Our Mayor and his governing boards have demanded that the chief feeders of violence and crime, the Sunday saloons, shall be closed. It has resulted in a day of order and soberness, with men going to their work on Monday morning with clear heads and with money in their pockets, instead of sleeping off the horrid effects of a Sunday debauch. It means thankful women and children who bless God for His kingdom which teaches man the need of a Sabbath day, and how to spend it.

Dr. Lyons began his sermon by the statement that most of us learned the sublime words, "Thy kingdom come," at our mother's knee.

They have given form to an idea which may be neglected in our conduct, but which cannot be stricken from our minds. They tell us of a kingdom whose Ruler is God. Our best thoughts, our noblest aspirations are always in the direction of that glorious ideal. The life, the moral condition in which God's will is supreme is the throbbing and central nerve of scripture.

The prophets and priests of the Old Testament days, and the apostles and preachers of the New Testament dispensation all told of the kingdom of God.

John Baptist's cry was, "Repent, for the kingdom of God is at hand." Jesus sent His disciples to preach that the kingdom was at hand. The days intervening between His resurrection and ascension are described by the author of Acts as being spent "in speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God."

And He has taught us ever to pray.

ON EVERY LIP.

Home-Coming With All Its Joy and Sadness.

In a sermon applicable to Home-coming Week, delivered yesterday morning at the Third English Lutheran church by the Rev. G. C. Cromer, he depicted in glowing terms the joys incident to Home-coming. The sermon, in part, follows:

The word on every lip is "Home-coming." Partly as a business scheme of advertising, yet I believe the social, moral and religious elements will dominate, and that the Kentucky Home-coming Week will be of great value to all the guests and hosts of our great State.

We are bound to be reminiscent. Hood's "I remember, I remember the house where I was born—the little window where the sun came peeping in at morn," Payne's "Home, Sweet Home," Wordsworth's "Old Oaken Bucket," Foster's "Old Kentucky Home" will stir many hearts this week by way of remembrance.

Old folks will go back again to the scenes of their childhood. Memories thus awakened will cause many a tear and many a smile.

I am well aware that Home-coming Week will bring something of sadness. But even then there will be in the harmony of fast recurring events of the past a tender note of sweet melancholy that will lead the soul closer to God.

As you go back to the home of your childhood you will miss many faces that once greeted you at the door or in the highway. Some have gone to their long home and like the mother of Sisera are looking down upon you from their palace window, though now you see them not. Father has been in glory most eight years. But mother still lives and as you mount the terrace that leads to the old Kentucky home all the wrinkles will fade away upon her countenance and her face will light up with a new joy as she welcomes you in her heart and home.

You will sometimes find the homestead in other hands, the orchard has been neglected, there are many cracks in the ceiling and walls of the house where you were born. Neighbors have moved away or gone to join the majority. New inventions take the place of time-honored customs which have thrown over your mind their strange enchantment. Brothers and sisters are scattered. Some of them have not written you for years because they are not satisfied with the final distribution of the estate or rather because you are more prosperous than they. May be you have wronged them. There are old sores and scars and wounds without a cause, there are broken trinkets and tresses of hair you have lost in the long ago. But I declare there are more joys than sorrows in Home-coming. Let us brighten the lives of our returning friends and relatives as they this week return to the land of their love where the "sun shines bright on their old Kentucky homes."

* * *

Childhood Haunts.

First is the joy of seeing childhood haunts. You remember the stream where you used to skate in the winter and build your water wheel in the summer. There is the smooth place in the back yard where you played marbles with the neighbors' boys. Yonder the grove where blackberries stained your lips and beechnuts filled your pockets. And the picnic ground, where the last day of school and the Sunday-school picnic party spread the white linen on the grass and yielded up the wholesome meats and toothsome delicacies.

The fishing pond, the ball ground, the swimming pool, the tangled woods, the old mill, the haunted house on the hill, the orchard and the garden all had their peculiar charms. Oh! troubled man! Oh! worried woman, forget your cares! Throw off the burdens of toil, sorrow and vexation and now go back to these scenes of your childhood. Think how your heart leaped with joy in the games and sports of youth before the sharp tooth of jealousy or the poisonous tongue of hatred ever embittered your soul. Let the rusty wheels of time turn backward to the joyous haunts of childhood covering up in the dust of years all that has grieved your soul.

Some of the sweetest memories of my childhood cluster about the haunts of pleasure sought out by an older brother on his holidays. All days were holidays to me then. But Edward worked hard on a neighboring farm. But he often came home. I was his pet. He was older and stronger than I. I thought he was the strongest person in the world. He was the best architect, for look at the kites and mills and playhouses he could build. There is the cornfield down whose long rows we plodded till a safe and secret distance was reached for touching off our firecrackers. He could climb any tree. No horse was too wild for him to ride. He could jump higher than anyone, swim further, run faster, do more tricks than anyone. The haunts of my childhood days were so connected with his companionship that I could not if I would separate them.

One of the joys of home coming is the memory of the haunts of childhood. As in time we are taken back to the innocency of childhood our souls will be purified. At Nazareth I saw where Christ played on the hillside, drank water from the fountain, worked at the carpenter's bench and worshipped in the synagogue. When, in after years, He came back to the home of His childhood in order to preach a gospel His relatives and one-time neighbors were unwilling to receive, He, no doubt, thought of the haunts of His early childhood and the innocency of Nazarene youth compared with the guilt of manhood and womanhood. The Bethlehem and Nazareth of Christ were the beginnings of His life of usefulness. His early haunts had their part in developing His great nature as the child "waxed" stronger in years.

So your early childhood in old Kentucky homes determined largely what you now are by way of usefulness or uselessness to your fellow-men. Let the past joys of childhood cheer your hearts. Let the gulelessness of youth lead you to a better life in Christ Jesus.

FORCEFUL SERMON

"The soul of man is the seat and source of his real blessedness or his real misery," said the Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Columbia, S. C., and brother of the Rev. Dr. Egbert Watson Smith, Pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Louisville, in the pulpit of his brother's church last night. He preached a powerful sermon on lessons from the life of Christ, magnifying the unspeakable superiority of spiritual and eternal things over those temporal and material. The spiritual and eternal, said he, are to be the chief concern of man. Dr. Smith is a forceful and effective speaker. He talks directly to his audience and addresses those before him frequently as "Hearers," or "My hearers." His sermon last night abounded in eloquent and picturesque passages. In speaking of how Christ turned the apparent failure of his life in his death on the cross into success, he alluded to the sadness of a life that has been a failure. "There is many a soul," he said, "where memory is mourning forever over the grave of hope."

ENGLAND ABANDONS ONE BIG BATTLESHIP.

Will Construct Only One of the Dreadnaught Class—To Save Ten Millions.

London, June 11.—The Daily Telegraph states that the Government has decided to abandon building one of the two warships of the Dreadnaught class, planned for the current year, thus effecting a saving of nearly $10,000,000 in shipbuilding. The appropriations for the navy next year also will be considerably reduced.

DEWEY, I. T., SUFFERS FROM SEVERE TORNADO.

One Killed, One Injured and $50,000 Damage Done.

Dewey, I. T., June 10.—A tornado here last night demolished several residences and wrecked 200 oil derricks, causing a loss of $50,000. In the destruction of the home of Charles Isheilman, Mrs. J. J. Knowles, of Los Angeles, Cal., was killed and her daughter, Mrs. Isheilman, was seriously injured.

MAY SOLVE MYSTERY OF BROWN MURDER.

New York, June 10.—Four Italians were arrested here to-day and remanded to the coroner until the story told by one of them, which tends to offer a solution of the mysterious murder of Mrs. Alice Kinnan, in the Bronx, Friday night, can be more thoroughly investigated. Mrs. Kinnan was called to the door of the home of her mother, Mrs. Stanton, with whom she had been living since a separation had been granted from her husband. No sooner had she opened the door than she was struck down by an unknown man.

To-day Carlo Marino, a saloonkeeper, told the police he knew something of the murder. Friday night, he said, he and Dominick Compolo, Theodore Skalla and Thomas Farina quarreled over a girl, who was one of the party. Marino declared Compolo threatened him with a bolt similar to that with which Mrs. Kinnon was killed.

DECISION IN PATRICK CASE EXPECTED TO-DAY.

New York, June 10.—Recorder Goff is expected to hand down his decision tomorrow in Albert T. Patrick's second application for a new trial which was made on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Patrick has prepared papers to be filed with the Supreme Court of the United States, to which an application for a writ of error and another for a writ of habeas corpus are said to be made if to-morrow's decision as to a new trial is adverse. The filing of such an application would act as a stay of proceedings so that the execution of Patrick, set for next Monday morning, would have to be postponed again.

BRAVE FOREMAN SAVES LIVES OF THIRTEEN MEN.

New York, June 10.—Following a blast of rock to-day, in one of the tubes of the battery tunnel, a "blow out" occurred which filled part of the bore with water and mud, and nearly engulfed thirteen workmen. The accident was in the south tube leading out from the Brooklyn side, about 500 feet from shore. The tunnel is to form the connecting link between the subway systems of Manhattan and Brooklyn. The coolness of a foreman saved the men. Armed with a pick handle, he stopped a panic among them and marched them safely into the air lock. He closed the doors to stop the flood and finally brought all his men to the surface.

KILLED BY TREE FALLING ON HER HEAD.

Newburg, N. Y., June 10.—Miss Ione M. Bunn, of West Union, Adams county, O., was killed here to-day during a storm by a falling tree. Mrs. J. W. Bunn, mother of the girl, was seriously hurt, and Hazel Coonan, aged fourteen, of Newburg, had her leg broken, and was hurt about the head. Miss Bunn, who was twenty-four years old and a graduate of Oxford College, Ohio, was in company with her father and mother. While walking along Grand street, a large tree was blown down by the gale and fell on her head.

How dear to our hearts are the jokes of our boyhood, when the minstrel performance presents them to view; the most-covered, ironribbed gags that great joy would to our fore-fathers bring their duty still do. Although possessing none of the antediluvian attributes of some of those antiquated jokes, Wintersmith's Taste has been known for years as a remedy for malaria. At all drug stores.

LATONIA, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—Racing at fair Latonia during the past six days has suffered to no mean extent from the fact that several of the richest fixtures of the meeting will be decided during the present week, the principal one of which will be the running of the Queen City Handicap, which is over the mile and one furlong route, and for which the management has hung up the magnificent plum of $12,500.

The winner's portion of this will be $10,000, the horse lucky enough to be second will have hung about his neck $2,000, while $500 is the munificent sum to be allotted as the "peep" end of the purse.

On the face of this, and in view of the size of the purse, it is hardly any wonder that the stake drew ninety-four nominations, which represent the pick of the thoroughbreds now in training in the West as well as a liberal representation of the high-class campaigners now sporting silk in the great classics at the Metropolitan tracks of the East.

Outside of the World's Fair Handicap this is the biggest purse hung up in the West for years, and was created this season with the idea in view of advertising the Milldale course and attracting from the rival organization, the Western Jockey Club, the pick of thoroughbreds racing under that banner. Whether they have been successful or not remains to be seen and is entirely another question. Of the ninety-four nominated sixty-four of these are now quartered at the track and in training, so that there are good prospects of a large field facing Starter Holtman next Saturday afternoon.

The withholding of the announcement of the weights which the several candidates to sport silk on this occasion will be expected to carry until three days prior to the race has had the effect of decidedly operating against the handicap division, inasmuch as the owners prefer to have their charges remain in the stable and refuse to accept in the overnight handicaps until they have had a peep at the burden their candidates are expected to pick up should they decide to start in the Queen City.

The board of handicappers, which consists of Lyman Davis, Judge Joseph Murphy and W. O. Parmer, are hard at work on the weights, the publishing of which is being eagerly looked forward to by horsemen, form students and critics alike, and which will be made known and published next Wednesday afternoon.

The way it looks at the present time the three-year-olds will carry the top weights of those who will start. In this brigade Sir Huon, the grand son of Ignite—Falsetto, and a two-time Derby winner, and King's Daughter, Tom McDowell's grand filly, seem to stand away out from the balance of the nags of their age. Minnie Adams, also a two-time Derby winner, which displayed such prenomenal speed in her recent races at the Woodbine track, Toronto, Canada, to say nothing of the most admirable way in which she effectually smothered her fields with speed at New Orleans and Nashville, must not be passed over lightly. In her last couple of starts at the Kenilworth track at Buffalo she was defeated by horses that were generally admitted to be her inferior both in speed and class.

The one inference then regarding the Cook candidate must necessarily be that this great filly has trained off. However, Trainer Collins, who has charge of her and the balance of that division of Fred Cook's string, asserts positively that he will have Minnie Adams fit as a fiddle next Saturday and that she will positively start in the great race.

On paper, and until the weights are announced, a close critic is forced to admit that the Queen City seems to narrow itself down to where it will be a battle royal for that $10,000 plum between George J. Long's good colt Sir Huon and Tom McDowell's speedy miss, King's Daughter.

A good line on the performance of these two is obtained by their respective races against Lady Navarre, who is just a shade from being in their class. King's Daughter was not as far away at the end when she defeated the Ellison filly as was Sir Huon, when he measured strides with Lady Navarre in the recent Latonia Derby. Stories of dark horses and phenomenal trials are found a plenty amongst the morning railbirds, but as performances count these do not receive much consideration, but it must be said, in justice to the management who have formulated the race and the horsemen who have so liberally nominated their charges, that the coming race has been productive of more interest and enthusiasm than any fixture to be contested for at the Milldale course since the inauguration of racing.

Other candidates than those mentioned above which are carded as probable starters in the big race are Coruscate, McIlvain, Lady Savoy, John Carroll, Woodson, Envoy, Princess Orna, Miltiades, Kercheval, White Plume, Dutch Barbara, Alma Dufour, Orly II., Dr. Gardner, Debar, The Clansman and Gus Heidorn.

There is also a rumor to the effect that The Picket will be shipped here for this event and also that Sam Hildreth may send one of his, either Guiding Star or Rapid Water, should they be treated leniently by the board of handicappers, according to that astute trainer's idea. Floral King, which is some pumpkins and about which there has been considerable talk of late, is a very doubtful starter. It isn't the question of the size of the field which will face the starter on Saturday in this event that is agitating the minds of Secretary Dillon and Handicapper Lyman Davis, but will the size of the track accommodate all those desirous of trying for the long end of the purse.

The Harold Stakes is another fixture for two-year-old colts which will be decided Tuesday. This stake drew 138 nominations, and with a dozen starters will be worth $2,280 net to the winner. All of the best colts in the West, including such highly tried youngsters as William Gerst's unbeaten son of First Mate—Emerald, Zal; Warner Griswold, Fair Fagot, Jay Swift, Harold D., Tom Dolan, Overlando, Boxara, Lexoline, Billy Vertrees, Beau Brummel, Timothy Wren, Pink Star and Holdfast. The latter is C. L. Railey's $25,000 prize beauty. The Alloway—Squeeze colt has been working great guns of late and, being somewhat of a growthy colt, seems to be the one the classy lot which is sure to face the starter in this event will have to beat, and a rattling good contest is bound to characterize the contest.

The rough-riding brigade has been much in evidence, and with this, coupled with the sharpness of the turns, it is little more than a miracle how several fatalities have been escaped thus far. Every time a race is started in front of the stand the scramble which ensues for positions going to the first turn reminds one of the charge of the light brigade. Several nasty spills have as a consequence occurred, and the eagle eye of Judge Price, who is ever alert, has rested on some of the offenders, and swift justice has been meted out.

SPEARMINT ALSO WINS GRAND PRIX.

PARIS, June 10.—The Grand Prix de Paris, for a purse $40,000 and sweepstakes, for three-year-old colts and fillies, at one mile and seven furlongs, was won to-day by Maj. Eustace Loder's English-bred bay colt Spearmint, who won the Derby on May 30. Jean Joubert's bay colt, Brisecoeur, was second, and R. DeMonbel's bay colt, Storm, third.

Spearmint won by half a length. Thirteen horses started. The greatest interest was taken in the meeting of Spearmint and W. K. Vanderbilt's Maintenon, the winner of the French Derby. Spearmint ruled favorite in the betting and easily accounted for Maintenon, who ran unplaced. It was said after the race that the hardness of the track affected Maintenon.

The Long Champs course was a brilliant spectacle. The delightful weather drew an enormous gathering to the track, among those present being President and Mme. Fallieres and the foreign Ambassadors. The public inclosures were packed. The event marks the virtual end of the Paris season.

HOOSIER ATHLETES GET INTO A CLASH

Purdue Cancels Annual Football Game With Indiana University.

ANOTHER football sensation has broken out in the "big nine," this time involving Indiana and Purdue Universities, for years rivals for the gridiron honors of the Hoosier State. The Purdue athletic officials have notified Indiaan authorities that they are "quits" with each other, and the two schools probably will not renew athletic relations again, says the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Jimmie" Sheldon, Indiana's athletic director, announced the fact yesterday, following a letter received Friday from Lafayette. The Purdue authorities did not vouchsafe any information as to their move, further than that "the rivalry between the schools was too great."

The students and alumni of the Hoosier institutions are now at swords' points over the affair. The Indiana adherents claim that Purdue is "playing safe" because the boiler-makers will not have a team of respectable proportions next fall. The affair corresponds on the surface, at least, with the Chicago-Michigan situation.

Indiana and Purdue tied for the Indiana championship last fall, and relations have been somewhat strained ever since. A Purdue-Indiana game has been arranged as the final contest of the season, to be played at Lafayett.e

The State University has already arranged a game with Wisconsin, to be played either at Milwaukee or Bloomington, and Coach Sheldon has a tentative date with Chicago, to be played at Marshall Field as the opening game of the Western season. The Indiana team will be intact this fall, while Purdue will have but three old men, because of the disqualification and graduation of most of the team.

"I do not see any way out of the situation now," said Coach Sheldon yesterday. "Matters may possibly be arranged, however."

COLONELS WIN ANOTHER GAME

ALMOST SCORES A SHUTOUT.

PRESIDENT O'BRIEN HERE.

BILLY WOLFE, the twirler secured from the Washington Club, of the American League, made his first appearance at the slab in a Louisville uniform yesterday afternoon, and if he continues to pitch as he did yesterday, the Colonels still have a good chance to land the pennant.

For seven innings of the game Wolfe held the Minneapolis Millers down to two hits and no scores at all, but in the eighth, after two were out, Genninger hit a lucky two-bagger to right field, which brought Davis and Hart across the plate and spoiled the whitewash plan which Wolfe had arranged.

The crowd was with Wolfe to a man from the minute he stepped to the plate until the finish and many a groan was heard when the Millers scored. Wolfe had everything a good pitcher should have, but most of all he used headwork and fine judgment, though most of the players who faced him were new to him. He had not pitched a game of ball for some time, and his performance yesterday was surprising, especially his control. Besides holding the visiting batsmen down to five hits, Wolfe laced out a pretty single. The Louisville Club is sorely in need of pitchers at present on account of the illness of Elliott and Dunkle, and Wolfe is certainly a welcome addition to the staff, as his presence means more victories.

The score of yesterday's game was 8 to 3 in favor of the Colonels, but the locals outclassed the visitors by a greater margin than the score indicates. As a matter of fact, Tebeau's men played championship ball from first to last, and it was a treat to see them work. They secured an early lead in the first and third innings by bunching hits off Thomas, coupled with some base running, which for daring has not been equaled here this year. After these two innings, with Wolfe holding the visitors as tight as a drum, the result was a foregone conclusion.

There were two plays made in yesterday's game which brought the spectators to their feet. The first of these occurred in the third inning, when Shaw hit a "Texas Leaguer" over Oyler's head. Oyler and Hart both started after the ball, and then Oyler concluded Hart could get it and half stopped. Hart, however, was unable to reach the ball and Oyler, seeing this, made a wild jump for it and pulled it down. It was a circus catch for fair, and the crowd applauded for five minutes.

The other catch referred to was made by Center-fielder Stovall, of the Louisville Club, and while not so spectacular as the Oyler play, was a grand performance. This occurred in the seventh inning, when, with two out, Gehring hit a line drive between right and center. Both Kerwin and Stovall were after the ball at the crack of the bat, but from the stand it looked like neither could possibly reach it. The ball was labeled "home run," if ever a ball was so marked, but Stovall, running with his body low and arms extended, pulled down the drive just before it reached the ground. Stovall was accorded an ovation when he returned to the stand.

The game was well played throughout, especially by Louisville. Little Woodruff again led with the stick, drawing two singles and a triple out of four times up. The score:

NO SUNDAY BALL IN GREATER NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 10.—There were neither professional or semiprofessional baseball games played in Greater New York to-day. Police Commissioner Bingham issued instructions to his subordinates during the week that they should prevent the playing of all Sunday baseball games, where admission was charged either directly or by subterfuge. Last week the National League executive transferred several of the Brooklyn Club's games from the regular schedule to Sunday dates. This change arranged for a game between the Chicago and Brooklyn teams at Washington Park, Brooklyn, to-day, but this game was called off at a late hour last night.

PRESIDENT O'BRIEN TALKS.

Investigating Fight at Eclipse Park—All Association Clubs Drawing Well.

President J. D. O'Brien, of the American Association, arrived in the city yesterday from Milwaukee, coming here especially to investigate the trouble which occurred in the last game of the series between Louisville and St. Paul at Eclipse Park last week.

The league president announced that he had suspended Manager Dick Padden, of the St. Paul Club, for an indefinite period, but said that he had not had time to think the entire matter over and learn the true facts in the case to make any further decisions as yet. He will probably reach some decision regarding the matter to-day.

"From all reports I have received," said President O'Brien, "every town in the circuit is drawing larger crowds than they did up to this time last year. Especially is this true of Toledo and Kansas City, where first-division teams have aroused much interest. The race so far is a close one, with the first six teams looking to be about evenly matched. The Louisville team looks 50 per cent. stronger now than it did a month ago, and unless something unforeseen happens to the team it ought to be a prominent factor in the race."

President O'Brien left last night for Columbus, stopping over at Cincinnati on his way to the Ohio capital. He expects to go to Toledo and Indianapolis before returning to Milwaukee.

CHAT OF THE GAME.

MINNEAPOLIS was lucky to score yesterday.

A LUCKY hit by Greminger in the eighth robbed Wolfe of a shut-out.

RIGHT on the heels of the leaders now and a few more victories will put the Colonels on top.

"YOU can say for me," said Owner Tebeau last night, "that I believe our team will be in the lead before another week rolls around."

IF Wolfe's work yesterday is a good sample of what he is capable of doing, Owner Tebeau is to be congratulated upon securing this star twirler.

STOVALL made one of the greatest catches ever seen at Eclipse Park in the seventh inning yesterday, when by a fine run, he caught a line drive from Gehring's bat.

ALTHOUGH the Millers were weakened yesterday by the absence of Fox and Sullivan from the game, it is very doubtful if they could have beaten the Colonels even with these men playing.

GREMINGER'S two-bagger in the eighth inning yesterday was the result of Brashear running in to meet the ball, which got through his legs and went to centerfield. Two runs resulted.

REVIEWING the work of the Colonels since they returned home from Columbus the fans have a right to feel proud of the record they have made.

AMBROSE PUTTMANN, the big southpaw secured by the local club from St. Louis, will do the pitching to-day for the Colonels. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock, and the Colonels are anxious to win their seventh consecutive game.

NOT only did Wolfe pitch a fine game of ball yesterday, but he also proved that he is a good batsman by lacing out a pretty hit in the sixth inning.

DURING the first seven innings played the visitors secured only two hits off Wolfe's delivery. For that reason the fans were sorry to see the Millers escape a whitewashing.

OYLER made a star catch of Shaw's high fly, which looked as if it would surely fall safe, as Hart started after the ball, but could not reach it, when Oyler, by jumping, got the ball. The spectators applauded him until he was compelled to doff his cap.

LOCAL fans are beginning to relaize that the Colonels are playing at top speed these days, and are going to figure prominently in the race for the pennant this season.

DARING baserunning on the part of Sullivan and Woodruff in the third inning started the Colonels on to victory. Woodruff and Sullivan also batted in fine form, the former getting three corking hits.

NEW faces on a ball team is what the fans like to see, especially when they are as good men as Wolfe, Stovall and Puttmann, three of the recent additions to the Colonels.

ALTHOUGH Hallman was hurt badly in one of the games with St. Paul, he does not seem to mind the injury, but is playing as grand ball as ever.

MANAGER KELLEY, of the Minneapolis team, attributes the low standing of his club in the race to the fact that the Millers have not been able to present their full strength in a game this season. Fox got hurt in practice yesterday before the game, and will be out of it for some time.

EVERY one of the Louisville players in the game yesterday, excepting Shaw and Quinlan got at least one hit, and the latter more than offset this by grand work in the field.

WADDELL has won more shut-outs than any other American League twirler this season. He has won four.

PETE LOHMAN is now an inmate of an asylum. The former baseball magnate is said to be incurably insane.

WONDER how Muggsy McGraw feels. He had been prophesying what his Giants would do to the Colts on the Polo grounds.

PITCHER SHAW, of Oskaloosa, Ia., held the Burlingtons to two hits in a nineteen-inning struggle recently. This is a record.

VICTOR WILLIS was summoned to his home on account of the illness of his child. His absence will be sorely felt by the Pirates.

JIMMY COLLINS did not take his entire team on the Western trip. Pitchers Hughes and Glaze weer left behind.

HERMAN LONG, formerly of the Boston Nationals, has signed with the Omaha team, of the Western League, and will captain the team.

ED McKEAN, the once famous shortstop of the Cleveland team, has signed a contract with the Evansville team. He will cover second base.

McGUIRE, catcher of the New York Highlanders, is the oldest player in the major leagues. He has played in the big leagues for the past twenty-five years.

BECAUSE Kitty Brasfield has fallen off in his batting, Manager Duffy, of the Quakers, has decided that Courtney would be a better man at the initial sack, and has put the graceful Kitty on the bench. During Courtney's absence at third, young Santelle, the Italian, is covering the third sack.

JIMMY WILLIAMS has taken off so much weight since last year that he now is able to run very fast indeed.

AT last the doctor thinks he has discovered what's the matter with Ewing's lame pitching arm. It's not rheumatis, as Ewing supposed, but a strained nerve.

What proved to be the best and most interesting semi-professional game of the season took place in the presence of 2,000 people at Reccius Park yesterday afternoon in the game between the Nebraska Indians and the Reccius team. The local boys, as well as the visiting Indians, put up a class of ball that would have done credit to any league team. RAINEY SAYS HE IS NOT DISGUSTED

Declares He Has No Reason To Be Sore At Jockey Radtke Or Trainer May.

THERE was no foundation for the stories circulated yesterday to the effect that Paul Rainey had become disgusted with his high-priced Western jockey, Radtke and determined to sell his contract on the lad, says the New York Telegraph. Neither was there any basis for the report that the young Cleveland horseman had become dissatisfied with his costly two-year-old, De Mund. Mr. Rainey himself is authority for this announcement. The Cleveland horseman was at Belmont Park yesterday, and when he referred to the stories that had been circulated concerning him he spoke with some heat.

"I cannot understand," he said, "where this talk of my being dissatisfied with Radtke and May and De Mund originated It is as unfounded as are the stories published from day to day of my alleged betting operations. I am not a big bettor and I never was. Nor have I the slightest intention of becoming one. I do not buy and race horses for betting purposes, although I like as well as the next man to win a modest wager now and then. I have never been dissatisfied with Radtke and I have never been dissatisfied with May. Radtke is riding my horses to suit me, and as far as I know he is handling the horses of other owners satisfactorily. I have a big stable and I want a good rider. I do not believe there is a better jockey in the United States than Radtke. As for De Mund, I am very much satisfied with him. He is all I have ever believed him to be and I have not the slightest intention of selling him.

"De Mund's performance in the National Stallion Race was not as good as I hoped he might show, but I do not believe his failure was his fault. The colt has obviously had too much of it. He was in training back in the winter, and Newton Bennington had him ready for a first-class race early in the Aqueduct meeting. This work and racing has taken the edge off his speed and the flesh off his bones. He is too finely drawn to hold his own with fresher and more vigorous horses. I have, accordingly, made up my mind to put him by for a spell. He will pass all his immediate dates and May will get him ready for the Saratoga Special. If he recovers his form at Saratoga I shall be more than satisfied."

* * *

If, as Mr. Rainey and May believe, De Mund is as good a two-year-old as Yankee Consul was last season, there cannot be a doubt but that he will recover the brilliant form he displayed at Gravesend two months ago, when he worked half a mile in 46 seconds.

The careers of De Mund and Yankee Consul are not unlike. Yankee Consul it will be remembered, was bought by May out of the stable of Charlie Ellison at Memphis, for $27,000. Ellison, like Burlew, the man who broke De Mund, is a hard trainer on two-year-olds. He believes in getting them ready in winter and taking all the small stakes in the early spring he can. Yankee Consul was pretty well honed down when May fetched him to this part of the country, and when arrived, it was freely predicted by the self-sufficient Eastern experts that he was a gold brick and that Mr. Rainey would never get a first-class performance from him.

But what was the result? May stultified the wise Eastern critics before summer was half over. At Brighton Beach, in July, Yankee Consul showed that he was one of the fastest colts in the country, and in the fall, at Sheepshead Bay, he won the historic Flatbush Stakes without the least trouble from Tim Gaynor's Whimsical, when that accomplished daughter of Orlando was at the height of her powers. Burgomaster, the crack youngster of the stable of Harry Payne Whitney, was eligible for the Flatbush, and as his subsequent victory in the Great Eastern Handicap, demonstrated he was fit to run for a king's ransom. But he did not seek trouble with the Sempronious colt.

It may be that De Mund is not as rugged constitutionally as Yankee Consul was, but no person can say he is not with any degree of certainty. His form this spring, public and private, is quite as good as Yankee Consul's was last spring. And if there is any recuperative power in him Bub May will, before fall, have him back to the races in first-class form.

NEWSY CHAT OF BOXERS' CORNER

Abe Attell and Frankie Neil To Fight On Fourth of July.

TROUBLE AT LOS ANGELES

YANGER AND MORRISON.

THE wiping out of the town of Spokane, for the present at least as a boxing center, cannot be laid to the authorities, but to those directly interested in the game and came about as follows, says George Siler: Eddie Quinn, press agent and referee of the club which had been staging fights, had arranged a match between Billy, "Honey" Mellody and Dick Fitzpatrick, but having a grievance against John Mooney, Mellody's manager, he notified "Honey" to leave his manager at home. This, reports say, Mellody agreed to do, but instead he toted Mooney to Spokane, with the result that the dirty linen was taken out of the hamper, washed before the eyes of the public, and the odor from the suds was powerful enough to undermine the game.

Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles, is trying to eradicate the dark brown taste which the Nelson-Herrera fiasco left in the mouths of his patrons by announcing a match between Abe Attel and Frankie Neil, to take place on July 4. Also by announcing a match between the winner and Jem Bowker or Jimmy Walsh, of Boston. Attel and Neil, it will be remembered, were to have fought several days after the San Francisco disaster, and when Frankie came East McCarey brought Attel and "Kid" Herman together. The contest, according to Referee Eyton, was a draw, but the "Kid" claims he had the better of the argument and was entitled to the decision. It is strongly hinted that McCarey gets a piece of Attel's money, and if such is the case Neil will have to knock Abe out to get the money.

The game at Los Angeles may take a new lease of life when Jim Coffroth and Harry Corbett make a bid for patronage The pair of Frisco sports have been looking the situation over for some time and hope to overcome the obstacles which McCarey is placing in their road. Boxing contests at Los Angeles are limited to a certain location, of which McCarey has control, so the Frisco promoters may find it difficult to "cut in."

Strenuous efforts are being made to turn the pugilistic tide toward California and Eddie Graney stirred up monmentary interest during the week by sending out a report from Oakland he had carte blanche to match Batling Nelson against any lightweight in the country, and that he had selected Joe Gans for the "Battler's" opponent. The report died before it had gone the rounds.

While the promoters and the fighters in the East and the Far West are racking their brains seeking a location to do business, the Middle West scrappers are eking out a fair living at Davenport, La Salle, Peoria, Terre Haute, Indianapolis, Grand Rapids and Benton Harbor. The rakeoff is not big, but enough to buy cooling beverages when the thermometer is dallying around the 90 mark.

* * *

The next contest of interest will take place at Benton Harbor Friday night, and will be between Benny Yanger and Johnny Morrison, the pride of the Harbor. Morrison, who is a protege of Tommy Ryan, has been wonderfully successful during his short fistic term. It is loudly hinted that he has won a majority of his battles before he entered the ring, and that he has received a number of shady decisions. Those who know him best say he is a cracking good fighter, and that he is built for the business. In Yanger he will meet the toughest and best man in his career, so the contest will be interesting, from the Morrison end at least. Yanger has trained faithfully for the affair, knowing that a defeat, or even a draw, with the Michigander, will puncture his reputation. Benny says nothing but a victory by the knockout route will satisfy him.

* * *

The match of the season, if arranged, will be that between Yanger and Kid Herman. Benton Harbor, Davenport and Indianapolis want the fight, but the club offering the best inducements will get it. Yanger has been camping on Herman's trail ever since the Kid graduated into the first division of featherweights, but Nate Lewis, Herman's manager, kept his protege at Los Angeles, where the monetary returns were worth going after. After a successful campaign in California, Nate guided his boy East, with hopes of securing a match with the winner of the recent McGovern-Britt contest or any other first-class boy in his division.

Now, however, that the game is dead in the East, Lewis is willing to give Benny a chance in this vicinity, provided the monetary inducements are satisfactory. The fight, should it take place, will arouse more interest in the Middle West than has any fight in years. Both boys have a large following and have national reputations. Yanger outclassed Herman several years ago, but the latter, judging from his fights with Hanlon, Herrera and Attel, is now a championship factor.

The latest regarding Tommy Burns and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is that they have agreed to exchange wallops at Seattle, Wash., on July 4. They have been hurling challenges at each other ever since Burns defeated Marvin Hart, and for that reason the fistic public take no stock in their contemplated match. Burns is still working for his prospective battle with Fitzsimmons, which the Tuxedo Club hopes to pull off this week.

Word came from London that Jew Bowker, the champion bantamweight, who defeated Frankie Neil for the international title, was defeated by Jim Driscoll, the featherweight champion of Wales. The battle took place at the National Sporting Club of London, and its result was a huge surprise. Reports say Bowker was in poor condition and did not fight up to his standard. It was Jem's first defeat in his career, and his friends lost heavily.

Genuine Bourbon Whisky
For the Home-Comers.
Nothing will be so attractive and inviting to many of them as 15-year-old whisky, put up in cases and demijohns by W. H. Thomas & Son Company. We have commenced to-day to make preparations to pay the tax on several hundred barrels, putting same up in cases and demijohns, where shrinkage stops, and the whisky is preserved in all of its original purity. Citizens of this State agree with us that when our supply is exhausted no more 15 to 17-year-old Kentucky Bourbon can be had; and in order to have it on hand we are ready to make contracts to deliver same in 5 case lots and over at $12 per case or $4 per proof gallon, in bulk; closing such sales with negotiable paper at four, five and six months. Our stock consists of Boone's Knoll, Astor, Saffell, Walker, Nutwood, Old Mock, Ripy, Bond, Old Jordan, D. L. Moore and Mellwood.

HOW THE BRITISH WRITE BASEBALL.

Unique Story From the London Graphic of Game Played In England.

THERE was a different crowd to that which has cheered the Woolwich arsenal football eleven on its way through the league programme at Plumstead on Saturday; and it was a different game that it watched. When the "Gunners" step on to the field on Saturdays, propelling a football before them, a hoarse yell goes up; and hardly ever ceases except to alter its note all the afternoon; but when eight slim young gentlemen from the States (first) and from Oxford University (second) took up their position at the pavilion corner of a big diamond, chalked on the field, the spectators, mostly pavilion critics, welcomed them with sympathy rather than enthusiasm.

The eight Oxford-Americans, who were all credited with being Rhodes scholars, were followed on to the field by an umpire (who is, perhaps, the most important figure in baseball), by a man in armor, and a sinewy athlete, who was spoken of as the catcher. The duties of the pitcher were to hurl a missile a little larger and a little lighter than a cricket ball at any Rhodes scholar who stood on the plate at the home corner of the diamond; the man in armor caught the ball when the batsman missed it; and the umpire adjudicated over cases when it did not miss the batsman.

In such cases the batsman usually walked to first base, trying not to rub the place. If, on the contrary, the batsman hit the ball with the bludgeon that he carried to defend himself, and hit it within the angle of the diamond, he started to run for first base, and thence to second or third, as the case might be, with all the speed at his command.

We should, perhaps, have mentioned that the opposing side, consisting of seven players besides the pitcher, had been distributed about the diamond in order to hamper the basic progress of the Rhodes scholars as much as possible. When a Rhodes scholar clumped the ball the fieldsmen did their best to intercept it, but, having fielded it, they did not throw it at the flying batman, as we used to do at school when playing rounders, but returned it to one of the four bases at the corners of the diamond, where a waiting wicket keeper, who is called a baseman, tried to put the batsman's wicket down before he reached it. The wicket consisted of a bag, and many and strange were the efforts of the batsmen to reach it.

If a whole circuit of the four bases was made by a batsman, who seized opportunities to run offered him when his colleagues were dealing with the deliveries of the pitcher, then his side counted one run. There are no "centuries" in baseball; and having thus described as well as we are able what seem to be the leading principles of the game, it will, perhaps, cause small surprise when we add that the Rhodes scholars in their first inning did not score a run. That, however, caused their supporters no dismay, for there were eight more innings to come.

The fielding side, which consisted of the "London team" of the recently formed British Baseball Association, then came in to bat, and J. H. Winston, who came from the University of North Carolina before he went up to Christchurch, assumed the duties of pitcher as well as of captain. To every one's surprise—it is polite to except the striker—one of his 47 deliveries was hit with resounding emphasis by W. A. Clive, who is normally a footballer, and the London side scored one. But the Americans were now warming to their work. They rapidly put three members of the London side out and resumed their position on the batsman's plate.

Mr. Franklin, the Rhodes scholar; Mr. Van der Zee, of Iowa and Merton, and Mr. Young, who came from Dakota to adorn Oriel, got their eyes in, and added four runs to America's score. This form was kept up.

By the end of the fifth inning America led by thirteen runs to five; and, though London by some creditable fielding and pitching, kept down the score during the succeeding four innings, Oxford University's American alumni added a new leaf to her athletic laurels by running out easy winners with nineteen runs to seven.

The sides were:

Oxford—Messrs. Van der Zee, Merton; P. M. Young, Oriel; J. H. Winston, Christchurch; H. Trantham, Christchurch; D. R. Porter, Trinity; E. M. Armstrong, Oriel; W. J. Kendall, Brasenose; J. J. Tigert, Pembroke; J. N. Schaefer, Oriel.

London—Messrs. W. A. Slive, C. E. Marsh, E. Strawson, D. F. Morehouse, W. C. J. Kelly, Oliver Burton, C. L. Lloyd, W. H. Tombleson and W. H. Jarman.—[London Daily Graphic.

CONSOLIDATION

OF METHODIST AND LOUISVILLE UNIVERSITIES PROBABLE.

Plans Have Been Discussed by Representatives of Both Institutions.

A movement looking to the consolidation of the interests of the two universities planned for Louisville was started last week at an informal conference held by Chancellor J. C. Willis, representing the University of Louisville, and C. C. Stoll, representing the Methodist institution. The subject of a consolidation was discussed in an informal way and the plans of the two organizations were carefully gone over with a view to seeing if a consolidation could be made that would result in a broader and stronger institution of learning. While neither of the men had power to act their decision will have great weight with the boards of both institutions. There was no difference of opinion between the two that a unification of interests and efforts was advisable, and this decision will be reported at the joint meeting of the two boards that will be held soon.

There has been expressed a doubt about the charter of the University of Louisville being liberal enough in its provisions to allow the union of the two interests. There has also been some doubt expressed about the terms of the Speed will, as well as other bequests, allowing the consolidation of the schools. This subject will be very carefully examined, as all interested in the two projects would like to see the schools united.

The promoters think that the plans of each as originally drawn can be carried to a successful fruition, but they seem equally certain that the union would result in a far greater university and the cause of education would be promoted to a greater degree by a single school with the endowment and strength that would come from the combination.

The fund of the Methodist Church is already in the neighborhood of a third of a million dollars, and the University of Louisville has the conditional promise of about a half million. Together the combined efforts of the Boards of Trustees might be expected to secure possibly within the first two years an endowment in excess of $2,000,000.

Chancellor Willis has again gone East on matters pertaining to the endowment of the university, and as soon as he returns it is expected that there will be held a joint meeting of the Boards of Trustees of the two institutions. If the investigation proves that there is no legal obstacle to the union, it is probable that immediate steps will be taken to secure a site and prepare for the erection of the buildings urgently needed for the opening of the classical department of the university.

PERMANENT RESULTS WILL BE THE SLOGON.

Twenty-Second and Walnut-street Paptist Church Will Be Contented with Attendance of 1,000.

A standing and regular membership of 1,000 is the goal toward which H. H. McCulloch and his co-workers in the Sunday-school of the Twenty-second and Walnut-street Baptist church are working. Several Sundays ago the then regular membership of between 500 and 600 was increased to 982. The following Sunday, after a strenuous effort was made to get an attendance of 1,500, something over 1,300 were gathered in and the people of the Sunday-school set out to get 2,000 for yesterday, giving out that two separate Sunday-schools would be conducted. However, many of those who attended the school, and many more who might have attended, went to the public schools' picnic in Jacob Park on Friday and many members of the regular Sunday-school were included in the 2,500 that went to Fern Grove Saturday on the annual picnic of the church and the attendance yesterday dwindled to 1,032.

Permanent results hereafter is to be the slogan of the workers of that Sunday-school. A regularly attending and a standing membership of at least 1,000 is regarded by those who are at the bottom of the work as better than huge spasmodic attendances. It has been found that so large a number os attended Sunday before yesterday was too large to admit of proper teaching, and the smaller, more easily handled attendance of 1,000 is regarded as satisfactory. Yesterday three large clases were taught in the rooms of the cottage next the church, which had been purchased recently in anticipation that the church would need the space, and one huge class of young people was taught in the yard back of the cottage. Two separate Sunday-schools were taught yesterday by Mr. McCulloch and his four assistants, and the system will be continued for the next two months, at least.

MRS. ROXIANA SPENCER STRUCK BY TRAIN.

Sustained Fractures of Thigh and Arm and Otherwise Seriously Hurt.

Mrs. Roxiana Spencer, sixty-seven years of age, was struck by an inbound L. and N. passenger train just before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon as she was crossing the tracks in Highland Park. Bleeding and almost unconscious, she was brought to Louisville in the baggage car of the train, accompanied by her son. Dr. Ewing Marshall met the train at the Tenth-street station and took Mrs. Spencer to Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital in an ambulance. He and Dr. George W. Griffiths attended her there and found that she had sustained a fracture of the right thigh, a fracture of the left forearm and severe bruises about the body. In addition she sustained several cuts about the head and her face was scratched and cut by the cinders, upon which she was thrown. She was crossing the tracks on her way to spend the night at the place where she was to work to-day and was taken unawares by the train. Her advanced age, the attending surgeons say, is the hardest thing which she has to contend with. Otherwise her recovery would not be a mater of doubt.

LONG JOURNEY BEING MADE IN A CANOE.

Two Louisville Boys Will Follow the River From Lafayette, Ind., to Louisville.

Few undertakings could appeal more to the adventurous spirit of a boy than the trip on which two young Louisvillians are now engaged. The feat consists of an attempt to reach this city from Lafayette, Ind., in a canoe. The daring navigators are Dennis Long, the son of George J. Long, of Bashford Manor, and his friend, Gresham Sackett, of this city.

Young Long is a student at Purdue University, and Mr. Gresham made the trip to Lafayette to accompany him home. Their canoe is well stocked with provisions for the two weeks' trip and the boys will camp out in real pioneer style. They have the necessary firearms and supplies for protection and for sport. They will follow the course of the Wabash river to the Ohio, of which it is a tributary, and then folow the course of the Ohio to their destination here. They will traverse in this way about 530 miles.

DEATH PENALTY TO AWAIT RITES OF BAPTISM.

Charles L. Tucker to Have at Least One More Day of Life.

Boston, June 10.—Charles L. Tucker, who is in the death house of the State prison at Charlestown, awaiting execution for the murder of Mabel Page, has at least one more day of life.

Contrary to custom, Tucker will not pay the forfeit of his crime early Monday morning. The Warden of the State prison will not say when the sentence of the court will be carried out, but it is known positively that Tucker will not be executed before midnight to-morrow.

It is understood that the reason there will be no execution to-morrow is in order that the condemned youth may to-morrow receive the rites of baptism. The Rev. Thomas Bishop (Methodist), a former pastor of the condemned man, and who is acting as his spiritual adviser, will perform the service.

Tucker still maintains stoutly that he is innocent. His remarkable calmness and courage has not deserted him, although he is no longer hopeful.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS TO WELCOME BRYAN.

Movement to Send Committee to New York—All Want to Go.

Washington, June 10.—[Special.]—The Democrats of the House have come under the spell of the Bryan boom which seems to be sweeping the country. A movement was started among them to select a committee of Democratic Congressmen to go to New York and join with the other party leaders in welcoming the Nebraska traveler upon his return to this country.

The men engineering this project are Champ Clark, of Missouri; Ollie James, of Kentucky, and "Billy" Sulzer, of New York. These three are devout worshipers of Bryan. They found that practically every Democrat in the House is willing to serve upon the Reception Committee. Even such rock-ribbed, conservative gold-bugs as George Washington Taylor, of Alabama, are now for Bryan, although they were against him in 1896 and again in 1900.

James K. Jones, formerly chairman of the Democratic National Campaign Committee, was asked if he thought Bryan would get the votes of the men who supported Palmer and Buckner in 1896.

"I think that nine-tenths, if not ten-tenths, of the Palmer and Buckner vote will be for Bryan next time," he replied.

TWO DEATHS RESULT FROM AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Two Others Injured When Car Overturns After Bursting of Tire.

Chicago, June 10.—Four persons were injured, two of them fatally, by the overturning of an automobile near Winnetka, twenty miles north, to-day. The accident was caused by the bursting of a tire. Those fatally injured were:

Miss Alvine Pinger and Walter Steffens. The latter was the chauffeur. Mrs. Margaret Pinger, a sister, and Mrs. John Pinger, mother of the young women, the other occupants of the car, were badly bruised and may have sustained internal injuries. The party was returning from a visit at the residence of Louis E. Swift, the packer, in Lake Forest. All are residents of Chicago.

TWO DEAD AND THIRTEEN INJURED.

In Georgia Wreck, for Which There Is No Explanation.

Augusta, Ga., June 10.—There were two deaths to-day as the result of last night's wreck on the Georgia railroad near Messena. Engineer T. J. Blackburn, of Atlanta, died at the City Hospital here from scalds, and A. S. Morris, of Macon, an extra fireman, who was too badly hurt to be moved from the scene of the wreck, died this morning.

Thirteen passengers were injured and the engines and seven cars badly damaged. No cause has yet been assigned for the wreck.

RUSSIAN MILITARY UNDER SEVERE CHARGES.

London, June 11.—The Tribune's St. Petersburg correspondent reports the arrest of several non-commissioned officers of the cavalry guard and the Probrajensky guard regiments and says that both regiments have been confined to barracks, while the Novocherkasky regiment has been broken up and distributed to various towns in consequence of the discovery of revolutionary literature in its quarters.

FIRST EDUCATORS TO DRAW ON CARNEGIE FUND.

Ripon, Wis., June 10.—The opening of the commencement week of Ripon College was to-day. President R. C. Hughes made the announcement that the first educators to be pensioned under the $10,000,000 Carnegie fund are two Ripon college professors, Dr. E. H. Merrill, former president of the college and for thirty years a member of its faculty, and Professor C. H. Chandler of the Department of Mathematics.

UPTON SINCLAIR TO BE SOCIALIST CANDIDATE.

Trenton, N. J., June 10.—[Special.]—Upton Sinclair, who is a member of the Trenton Socialists, is to be nominated by them for Assembly, or possibly, for Congress. The novelist ran on the Socialist ticket for the Assembly two years ago, and was badly defeated, but since the extension of his fame through the beef trust exposure, it is believed he has a good chance of election.

YACHT GOES DOWN AND THREE LIVES END.

New York, June 10.—Three men were drowned in New York bay to-day when the yacht Lottie, with a fishing party on board, capsized during a sudden storm. The dead are William Mormon, Paul Smith and George Gise, all of Brooklyn.

GAEKWAR VISITS THE RACES.

Maharanee Bets on Miller's Mounts and Thinks the Game Is Easy.

His Highness, the Gaekwar of Baroda, and his consort, the maharanee—or, as some unlearned Americans called her, Mrs. Gaekwar—visited Belmont Park, the guests of Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., says the New York Telegraph.

Their jolly young host took good care that they should see the whole works, and under his expert guidance they inspected all parts of the plant, with the exception of the judges' and timers' stands and the jockeys' room.

Neither the gaekwar nor his august spouse wagered any of their famed collection of diamonds on the contests, but Her Highness copped a few modest sums on the mounts of Jockey Miller, and she was so pleased, evidently never having bet before on anything but small affairs like an elephant fight or a gymkana, that she got the idea that it is easy to beat the American races. She wants to go again.

So pleased were the gaekwar and the maharanee over their afternoon's entertainment that they asked to have young Mr. Miller presented to them, which Mr. Elkins accomplished with the aid of Robert Pinkerton after the sixth race. The details of the conversation between young Mr. Miller and their highnesses will probably never be known, but the meeting was a cordial one nevertheless, and the gaekwar is said to have intimated that if young Mr. Miller ever comes to India he is likely to be made lord high mahout of the royal elephants, or something equally magnificent.

When the gaekwar and his lady sauntered into the paddock they were attended by a bevy of Pinkertons.

COOL SPELL

CAME AS HAPPY SEQUEL TO THE HOT WAVE.

Louisville People Greatly Appreciated the Splendid Weather Conditions.

From weather that was suffocatingly hot and sultry to cool breezes and a decidedly lower temperature, Louisville people yesterday passed through a day that was in marked contrast from others of the week just closed. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 89, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and from that time on until nightfall it became cooler. At 8 o'clock the Government thermometer marked 73 degrees.

From early morning until noon, however, the day gave promise of being just like the others that have preceded it for a week. Standing at 67 at 5 o'clock, the mercury continued to climb, with only a slight breeze to minimize the effects of the sun's hot rays, until it reached the high mark for the day, just three degrees lower than the high mark for Saturday. Shortly after that time a northwest breeze began to make itself felt, and from then on the weather was all that could be desired. People were involuntarily drawn from their homes by the inviting coolness, and consequently there were thousands of promenaders during the afternoon and evening.

F. J. Walz, United States Weather Forecaster for the Louisville district, said last night that he could not make any predictions for more than forty-eight hours, but that the prospects are for continued fair and cooler weather. He said that nothing in weather conditions now to be observed indicated that any unusual conditions would be forthcoming during Home-coming Week.

INTERESTING EXHIBITION AT NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE.

Neighborhood House has recently been the scene of a number of exhibitions, preparatory to closing the activities of the house for the summer. Saturday many gathered to witness the closing exercises of the Saturday Afternoon Choral class. Theer are over fifty children in the class, and their rendition of the songs learned during the year was most pleasing, and showed careful training. "Six Little Wives," rendered by Gertrude Shapoff, Rosa Davis, Rosa Shapoff, Lizzie Pagaline, Sarah Goldstein, Marguerite Avalo and Ida Kelly, received much applause. The little girls were dressed in Chinese kimonas appropriate to the occasion. Miss Madge Nave, and Miss Ethel Gleason are the leaders of this class. With the closing of the house avtivities the work in the playground commences for the summer.

LEROY LAMB DIES AT MORTON INFIRMARY.

Gosnell, 2218 West Chestnut-street, from whose home the funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial will be in Cave Hill.

CITY ROOFS HAVE VALUE TO THOSE WHO KNOW.

"I'd like to make a contract for all the roofs on this private house block," said a speculator in real estate in New York City. "There are upward of twenty or thirty thousand square feet of roofs here that represent waste space. But the owners don't seem to realize its value, and they won't rent it to those who know its worth."

"What would I do with it? Why, convert it into an open-air sanitarium in winter, and run it as a roof garden or children's playground in summer. Or if the owners objected to such uses, I'd make a big greenhouse up here and rent it out to some gardener who knew how to raise hothouse fruits and vegetables in midwinter. In the summer I'd cover it over with canvas to protect it from the sun, and you could get some of the finest flowers of the year right up here. Oh, there are plenty of uses to which it could be put. It's going to add a few million square feet of floor space to our city where sick people can live and breathe in the pure air and sunshine. The hospitals and the doctors are converting the roofs into open-air wards. They are getting roofs cheap, too. What is the value of a roof? Oh, nothing, just a few dollars a week, says some unsuspecting landlord, and he signs a lease for five or ten years at a nominal rental. There are certain reservations about nuisances in the lease, and that is all. Then the sanitarium company covers the roof with a wooden floor, runs up a six-foot wall on the cold north and west sides and supplies a roof of canvas which can be rolled up or down at will. Some partition off part of the roof with glass. You get all the sun and fresh air that visits the city in winter. There is less fog, mist, dust and ashes up there than elsewhere. It is healthier by 50 per cent. on the roof than in the street below."—George Ethelbert Walsh in The World To-Day for June.

....The W. H. Flint sank three boats coming down at Glasshouse Ripple....No more coal to leave Pittsburg until there is another rise....It was a large shipment of coal on a small amount of water. ....The Hiawatha makes several excursion trips this week up the river and back. She made several trips to Fontaine Ferry and back yesterday....Lots of snags in the river between St. Louis and Cairo....The Paducah News-Democrat says: "A trip to the river front on any day will prove that Paducah is the greatest shopping center between St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis. To-day alone it is estimated that steamers landed at the Broadway wharf over 500 passengers, who came to shop and trade with Paducah wholesalers and retailers. It is this way on any day and nearly double on Saturdays. During the holidays the carrying capacity of the boats is taxed to the limit. If anyone has any doubt as to the river passenger trade he should visit the wharf."....Capt. Jim Pell, Sr., is in command of the Louisiana and Jim Pell, Jr., is pilot....The Cumberland is getting very low....The Pittsburg Gazette-Times of Friday says: "There will be more coal sent out this morning at one time than for a year past. The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company started to prepare for the stage yesterday, and there was more activity on the river than in sixty days. Towboats were moving here and there, and the river was black with large and small craft." ....A commission appointed by an act of Congress will meet in Washington next Tuesday to formulate new laws for the regulation of traffic on steamboats and the systems of inspection. Secretary Metcalf, of the Bureau of Commerce and Labor, has appointed an Executive Committee composed of Gen. Uhler, United States Inspector of Steam Vessels; Ira Harris, Inspector of the Second district, and Charles H. Westcott, Supervising Inspector of the Eighth district, as members of the committee....The Peters Lee went up yesterday morning....The Louisiana made excursion trips yesterday.

HARD TO TELL

Just What Year's Wheat Yield Will Be.

SPECULATORS ANXIOUS TO BELIEVE REPORTS OF DAMAGE.

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY SHOW UP STRONG.

FARMERS REALLY IN CONTROL.

Chicago, June 10.—[Special.]—It was a snappy week in the wheat markets, with nervous speculators and rejuvenated crop killers to touch off the fireworks. There were quick, wide price fluctuations and a strong bullish sentiment on the haunting fear that there is more to the damage reports than the trade generally was inclined to believe a week ago.

There were official reports from here and there to corroborate private complaints of crop deterioration. The Missouri State report makes out that there has been a slump of ten points in condition in that State in the last month. The Ohio report shows a falling off of eight points and that from Kentucky of twenty-one points. Kentucky does not raise a great deal of wheat and the reported impairment will not mean much in itself to the crop total, but it is important as showing the general trend of conditions.

Taking the cue from the State reports the trade is looking for a somewhat bullish report from the Government to-morrow, although it is not believed the showing will be as dark as that made by the State departments and by a certain class of private calculators. The average condition of winter wheat May 1 was 91. The mean of the May averages for ten years is 85 points, hence for this year there is a moderately high basis from which to figure the drop for the month.

* * *

Will Make Up Deficit.

If the advices coming from Oklahoma and Indian Territory for weeks are to be credited, the excess of yield over that of a year ago in those two divisions will more than make up for the advertised deficiency in Missouri, Kentucky and Ohio. When this fact is taken into consideration the anticipated slump in some other States does not take on such a serious mien.

If any kind of crop injury, real or fancied, was overlooked during the week the trade does not recall the brand. There were black rust in Texas, insects in Kansas and Nebraska, short straw and poorly-filled heads in Missouri, tornadoes, hot winds and floods in many portions of the winter wheat region, while up in the Red river valley there was still loud complaint of too much rain.

There was plenty of testimony in rebuttal, correspondents with cheery souls and bear affiliations painting wheat pictures in high colors with scarcely a shadow for relief, but the trade was in a mood for bull adventures and the week was one of bull ascendancy.

There is something in the grain markets of the season which baffles the analysis of the oldest follower of the game. The mystery attaches to corn as well as to wheat. Possibly the explanation must be sought in the great prosperity that has attended the farmer the last two years—this prosperity being a combination of big crops with big prices. The combination has taught the farmer independence that he never exemplified in previous years. He has been holding the whip hand in both the wheat and corn marts. Again, the trade has persistently miscalculated on the consumptive capacity of the American people, which seems suddenly to have jumped to much broader dimensions.

* * *

Europe Not So Important.

The situation has become such that in the last few months the trade has not given the former prominence to news from Europe. The home situation has been the paramount consideration, and it seems destined to be during the rest of the summer, unless there shall be a crop calamity abroad. Last week foreign markets gave weak response to the violent price changes here, and the American speculator and investor returned the compliment by treating European advices as purely incidental and perfunctory.

There is old wheat to be carried into the time domain of the new crop, but that fact is not stampeding producer, speculator or distributor. As for crop estimates, there are all kinds from which to make a choice. A Southwestern flour journal claims to have made a personal canvass of fields in Kansas, Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Nebraska, and it is out with the statement that the yield promises in these six States and Territories to be 36,823,000 bushels in excess of that of a year ago. There are other estimates which reduce last year's crop fully half as much as this exceeds it. Betwixt the various figures the trade is manifesting a blind, childlike faith in the future maintenance of values. The profession of this faith was shown last week in the general trend of the markets, those nearest the scene of production being loudest in their declarations of belief.

Stocks of wheat east of the Rockies, according to Bradstreet, are now about 12,500,000 more than last year's. Argentine shipments are running along evenly, being 2,208,000 bushels for the week.

With improved field conditions due to rains in Illinois, Missouri and other surplus States, holders of corn are showing more willingness to part with their property. Receipts are expanding, but are in no sense burdensome, the cash demand keeping well up with the movement and the offerings being lost in the centers of need. Against manipulation of strong elements in the trade prices advanced sharply during the week. This happened simultaneously with a movement from Argentine that was 1,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago and for the previous week. The Missouri State report made the condition of corn 76 against 83 a year ago. A few more reports of that kind would send prices skyward. Pessimists have been trying for weeks to kick holes in the bag that gives corn its buoyancy, but the attempts have been failures.

* * *

Farmer Is Master.

Seemingly, the farmer is master of the situation. He has his idea of prices, has stuck to them, fortified by the higher prices of live stock, and the great consumptive demand, and he has made his campaign a winner. It will take a mighty good outlook for wheat and the new corn crop to shake him far down from his perch. The Government report is expected to show a backward season for corn. There is a broad general market and the way offerings are absorbed suggests a great buying power back of the market.

Belief is pretty well settled that the oats crop of 1906 will be considerably below that of the last two years. Conditions in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky and Missouri are painted darkly. The outlook is more promising in Iowa and the Northwest, but Nebraska is a late comer into the ranks of the complainants. Country acceptances are more liberal and the cash demand is moderately active. This grain seems to be on a solid foundation at the prevailing level.

There is uncertainty in the provisions trade on account of the agitation over meat inspection. Prices are high, but the packers may be forced by the exposures of the season into action which did not appear probable before the President's message went to Congress. Total packing for the season shows an increase of nearly half a million over last year. Shipments of product continue on a generous scale, but stocks of ribs and lard are increasing.

WORK DELAYED

By Scarcity of Water In Oil Fields.

MIDSUMMER DRY SEASON HANDICAPS PRODUCERS.

MARKET CONTINUES FIRM WITH NO CHANGE EXPECTED.

NEWS IN KENTUCKY FIELDS.

Lexington, Ky., June 10.—[Special.]—The usual midsummer dry season is now proving a handicap to oil producers in several of the Kentucky divisions. In the two most important divisions—Wayne and Wolfe counties—the scarcity of water is felt greatest, and while drilling has been retarded at but few locations, the expense of hauling water for long distances to drilling wells offsets the advantages accruing from the two-cent advance in the crude oil market several weeks ago. While this is proving an expensive feature of development work, operators in choice sections of developed fields are undoubtedly making money, and few operators appear to have their business on the wrong side of the ledger except those who are taking unusual risks in "wild-cat" drilling.

The oil market for several weeks has been firm and there is little in the situation just now to lead to the expectation of an early change in prices. Somerset oil, the grade that is produced generally throughout the Kentucky-Tennessee field except in Bath, Rowan and Estill counties, commands 91 cents per barrel. This season last year this grade of oil commanded but 75 cents per barrel. Ragland oil, the product of Bath and Rowan counties now commands 62 cents per barrel, or 13 cents more than was obtained last summer. Early in April changes in the oil market led to the belief that dollar oil would be reached this season, but the agitation throughout the country during the past few months is believed to have put a check to the rising market.

Developments in the field during the past few days have been substantial, but nothing out of the ordinary in the producing line has appeared. The best strike of the week appeared in the Sinking field, the newest division of Wayne county, a flow of 75 barrels daily being operated by Wood & Co. The strike is in developed territory and was expected to show up good. In the Parmleysville division two oilers of ten barrels caliber each were drilled and at Stickford a medium-sized strike was made. Steubenville has contributed little new in the producing line lately.

* * *

Wild Cat Wells in Sinking.

About the only purely wild-cat work now being undertaken in lower Kentucky, is in the region surrounding the Sinking development, in lower Wayne county. Territory between that field and Whitley county is still in strong demand, and several ventures in the test line are now under way. The new Kentucky Oil and Gas Company, which drilled the sensational 160 barreler at Sinking several days ago, has planted rigs for new wells, and will endeavor to prove a continuation of the prolific pool of oil which has been opened up there during the past few months. Near the Whitley line, drilling in tests is being carried on, with slow success, although oil undoubtedly exists.

Production in upper Kentucky continues in a substantial way. Wolfe county offers the most sure ground for drilling, because of the rarity of nonproducers. The Campton district, extending for a radius of two miles near Campton, has received many punctures since developments were started three years ago, and dusters have been few and far between within defined limits. Efforts at expending the field have been only partly successful, and wild-cat drilling now is not commanding much attention. Four completions were made early this week, ranging in capacity from twenty to thirty barrels.

As a single development, Campton now leads the list in the Kentucky-Tennessee fields in the matter of production, the weekly runs ranging from 6,000 to 8,000 barrels. As a county, Wayne doubles these figures, but there are five distinct fields in Wayne.

* * *

Estill county, which produces a grade of oil of nearly the same specific gravity as the Bath-Rowan field, but of better grade, is being subjected to a little new work. However, no completions have been made for a week past. Estill oil commands ninety-one cents per barrel.

Nothing of importance has been accomplished in the eastern field this week. On Beaver creek, the regular development of Floyd county, and toward the Pike and Knott county borders, some drilling is being conducted. Beaver creek producers average up small, but the showing is lasting. A new concern, Ford & Flannagan, will drill holdings in Floyd and Pike counties. C. H. Dimic, of West Virginia, is also conducting two or three test ventures.

The regular development of Bath, Rowan, Knox, Whitley and Cumberland have furnished no strikes during the past week, nor has anything of importance occurred in wild-cat counties. Production in all five counties continues up to the average maintained during the past year. Bath and Rowan counties produce 3,000 to 4,000 barrels weekly, but production in Knox, Whitley and Cumberland counties falls below the 1,000 barrel mark in the aggregate.

DEMAND CONTINUES

Both for Crude and Refined Petroleum.

Toledo, O., June 10.—[Special.]—Crude and refined petroleum, both for domestic and foreign consumption, continued in steady demand during the past week, and prices remained firm on all grades, owing to the increase in production. Perhaps the only section in which active operations have been rushed during the past few weeks, and where a good production has been realized, is in the Illinois field. Considering the situation in the older producing districts of the oil belt, however, the production is not likely to affect prices as yet, at least as far as lower quotations are concerned.

The market for crude petroleum is without unusual features. The demand continues strong, and there is no indication of a suspension of activity for the immediate future. At this time the trades in which crude oils are used are most active, and this season is exceptionally good. Despite the continued light production in the older fields, prices are unchanged but firm, and are likely to remain so for some time to come, owing to the large and increasing production in Illinois and the mid-continent fields.

Although the price on Texas low grade crude remained very firm during the past week, there was a continued strong demand. The effort of manufacturers to keep their supplies up to the limit in order to fulfill their fall requirements is the principal cause for a strong market. Oil operators have had to draw storage stocks in consequence, owing to the fact that for a long time no new field has been discovered in the lower Southwest. It is quite evident that if the new wells come in light an advance in the price will be effected, while with the opening of a new field the price will remain steady or possibly decline, according to the results realized.

The export demand for refined petroleum continues fair, but of late there has not been an active market, compared to the amount of oil shipped a few weeks ago. The position of the tank fleet has much to do with the movement of export oils. Conditions on the other side are unchanged, and the light production there would indicate a continuance of heavy export requirements. There are indications of a movement in Russia, however, that is likely to interfere with shipments from this market, more especially should activity be resumed in the fields. No change is recorded in the price of export petroleum.

The past week showed some remarkably fine producing wells in the hills of West Virginia and the Indiana field, while in Ohio and Kentucky the wells were of smaller caliber, but paying investments nevertheless. Illinois appears to be the mecca of the oil men at the present time, and the field is making good. There is a chance to make big money in the shallow districts of the State, as the cost of a well is a mere bagatelle compared with some of the deeper oil fields of the East. Conservative oil men that were in the Pennsylvania field since the early excitement on Oil creek say that the Illinois field is destined to be the largest field yet developed at any point in the United States, and will prove as productive as any of them, but if such is the case the State will have to produce a large amount of crude, as the Trenton limestone fields of Indiana and Ohio have always been the largest in the country. New derricks are springing up in the Illinois field like mushrooms on a dewy morning.

Things are not as bright in the fields of Kansas, Indian Territory and Oklahoma, especially in the Indian Territory. The stringency of the new regulations adopted by Secretary Hitchcock governing the leasing and operating of oil and gas lands in the Cherokee and Creek nations, effective June 15, has already caused a dropping off of the oil business. The oil men are not taking any lease as fast as they did before the issuing of the new regulations. In general the regulations are the same, but the terms are more rigid, and their provisions are to be more strictly enforced. The applicant must swear that the money invested is not borrowed, as well as taking oath that no one is interested besides himself; that he is getting the lease for his own personal benefit and not for sublease, sale or speculation. A man who owns stock in any company which controls the maximum, 4,800 acres, is prohibited from acquiring any further lease in his own name. Oil men say that the effect on the leasing of oil lands will be very depressing, the investors insisting that they do not care to put themselves in the power of the Secretary of the Interior to confiscate or destroy their property. Some of the most extensive operators will probably carry their grievances to some Federal court outside of the Territory or probably to the Supreme Court of the United States, it being charged by them that several of the regulations are unconstitutional.

The wells for the past week were distributed among the various fields as follows:

Field.	Comp.	Prod.	Dry.
Indiana	41	1,666	6
Northwest Ohio	45	706	4
Southeast Ohio	27	211	10
West Virginia	37	1,310	8
Kentucky	11	315	2
Illinois	73	6,410	5
Total	234	10,618	29

TRADE WITH JAPAN

EXCEEDS THAT WITH ANY OTHER ORIENTAL COUNTRY.

Our Business Has Increased 1,000 Per Cent. in Last Ten Years.

Washington, June 10.—Trade of the United States with Japan is larger than with any other Oriental country, says a bulletin issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, and it aggregated in the fiscal year $106,000,000. Exports to that country have grown from about $5,000,000 in the calendar year 1895 to over $55,000,000 in the fiscal year 1905, and imports from that country from $27,500,000 in 1895 to nearly $51,000,000 in 1905.

The growth in exports from the United States to Japan and China, says the bulletin, has a remarkable feature in our export trade in the last decade. The increase in exports to Japan was in round numbers $50,000,000, while during the same period the growth in exports to all South America was $32,000,000, to all Africa but $10,000,000, to Oceanica, including Hawaii, $30,000,000, and to all Asia except Japan and China $13,000,000.

Raw cotton exports to Japan in 1905 amounted to practically $17,000,000, manufactures of iron and steel to about $10,000,000, flour $5,000,000, leather $5,000,000, mineral oil nearly $3,000,000 and provisions about $2,000,000.

Raw silk imports from Japan in 1905 amounted practically to $29,000,000, tea to a little over $7,000,000 and matting and mats a little more than $2,000,000.

FUND ALMOST RAISED.

EARLHAM COLLEGE WILL GET CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

$30,000 Nearly All Collected—Commencement Exercises Begun.

Richmond, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—At Earlham College, this city, to-day, Dr. David W. Dennis, a member of the faculty, delivered the baccalaureate address. The exercises of commencement week will conclude Wednesday morning, when a class of forty-five, the largest in the history of the school, will be graduated, the address to be delivered by Dr. James Hughes, of Toronto, Can., inspector general of Canadian schools.

The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of Earlham College, a large increase being shown in the enrollment and also growth in every department. It is now believed to be practically certain that the fund of $30,000, necessary to secure a like amount for a library building from Andrew Carnegie, will be secured, as there is only a small sum lacking. Special efforts will be made to increase the endowment of the college, the desire being to place it at one million dollars. Earlham is the principal institution of learning maintained by the Quaker church west of Philadelphia. For the first time in the history of the institution, Earlham issued an annual, "The Sargasso," and the publication was successful. The probability is that the annual will be made a regular feature. A summer term will open at the college the last of this month.

CAN'T SUPPLY

Demand For Iron In Southern Market.

CLOSED FURNACES HAVE DIMINISHED OUTPUT,

WHEREAS HOME CONSUMPTION HAS GROWN GREATLY.

AFTER FOREIGN LABORERS.

Birmingham, Ala., June 10.—[Special.]—Inquiries being received by Southern pig iron manufacturers indicate that the demand is growing much stronger, and that within the next sixty days it is going to be largely in excess of production, which is not less than 20 or 25 per cent. below what it was at this time last year, due to the large number of furnaces out of blast for the purpose of being repaired.

Present sales for spot delivery are in small lots due to the fact that spot iron is very scarce, the yards being almost completely bare on account of the recent heavy movements following the curtailment of production for repair purpose. Consumers while buying only for actual needs are looking ahead, as evidenced by the large number of inquiries which are being made and the sales on long time delivery. From the West come instructions to ship slowly on iron purchased some time back, labor troubles and other causes being responsible for delay in structural operations, and consequent slow consumption of products. Quotations are being maintained at the figures at which they have held for some time past. The larger furnace companies insist that they will not sell below the basis of $14 for No. 2 foundry iron. Some iron has been disposed of in Southern territory below that mark, and it is said that some little time back one sale was made as low as $13.25 per ton, but the bulk of all sales are made on a $14 basis, and this may be regarded as the prevailing market price.

* * *

Largely Wanted at Home.

Home consumption of iron is very heavy, and indications are that the various industries in the Southern States have not yet laid in all the iron they will need for the year's melt. It is stated that Birmingham pipe manufacturers are bidding on a large tonnage of cast iron pipe wanted by Philadelphia. Contracts are to be let during the approaching week. Large orders have recently been secured by pipe makers in this district from New Orleans, St. Louis and other large cities of the West and Southwest. Shipments of pipe also continue to Mexico. The pipe plants are loaded with orders and all are running to full capacity.

Basic pig iron is in strong demand, and six furnaces in this district are now producing this grade of iron for conversion into steel, especially steel rail, trade in which is very active with a demand extending more than a year ahead.

Repair work on the large number of iron furnaces out of blast is being pushed as rapidly as possible, with a view to getting as many stacks as possible into operation during the summer so as to be better prepared for the fall rush, which iron producers predict with confidence is coming in the iron trade.

The Southern Steel Company will shortly begin the erection of a structural iron and steel plant at Gadsden near their big steel plant. It is believed that a structural steel mill in this section of the South will prove a paying investment, as a good deal of structural steel is being used in the South, and all of it comes from Pennsylvania. It is felt sure that the product can be made as cheaply here as in the North, since the cost of assembling the raw products is even less in Alabama.

* * *

Importing Labor.

Leading industrial corporations which operate "open shop" mines are giving no little attention to the question of importing foreigners as laborers in this district. Agents have been busy for some time gathering together Italian laborers at New Orleans and several trainloads of them have been brought here and put to work in mines and around furnaces and foundries. It is said that this class of labor has proven very satisfactory, far more so than the negro. Italian labor has especially shown up well in the coal mining business. Increased efforts will be made to get more of the white foreign labor not only through New Orleans but direct from the immigration station at New York and elsewhere. Some of the companies are building large boarding and lodging houses for the care of these foreigners. It is said that not less than 3,000 laborers can find ready work at the mines and other industries in this district just now, and the work of securing white immigrants to fill this gap will be pushed.

The annual scale convention of the United Mine Workers of America, district of Alabama, will begin here to-morrow and will probably last a week. To-morrow a week has been fixed by the miners as the date for a joint scale conference with the operators. During the week the miners will formulate their demands, including a new wage scale, and this will be submitted to the operators at the joint meeting. The annual meeting of the union miners does not excite the wide interest it formerly did, because the miners' union is no longer the power it once was in industrial circles. Two years ago a disagreement arose over the settlement of the wage scale and the four largest mining corporations in the South—the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Co., the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Co., the Republic Iron and Steel Co. and the Woodward Iron Co.—established their mines on the "open shop" principle, refusing to further recognize or have any further negotiations with the miners' union. The companies with the open shop mines have been put to heavy expense and have encountered many difficulties, but they have continued the fight and claim to have won it completely. On the other hand the strike of the union miners at those mines has cost the miners' national organization a fortune and has shorn the miners' union of much of its power in this State, so it is claimed. At any event, not more than 40 per cent. of the coal mined in the State, it is stated, is now mined by union labor. Consequently the approaching wage settlement affects a minority instead of a majority of the mine operators in Alabama. It is thought that the prevailing wage scale, which expires July 1, and which gives a maximum mining scale of 57½ cents per ton and a minimum of 47½ cents, will be renewed without any trouble.

MORE THAN CENTURY OLD YET KEEPS HOUSE.

Richmond, Ind., June 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Martha Stafford, formerly a resident of Kentucky, is still able to attend to her usual household duties, although she is one hundred and four years old. She keeps house and is believed to be the oldest active woman in Indiana.

STOCKS HIGH,

But Conservative Men Are Interested.

PLENTY OF MONEY AWAITING GOOD INVESTMENT.

WALL STREET SATISFIED WITH CROP PROSPECTS.

MARKET STILL SENSITIVE.

New York, June 9.—[Special.]—The stock market is in rather an unusual condition. While sellers are exceedingly optimistic, buyers are conservative and more or less critical. General conditions continue excellent outside of the stock market, and are much in favor of holders. The local monetary situation, for instance, steadily improves. Funds are returning from the interior and large amounts (fully $13,000,000 thus far) have been sent back from San Francisco, so that our bank reserves ought to show a rising tendency. Call loans have consequently been easy, indicating a better supply of money for immediate needs, although time money is still held at fairly good rates. In the foreign markets easy conditions also obtain, and the outlook is for a continuance of these favorable conditions. Nearly all unusual obligations have been satisfied in Paris and London, and the situation there is favorable to further operations on American account should conditions remain as satisfactory as at present. In general the outlook abroad is cheerful, and it is quite probable that the foreign markets would expand their accommodations to sound American projects if called upon. No doubt many of our early maturing obligations will be renewed without difficulty.

Like Crop Prospects.

The American business situation is eminently satisfactory. Crop prospects thus far are certainly encouraging. A fine winter wheat crop is practically assured and good prices will be secured by the farmer. Other grain crops also promise well at this date, although corn planting is a trifle late. A moderate increase in the cotton crop is also anticipated and the Southern planter is justified in expecting another profitable season. All over the United States the agricultural classes are enjoying very unusual prosperity through the good prices obtained for their products. This should assure the country another good fall and winter trade. Reports from large business houses in the West are exceedingly encouraging in this respect. No complaints are heard about oversupplies in the hands of distributors; and, while prices are high, that fact does not yet appear to have had any marked restraint upon demand. Should present promises, therefore, be fulfilled we may anticipate another good season both for the railroads and the great industrial concerns.

Railroad earnings continue to show liberal gains, the totals for the fourth week in May of twenty-four roads showing a gain of about 13 per cent. over last year. These are rather surprising, considering that May earnings on some of the important lines must have been considerably diminished by the coal strike, shipments of anthracite in that month being only 3,250,000 tons, against 8,000,000 tons in May, 1905. Clearing-house returns at the leading cities show very moderate gains, the total last week being only about - per cent. greater than a year ago. This is due chiefly to a large decline at New York, where speculation is much less active than a year ago. In many of the interior cities, especially in the West, it is noticed that bank clearings still maintain a good average over last year. Another bright spot in the general situation is the iron and steel trade. The demand for all sorts of iron products continues remarkably heavy, and there is no sign whatever of abatement. For months to come the railroads, which consume fully 60 per cent. of the Nation's products, are going to be heavy buyers of iron and steel, not only for renewals, but for very unusual amounts of new mileage. The steel rail product for 1906 is oversold, and orders for over 1,000,000 tons are already on the books for 1907. With such satisfactory conditions in the important departments of industry just noted it is impossible to be pessimistic regarding the future.

Stocks Are High.

Within the stock market conditions are not so eminently satisfactory. Some of the encouraging features above alluded to have been well discounted. Prices are exceedingly high; so high, in fact, that investors are not rushing for stocks when they can secure more profitable employment for their money in other directions. Another deterrent feature is the large present and prospective increase in the supply of new securities. The bond market is already badly congested with new issues which investors will not take until money market conditions improve. At the same time it is well known that the railroads will be obliged to raise considerable amounts of new capital during the next few weeks, either through new stock and bond issues or short-term notes. The prospect, of course, of a large increase in the supply of new securities is not at first sight a bull argument. On the other hand, our leading bankers, who expect to float these issues, will be obliged to use their influence to keep the market in as healthy a condition as possible in order to facilitate the placing of these issues. For this reason, and the satisfactory outside situation, it seems useless to look for any important decline in price at the present moment. It is more than probable that strong efforts will be made to give the market an appearance of activity and strength, especially while so many conditions favor. Some rather striking efforts of this character have been made during the current week. Just now the public is not in the market to any extent, and the operations on certain days showed powerful manipulation. The situation, therefore, is one that favors an upward trend in values, with occasional reactions. Stocks have been accumulating in stronger hands, and no doubt everything will be done to keep the market in good form. There is a large amount of money in this market awaiting investment, and nothing but the fact that shrewd investors consider prices too high prevents a quick absorption of floating securities. A decline in time money rates just now would inevitably stimulate investment buying. July disbursements will soon be available. Last year they aggregated $135,000,000, and this year they will be even greater. June and July should witness a comparatively easy money market, but when the crop movement sets in higher rates must be again expected. No undue stringency, however, is probable while our credit abroad remains as strong as it is now.

Friday's reaction was due to reports of crop damage, and showed the sensitiveness of the market to unfavorable news, which must be expected when prices are at such a high level.

HENRY CLEWS.

KING MAY ENTERTAIN MR. AND MRS. LONGWORTH.

Latter Have Entered on Chain of Social Affairs in Their Honor.

London, June 10.—After a voyage which both declared to be the most pleasant in their experience, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth reached London, having journeyed from Southampton, where they debarked from the American line steamer St. Louis in a beautifully appointed royal carriage attached to the American line special on the London and Southwestern railway. The weather was ideal and the country traversed by the train on the short trip to London was looking its best, so that their first impression of England, where they will spend the opening fortnight of their European outing, was most favorable.

Only a short stop was made in Southampton. The Mayor of Southampton and the American Consul there, Mr. Swalm, were the first to greet the travelers on British soil. On arriving in London Mr. and Mrs. Longworth were met by Ambassador Reid and the members of the Embassy staff, Mrs. and Miss Reid, Mrs. and Miss Caster, wife and daughter of the secretary of the American Embassy, and Mrs. Gibbons, wife of the naval attache, while at the entrance of the station several hundred Americans living in London had gathered to welcome the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Longworth will be the guests of the American Ambassador and his wife at Dorchester House while in London.

This afternoon was spent in resting. In the evening there was a family dinner, which was attended by the members of the Embassy staff. To-morrow Mr. and Mrs. Longworth will be given an opportunity to see London, no engagement having been made for the day. In the evening they may visit the Alhambra with Mr. and Mrs. Reid for the first production of the new ballet "L'Amour," the music for which was written by Mrs. Thay Ritchie, an American.

It has not yet been announced whether King Edward will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, but it is expected they will dine with him at Ascotheath during Ascot week. Queen Alexandra being still in mourning for her father, is not accepting any but court engagements, and, therefore, will not accompany King Edward to the dinner at Dorchester House Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth thoroughly enjoyed the Atlantic voyage and joined with the other passengers in the sports and amusements incident to the trip. The weather from land to land was splendid, the delay to the St. Louis being caused by bad coal and a slight fog.

ACTIVE

Market and Good Demand For Leaf Tobacco.

PRICES WELL UP AND SATISFACTORY TO SELLERS.

GOOD WEATHER FACILITATING PLANTING AND PROSPECTS IMPROVED.

THE WEEKLY STATISTICS.

Saturday Evening, June 9.—The market for leaf tobacco during the past week was fairly active. A good demand prevailed and as a consequence prices were well maintained and in some instances were slightly higher. Offerings aggregated 1,772 hogsheads, of which 353 were new Burley, 11 old Burley, 1,369 new dark and 39 old dark. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the crop has been planted in the Clarksville and Hopkinsville districts, as the weather during the past ten days has been all that could be desired, and in the Western district and Green River section the estimates run from 70 to 75 per cent.

The weather has not been so favorable in the Burley section, some localities not having sufficient rain, but it is estimated that 80 per cent of the crop has been planted.

The quality of the new Burley offered was inferior and the condition was only fair, with a scarcity of color. Firmness ruled in the market for both red and colory smokers, and red tips, all grades of red leaf and colory styles met with an improved demand and sold at outside prices. The small number of hogsheads of low grade old Burley offered brought good prices in spite of its inferior quality.

An improvement was in evidence in the condition and quality of the new dark offerings, a larger percentage of fired or export leaf being offered than during any week this year. Firmness prevailed in the market for trash and all grades of lugs and a good demand ruled for cigar styles. For spinners, cutters and natural Africans decided strength was noted. While prices for rehandling leaf were unchanged all offerings were easily absorbed and firm prices ruled for manufacturing grades. Eight hundred hogsheads of the reported private sales belonged to the Italian Regie.

Auction sales of leaf tobacco for the week amounted to 786 hogsheads and private sales to 986, the total being 1,772, as compared with 2,905 for the corresponding week last year. Since January 1 total sales have amounted to 88,784 hogsheads, as compared with 72,863 in 1905. Sales of Burley for the week totaled 364 hogsheads, of which 11 were of the old crop. The sales of dark were 1,408 hogsheads, old crops amounting to 39. Rejections this week were 121 hogsheads, or 15 per cent. of the sales at auction. Since January 1 rejections have amounted to 9,640. Receipts for the week were 949 and since January 1 they have amounted to 63,229.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONETARY.

Saturday Evening, June 9.—The weekly statement of the New York banks was about as expected. The increase in the legal reserve requirements was $346,025, the surplus being $7,162,050. There was an increase in deposits of $10,384,300, which necessitated an increase of $2,596,075 in the amount of reserve required. The gain in cash was $2,942,100, specie increasing $4,024,000 and legal-tenders decreasing $1,081,900. Loans now exceed deposits by $12,000,000. Money is growing easier in New York, and foreign exchange is advancing. The question now being debated by New York bankers is whether they will be able to retain for use there the money that is being shipped from San Francisco, or must send a good part of it back to Europe in payment of maturing loans. The Bank of England's weekly statement was somewhat disappointing, a weaker position being manifest despite purchases of new arrivals in gold. With the proportion of reserve to liabilities 43.24 per cent., compared with 43.90 per cent. last week and 50⅝ per cent. a year ago, the failure of the governors to reduce the discount rate is not surprising. There was a loss in bullion recorded of $584,755, an expansion in loans of $2,790,000 and a decrease in reserve of $755,000. The Bank of France's weekly statement shows a gain in loans of $50,390,000; gold holdings increased $930,000.

The local credit market continues to rule comfortable, with rates for money quoted at 5 to 6 per cent. and a fairly good borrowing demand in evidence.

The report of the Clearing-house to-day was as follows:

Day's clearing	$2,045,222
Balance	363,930
Week's clearing	12,498,610
Corresponding week last year	11,287,082
Balances for week	2,022,722

The local security market was fairly active and strong during the past week. Several of the issues listed on the local Stock Exchange scored good advances. West Pennsylvania Railways common led the list in advancing, its net gain for the week being 6½ points. The earnings of this property for the year ending April 30 were equal to over 2 per cent. on the common stock, and it is said the prospects for the coming year are very bright and higher prices are predicted for the stock. The net advance in Louisville Traction common amounted to 1½ points. The declaration of 1 per cent. on the stock payable July 1 and the evident policy of the directors to pay quarterly instead of semi-annual dividends has as yet created no movement in the shares. However, the action of the directors is regarded very favorably, and some activity is looked for in the stock. Early in the week activity developed in Springfield Railway and Light, but it was short-lived, and the close of the week finds the bid price only ½ point higher than a week ago. Some disappointment was caused by the Louisville Home Telephone directors declaring only the regular 1½ per cent. dividend, and to-day there were some selling orders in the market at 60. The more conservative stockholders regard the action of the directors as the best thing to do for the company and the stockholders, believing that in using a large percentage of the earnings for contemplated extensions and improvements now will enable the company in the long run to pay higher dividends. International Traction common sagged off to 57 and then advanced to 58¾, closing to-day at 58½ bid. The preferred dropped down to 80¼ bid. The cause of the sharp advance in these shares remains a mystery. Buffalo people are unable to account for it. President Pierce and other officials of the International Traction Company are said to have noted the advance with surprise and are unable to explain it. Kansas City Railway and Light common picked up some yesterday and advanced to 61½, but to-day reacted to 61. St. Louis United Railways issues were quiet. There were several hundred shares of Portland Railway Heat and Power common placed here during the week at 75.

At the Stock Exchange to-day the offers of Louisville Traction common were composed of small lots, five shares being offered at 140½ and four shares, 50 per cent. paid, at 138⅜. For the latter lot 138¼ was bid. Twenty-five shares of the preferred were offered at 126¼. Springfield was 100 shares offered at 88 and 86 bid for ten. Twenty shares of San Francisco preferred were offered at 73½ and 73 was bid. For eighty shares of Toledo 33¼ was bid and 100 shares were offered at 33½. Ten shares of Savannah common were wanted at 24 and ten shares were offered at 25½. West Penn common was fifty shares offered at 30½, ten offered at 31, 30 bid for fifty and sold, forty shares offered at 30 and withdrawn, 29½ bid for seventy-five and 29¾ bid for ten. Fifty shares of Paducah preferred were offered at 73.

One Rochester Railway and Light 5 per cent. bond sold at 103¾ and interest and that was bid for $2,000, with offerings at 103¾. For Springfield 5s 98⅝ and interest was bid and 98¾ was asked. For $3,000 St. Joseph 5s 103 and interest was bid. L., H. and St. L. 5s were $1,000 offered at 111 and interest and 110 bid. Louisville Home Telephone 5s were $3,500 offered at 87¾ and interest. A bid of 148 was made for ten shares of American National Bank and for ten shares of Southern National 147 was bid. For ten shares of Columbia Finance and Trust 145¼ was bid. A bid of 140 was made for ten shares of Louisville Gas. For seventy-five shares of Louisville Tobacco Warehouse common 66½ was bid and for ten shares of the preferred 118½ was bid. Louisville Home Telephone was twenty shares offered at 62, 55 was bid for five shares, five shares offered at 61 and part of fifty shares offered at 60. Fifty shares of Fayette Home Telephone were offered at 30½. The closing quotation in New York on San Francisco common was 65½ bid and 65¾ asked, on the preferred 73½ and 73¾ and on Detroit 94½ and 96, with a sale at 95½. Toledo was quoted at 32¾ to 34. L. and N. unified 4s were quoted at 102½ to 103½ and the collateral trust 4s at 97¾ to 98¼. St. Louis United Railways common closed in St. Louis at 57 to 57½, the preferred at 83½ to 83¾ and the 4 per cent. bonds at 88⅝ to 88¾. Chicago sent the closing quotation on Kansas City Railway and Light common at 61 bid and 61½ asked. New Orleans Railway and Light common was quoted in New Orleans at 33½ bid and 33¾ asked, the preferred at 81⅝ to 82 and the 4½ per cent. bonds at 91⅜ to 91¾.

International Traction common sold at 58½ and 58¾ and there were bids of 58½ for more, with offerings scarce under 59. The preferred was quiet at 80¼ to 81.

Last week stocks stood as follows: Advanced, 52; declined, 11; steady, 5. This week stocks stand as follows: Advanced, 47; declined, 27; steady, 8.

The gross earnings of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago for the month of May are $92,333, a gain of $9,415. This is considered very good. The earnings on Decoration day were $6,812, a gain of $815. This is thought to be very good, in view of the fact that it rained part of the day. June starts off with tremendous earnings. For the first four days of June the passenger earnings were $17,319, a gain of $4,268.

The stockholders of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago will meet at Chicago on next Saturday, June 16, and formally approve the proposed $25,000,000 mortgage. This mortgage is now in readiness for approval and contains restrictions for the issuing of bonds satisfactory both to the purchasers of the first million to go out and to the stockholders. On the same date in Chicago a meeting of the board of directors of that company will be held and the preferred stock will be placed on a 5 per cent. annual dividend basis. The first quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent. will probably be paid July 2.

Stockholders of the Philadelphia Company have been called to meet on August 14, to act upon a proposition to increase the capital stock from $36,000,000 to $42,000,000. The increase will consist of 120,000 shares of common stock at $50 a share. The proceeds will be used to pay for the stocks of the Beaver Valley Traction Company and the Washington and Canonsburg Railway Company, both of which were purchased last year; also to provide additional power for the increasing business of the Allegheny County Light Company and the Pittsburg Railways Company, and to make other necessary improvements and extensions. The United Railways Investment Company, which controls the Philadelphia Company, when it made its plan for the purchase of the majority of the common stock of the Philadelphia Company, made provision for this increase of stock. Under the plan, as formulated by the United Railways Investment Company, any increased stock of the Philadelphia Company will be offered pro rata to the stockholders of the latter company.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, June 9.—Money on call nominal; no loans; time loans steady; 60 days 4 per cent, 90 days 4¼@4½; six months 4⅝; prime mercantile paper 5@5½. Sterling exchange steady at $4.8590@4.86 for demand and at $4.8230@4.83 for 60-day bills; posted rates $4.83½ and $4.86½; commercial bills $4.82¼@4.82¾. Bar silver 65¼c. Mexican dollars 50½c. Government bonds firm. Railroad bonds heavy.

Stocks were pressed for sale to-day and prices declined. The speculative party which entered the market with the opening of the week, on taking account of the week's results will find little in the way of price changes in the summing up. There was some closing of accounts to-day induced by discouragement over the meager profits disclosed by this inspection. Crop damage reports are not liked and the effect on stocks is feared of the Government monthly estimate of condition to be published on Monday and which is generally expected to reflect the unfavorable weather conditions of the preceding month. The prospect of a prolongation of the session of Congress came in for some discussion. Complaint was heard from speculative sources that the bidding up of prices serves to bring out offerings of stocks on selling orders fixed above the market, and these orders seem to offer a formidable obstacle to efforts to advance prices. Speculative liquidation was evident in some of the week's favorite stocks, especially Reading, and some of the advances which were made quickly were as quickly lost to-day. The weak and unsupported condition of Consolidated Gas had a bad effect on sentiment.

The bank statement justified the expectation that the cash gain of last week, which failed to appear in last week's statement, would help the showing this week. Beside the $2,942,100 cash increase there was a $7,619,400 loan expansion to figure in the deposits, so that the increase in the reserve requirement left a margin of only $346,025 for the benefit of the surplus. The paying of foreign obligations is believed to be responsible in part for the loan expansion. The Bank of Germany failed to reduce its discount rate and made a poor weekly return, and sterling exchange at Berlin fell with some violence and at Paris with decision, threatening renewed pressure on London's gold reserves. Incidents of the day were the report of the first arrival of the season of Alaska gold on the Pacific coast and the official report of the gold output on the Rand for the month of May, showing a production of 461,202 fine ounces, the greatest monthly out-turn on record. The stock market closed easy.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Saturday Evening, June 9.—Local retailers report a fair run of trade for the week and prices held generally firm. The market for produce was firm and active. Eggs were steady and poultry continued in moderate supply. The market for whisky changed very little from last week. Business continues good in the iron and hardware and oil and paint markets. The market for pig iron was about the same as that of last week. Shipments were in good demand. The grocery market was firm and active and prices are holding firm in the refined sugar market. LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Louisville.

(Reported by the Central Live Stock Exchange, Central Stock Yards.)

Louisville, June 9.—Cattle—Receipts light, but fully enough here to supply the demand. What few choice cattle were here sold fairly well, as has been the case for some time, but would advise shippers to be careful on the half-fat grassy stuff, as the buyers show very little interest for that class, and it is hard to sell them at anything like satisfactory prices, and in most cases it is more a question of buyer than price. No stockers and feeders here to-day; feeling about the same on that class. No heavy cattle on sale. Bulls and canners are dull to a shade lower. There is no change in the milch cow trade; very little demand for anything except the choice kinds. At the close the pens were well cleared and we look for a steady market Monday unless receipts should be heavy.

Calves—Receipts light; market strong; best veals $5.50@6; common calves dull and hard to dispose of.

Hogs—Receipts liberal for Saturday; market 5@10c higher on lights and steady on all other grades we sold to-day; best, 120 pounds and up $6.45; heavy pigs $6.10; light pigs $5.40; roughs $4.50@5.75. The market closed steady, there are not half enough hogs coming to this market to supply the demand.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts light; market strong; best lambs are selling readily at $7.75; seconds $6.50@6.75; tail-ends $5@6; best fat sheep $5@5.50; fair to good $3.50@4.50; common $2.50@3; best stock ewes $4@4.50; common kinds not much sought after.

(Reported by the Louisville Live Stock Exchange, Bourbon Stock Yards.)

Louisville, June 9.—Cattle—Receipts of cattle to-day 20 head; for the week 1,726, against 2,064 last week and 1,915 the same week last year. Unchanged conditions marked the close of the week's cattle trade. The few choice, well-finished butcher cattle that were here met with ready demand and no trouble was experienced in maintaining steady figures; the common and medium grades (and especially grassy kinds) proved extremely slow, and it required strenuous effort to dispose of that class, even at the 10@15c decline noted Thursday. Feeder and stocker trade closed quiet, with no appreciable change in values. Milch cow trade unimproved; demand almost limited to the better grades. Bulls and canners steady; likewise the feeling on heavy shipping cattle. Pens well cleared and the market closed quiet.

Calves—Receipts of calves 90 head; for the week 690. The market closed steady; bulk of best $5.50@6; common, rough calves very slow.

RIVER TOO LOW FOR MOVING COAL SOUTH.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 10.—[Special.]—There was a good packet stage in the river yesterday, but no packets arrived or departed. While the heavy showers that spread up the valleys seemed to indicate a possible swell within a short time that would let out some more coal, this is only a speculation thus far. The gauge at Davis Island dam yesterday showed seven feet and falling. Some tows of empties arrived from lower river points during the day and were hurried to the upper pools. The pool boats also brought down a good-sized fleet of loaded coal craft to the harbor. If another rise comes there will be considerable additional coal sent South and the river men are preparing to take advantage of this contingency.

Joseph D. SILVER JUBILEE

To Be Celebrated By the Rev. Charles Curran To-day.

ONE OF BEST KNOWN PRIESTS IN SOUTHERN INDIANA.

MRS. DELPHINE KENT DIES AT ADVANCED AGE.

WIDOW OF FORMER MAYOR.

The Rev. Charles Curran, rector of Holy Trinity Catholic church, at New Albany, will celebrate his silver jubilee at that church this morning. At 9:30 o'clock solemn high mass will be celebrated, the celebrant being the Rev. Father Curran, after which an address will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. D. O. Donaghue, auxiliary bishop of the diocese, of Indianapolis, who was associated with Father Curren, when he entered the priesthood, twenty-five years ago. There will be present clergymen from the Catholic parishes of Southern Indiana and Kentucky, and a banquet will be given this afternoon for the visitors in Holy Trinity school hall. To-night there will be a lecture at the church.

Father Curran is a native of New York, but has been living in Indiana nearly all the time since he was ordained a priest. He was rector for twenty-two years of St. Patrick's church, in Davies county, Indiana, and was appointed immovable rector of Holy Trinity last September, succeeding the Rev. John B. Kelly, a greatly beloved priest, who died over a year ago. Since taking up his residence in New Albany, Father Curran has become popular with everyone, regardless of church affiliations, on account of willingness to have part in any movement for the betterment of the city's interest.

Aged Woman Passes Away.

Mrs. Delphine Kent, widow of Col. Bela C. Kent, former Mayor of New Albany and a resident there for three-quarters of a century, died at noon yesterday at her home, East Tenth and Main streets, after an illness for nearly a year. Mrs. Kent was born at Waterloo, Ala, January 3, 1826. She went to New Albany with her parents when but five years old, and had lived in that city continually since.

Mrs. Kent was married in New Albany in 1848, and she is survived by four children—Mrs. Aglae K. Bixby, Alexander, Horace and J. Edward Kent, and a brother, Charles Croxall. She was a communicant of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and was greatly esteemed not only in the church, but by all with whom she came in contact. Funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon from the family home.

Memorial Services.

Interesting memorial services for the dead of the fraternity, were held in Fairview cemetery, New Albany, yesterday afternoon by Ivanhoe, Friendship and Rowena Lodges and New Albany Company No. 5 Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias. After marching over the city, the columns numbering over 300 men, proceeded from Castle Hall to the cemetery, where the exercises were held. John G. Gaither acted as master of ceremonies and the oration was delivered by Samuel L. Trusty. Music was furnished by the choir of the First Christian church, one number was sung by a male quartette and the invocation and benediction were pronounced by the Rev. Frank T. Porter. Yesterday morning the graves of members in Fairview and other cemeteries near the city were decorated with flowers by committees of the three lodges of the company.

Husband Deserted.

Mrs. Allen reported at the New Albany station yesterday morning that her husband, Dan Allen, had deserted her, leaving her penniless. She said that they were married at Scottsburg, Ind., last Monday and came from there to New Albany at once. Allen rented a small house on East Water street, near the Kentucky and Indiana bridge, she said, and had been occupied since they had lived there in an unsuccessful search for work. Saturday morning he borrowed $4 from her, all she had, and had not been seen since. She was furnished with a stopping place by the police authorities and she will be sent today to Scott county, her former home, by Township Trustee William Moss.

ARRESTS ORDERED

IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF JAMES EAGAN.

Cliff Quinlan, Robert Bryson and Charles Miller Will Be Charged With Manslaughter.

Dr. Harris Kelly, Coroner, announced last night that he had ordered the arrest of Cliff Quinlan, Robert Bryson and Charles Miller, all of whom will be charged with manslaughter in connection with the death at the City Hospital Saturday of James Eagan.

Eagan was struck in the head with a hatchet in a chili parlor at 218 West Jefferson street about a month ago, and he was taken to the City Hospital. Later the same night he was returned to jail, where he said that Bryson was the man that struck him. Quinlan, it was shown, had also assaulted the man, and he was fined $19, while Bryson and Miller and Georgia Perkins, the woman who conducts the chili parlor, were dismissed, it being shown that Bryson had struck Eagan in self-defense.

Eagan, whose home was at 1728 Portland avenue, was shown by the evidence submitted in the Police Court, to have been a man of quarrelsome disposition. He was apparently not badly injured at the time of the fight, but two days ago he went to the City Hospital and died two hours later of tetanus. Yesterday Dr. Harris Kelly held a post-mortem examination and decided that Eagan came to his death as a direct result of the wounds sustained in the trouble at the chili parlor, and an inquest will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

FOR CONSTIPATION

FIERCE FIGHT

Between Capt. Clegg and a Young Russian.

CARL DIETZ BECOMES INSANE OVER SOCIALISM.

ARRESTED IN JEFFERSONVILLE AND PLACED IN HOSPITAL.

HE CANNOT SPEAK ENGLISH.

His mind unbalanced from studying Socialism, Carl Dietz, who sailed from Cologne May 12 to become a bank clerk in Louisville, yesterday morning gave Capt. Edward Clegg, Chief of Police of Jeffersonville, a hard fight. A part of the conflict was in the Ohio river and rocks were used for weapons. Dietz, after being overpowered, was placed in the private carriage of Col. J. M. Marshall and taken to jail. On the way he fought like a tiger and when he arrived at the jail he looked as if he had been bathed in blood. Capt. Clegg escaped with a badly injured hand. Later in the day Dietz was removed to Mercy Hospital, in Jeffersonville, which is now used as a sanitarium for demented persons.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock yesterday morning Dietz made his appearance at the corner of Front and Clark streets in Jeffersonville and made his way to the water's edge. There he found a skiff. His actions were noticed by Col. Marshall, who was fearful that he might drown and called Capt. Clegg. On the arrival of the officer Dietz had floated out into the stream some distance, but the water was shallow. When ordered to come ashore he answered by taking a rock from the river and hurling it at Capt. Clegg.

Dietz said he had come from New York to meet his uncle, Franz Erpeldinger, but could not find him after his arrival in Louisville. Mr. Erpeldinger said he went to Cincinnati Saturday afternoon and met his nephew there, but was surprised to find his reason had become dethroned. Mr. Erpeldinger said that so far as he knew he was mentally sound when he left home and that he had sent for him to place him in a bank, he having followed that calling for a time at Cologne. It is believed his condition is only temporary resulting from study of Socialism.

Deserts Her Children.

After writing two letters to her husband, Columbus Grimes, and selling nearly all the furniture in the house for $10 to E. A. Decker, a second-hand dealer of Jeffersonville, Mrs. Maggie Grimes, leaving behind her three children, Frances Grimes, aged twenty months; Alberta Grimes, three and one-half years old, and Lillie Grimes, five years old, left Ohio Falls, a suburb of Jeffersonville, Saturday morning for parts unknown. It is supposed, however, that she has gone to Nashville, Tenn., where a brother, Frank Thomas, lives.

The father of the children works for the Louisville and Northern Railway and Lighting Company as a trackman and when he returned in the evening and found what had taken place he took the children to the home of his brother, William Grimes, who lives at 1219 North Spring street, Jeffersonville. Grimes and his wife came to Jeffersonville last March from Lebanon, Ky.

Married in Jeffersonville.

Joseph Flanner, a stationary engineer, and Mrs. Rebecca Durham, both of Louisville, were married in Jeffersonville Saturday night by Magistrate B. T. Nixon. The groom is twenty-nine years old and a native of Springfield, Ohio. The bride, who was originally Miss Rebecca Uptegrove, was born in Larue county, Ky., twenty-eight years ago. She was married once before in the same room where the wedding took place Saturday night and her first hunband died about a year ago.

Stole Horse and Buggy.

Disgusted because he did not make more of a success in getting away after he had stolen a horse and buggy at Peru, Ind., James Albert Sturgis returned to the county jail, surrendered to Sheriff York and is now in the Indiana Reformatory, at Jeffersonville, to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to fourteen years on a conviction to the charge of grand larceny.

NOTES OF THE NEWS IN JEFFERSONVILLE.

BIG SPECTACLE.

FIRST PERFORMANCE OF "FEAST AND FURIES" TO-NIGHT.

The 600 Performers Here, and Everything Will Be Ready at Jockey Club Park.

The first performance of the big spectacle, "Feast and Furies," which is to be at Jockey Club Park all the week, will be given to-night. The hundreds of performers who take parts in the spectacle and also the vaudeville performance arrived in the city last night. A number of them visited the park to look over this or that feature of mechanism in which he or she is directly interested. The larger number, however, remained in the city, getting located in their quarters for this week.

To-day will be a busy time at Jockey Club Park. A vast army of workmen will be kept busy from early morning until well past noon installing the last of the scenic equipment and other accessories of the spectacle. Many of the performers will be on the ground to superintend personally the putting of their apparatus in place. Some hours before the time for the opening of the performance, however, the last detail will have been completed, and those who visit the park this evening will see a city there, grown as if by magic.

It is claimed that this is the largest spectacle ever presented in Louisville. There are over 600 persons participating in the presentation, and more than twenty cars were necessary to transport the people and paraphernalia. Some idea of the immensity of "Feast and Furies," scenically, may be had when it is known that the "city" fronts 450 feet, while three platforms and a large ring occupy space in the foreground. The spectacle itself is, of course, the main feature, but the promise is made that the vaudeville entertainment, which shows a number of stars from the London hippodrome, will be found to be made up of the highest class of acts.

As has been previously stated, there will be free entertainment in the palm garden. A band concert will be given here before each performance, and other amusement features will be presented.

BADLY BRUISED.

JOSEPH OLGES THROWN FROM BICYCLE INTO SAND PILE.

Before He Could Recover He Was Struck by Automobile Driven by Dr. S. P. Myer.

After having been knocked from his wheel and thrown head first into a big pile of sand, sustaining a number of severe bruises, hard luck still further pursued Joseph Olges, fifteen years old, son of John Olges, driver of the Fifth district patrol wagon, and before the youth could recover himself he was struck by an automobile driven by Dr. S. P. Myer, 216 West Chestnut street, again keeled over and injured.

Young Olges is a special delivery boy at the post-office and was riding west on Broadway Saturday night at 8 o'clock. When he neared Underhill street he did not see a large pile of sand that was not protected with a red light, and into it he plunged with all the speed that most messenger boys use when on duty.

He was tumbled head over heels and his face and arms were badly scratched. Immediately behind him Dr. Myer was approaching in his automobile, and he did not see the sand pile either. Into it he sent the machine, and it passed over the body of young Olges. The boy screamed, but too late, and by the time the physician got his machine under control the damage was done.

Dr. Myer took the youth to a nearby drugstore and administered restoratives. Later he took the boy to his home, 727 Lampton street. He is badly bruised about the head, arms and legs, but it is believed that he will recover.

SIMPLE SERVICES

Characterized Installation of Dr. Egbert Watson Smith.

MADE PASTOR OF SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

SERMON PREACHED BY BROTHER OF THE PASTOR.

CONGREGATION WAS LARGE.

The Rev. Dr. Egbert Watson Smith, who entered upon the duties of the pastorate of the Second Presbyterian church, Second street and Broadway, the first Sunday in January, was formally installed as pastor of that church in simple and impressive services held yesterday morning. In the absence of the Rev. Dr. Chas. R. Hemphill, who had been asked to conduct the services, but who had accepted the invitation to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the University of Texas, and was away in Austin, Tex., last night, the Rev. Dr. Francis R. Beattie, of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, presided. The congregation, for a hot summer Sunday, was a large one, and included a large part of the membership of the church.

The pastorate of the Second Presbyterian church was left vacant last July by the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Neander M. Woods, who had filled the pastorate for three years, and who left to accept the chancellorship of the Southwestern Presbyterian University. Soon afterward the congregation appointed a large and representative committee to look up and recommend to the church a pastor. The eyes of the committeemen at once were turned to the Rev. Dr. Smith, then pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Greensboro, N. C., and whose effective church work had attracted wide attention. Overtures were made to Dr. Smith, and the Second church in Louisville promptly extended him the call to its pastorate.

Sustained the Call.

The Louisville Presbytery sustained the call, and soon afterward Dr. Smith visited Louisville, where, after carefully considering the matter, he decided to accept the call. The presbytery of which Dr. Smith was a member in North Carolina reluctantly released him, and he came to Louisville to begin his work here the first of the year. At the spring meeting of the Presbytery of Louisville, a committee, consisting of the Rev. Dr. Charles R. Hemphill, of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary; the Rev. Dr. John S. Lyons, pastor of the Fourth-avenue Presbyterian church, and Elder Vincent Davis, of the Second Presbyterian church, was appointed to install him. The committee was authorized to invite other churchmen to assist it in the services, and, accordingly, invited the Rev. Dr. Samuel M. Smith, brother of Dr. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Columbia, S. C., and the Rev. Dr. Beattie, who is a member of the West Lexington Presbytery.

The installation services took the place of the regular morning services. As has been said, Dr. Hemphill was in Austin, Tex., where last night he addressed the graduates of the University of Texas and where he is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Belle Fay, and Dr. Beattie presided. After the preliminary devotional services, which were conducted by Dr. Beattie, the installation sermon was delivered by the Rev. Samuel M. Smith. He chose as his text the passage from the Acts of the Apostles, as follows: "Then Peter said: Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk."

Dr. Samuel Smith Speaks.

In his introduction, Dr. Smith described the circumstances of the healing of the beggar at the gate of the temple called Beautiful. He took the incident as expressing the attitude and mission of the church in the world. He first pointed out that silver and gold, typifying the material resources of the work, are necessary in their proper place. He did not dwell long on that point, being assured that the people of the Second church had always done their duty in that respect, and that they would continue to do so. Along with the money, he said that it is important that there be service of a moral, spiritual and sympathetic nature on the part of everyone in the church, and that such service could be given by those not possessed of worldly wealth. In this connection, he made many pertinent illustrations. He closed with a practical application of the great lesson to the church generally in this day and time, referring particularly to the Second church. He showed how the situation of this church in Louisville could be worked out for the advantage of the church and those in the city. He spoke of the multitude of persons that should be looked up and helped, even at the cost of the assumption of great humility on the part of the members of the church. The practical, sympathetic and helpful side of Christianity, he said, should be attended to, and the work prosecuted in the spirit of Christ and with the pure motive of the Gospel.

Installation Services.

At the conclusion of his short and simple but effective sermon, the installation services proper began. The three constitutional questions provided for in the church regulations were propounded to Dr. E. W. Smith, who stood before the pulpit and assented to them, in the presence and in hearing of the congregation. The questions are set ones, and inquire if the prospective pastor is willing to take upon himself the responsibilities of the pastorate; if he truly believes that in accepting it he does so in the belief that he is placing himself in a position to further the work of Christ, and if he will strive to discharge his duties to the best of his ability.

Similar questions were then propounded to the congregation, which stood and assented by the raising of the right hand. The questions inquired if the congregation was still of the same mind as when the call was issued; if its members were willing to receive the truth from him; if it would encourage and assist him in the prosecution of his duties, and if it would pay due regard to the matter of his worldly maintenance. The questions are formal, and serve to define the reciprocal duties of the pastor and his congregation.

Following the propounding of the questions to the pastor and the congregation, Dr. Samuel M. Smith delivered the charge to the minister. It was short, unique and most effective, and consisted of a series of connected Biblical quotations concerning the trials, the duties, the difficulties and encouragements of a pastor. Few of those present had ever heard the charge to a pastor handled in a similar way.

Charge to Congregation.

The charge to the congregation was delivered by the Rev. Dr. John S. Lyons, of the Fourth-avenue Presbyterian church. He offered his congratulations and good wishes to the church and its pastor, and prayed that under the guidance of Dr. Smith the history and traditions of the grand old church might be repeated. His sermon was brief and terse, and concerned the relations between the people of a church and their pastor, and urged that Dr. Smith receive the support due him. He emphasized the fact that a minister of a church is personally responsible to Jesus Christ rather than to the people of his congregation, and said that a minister is the servant of Christ for the well being of the people. In referring to the question of the church's supporting Dr. Smith, Dr. Lyons used plain language, saying that Dr. Smith was too much in demand as a minister for the Second church to retain his services unless his plans and purposes undertaken with a view to making the work of the church effective were strongly seconded by the church members, themselves. He urged, further, that the members of the congregation should attend the services at the sanctuary regularly and diligently.

Immediately following the installation prayer by Dr. Beattie the congregation, en masse, came forward to pledge in person their best wishes and to assure him of their support in what he might undertake for the good of the church. Thus closed the installation of Dr. Smith as pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. The verdict of every member of the congregation was to the effect that they were delighted and effectively sympathetic, and that they surely spoke favorably of the future of the old church.

Church In New Field.

The Second church is now entering upon what has been called its work as a downtown church. Formerly in the midst of one of the chief residence sections of Louisville, it now is in the midst of a great boarding-house and apartment-house district, in which alone lies a great field. In the five months that Dr. Smith has been pastor of the church its congregations, especially those at the night services, which are attended largely by young people, have grown, and the interest of the congregation in the work of the church is steadily increasing.

Dr. Smith, pastor of the church, is a member of a remarkable family. His father was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Greensboro for many years, to which work his son succeeded him. One brother, who is now in Louisville, the Rev. Samuel M. Smith, is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Columbia, S. C., and an influential member of the presbytery of South Carolina. Another brother, Henry Louis Smith, Ph. D., is president of Davidson College, in South Carolina, and two other brothers, as professors, stand high in educational circles.
